

Plans Outlined For Expansion of Oregon 4-H Work

A five-point program for expanding and improving 4-H work in Oregon has been announced by F. L. Ballard, associate director of the O. S. C. extension service. The program is designed to increase enrollment slightly above last year's total of 22,000, increase the percentage of club members completing their projects, give more training to voluntary local leaders, and guide the selection of an organization of 4-H Club projects in the counties in line with the general over-all rural affairs program being worked out by the farm families of each county in rural program-making conferences.

The first step in the program, Ballard explained, is the building of a new staff of leaders, a development necessitated by retirement of H. C. Seymour and Miss Helen Cowgill, veteran members of the extension club department staff. L. J. Allen has replaced Seymour as state club leader. Mrs. Winnifred Jones, former Klamath county home demonstration agent, has replaced Miss Cowgill, while Cal Monroe was added to the staff as assistant state leader some months ago. Two other experienced and highly qualified leaders in this field will be added to the club staff within the next six months, Ballard said.

Commenting that only slightly more than 77 per cent of the state's 4-H members completed their projects last year, the associate director said, it is the opinion of 85 per cent of the regular enrollment. Work with volunteer local leaders will be aimed at raising the percentage of completions, he stated.

The 35 projects now being carefully studied with a view to adding some new ones and eliminating others. One series of new clubs which likely will be offered in the field of wildlife. Attention also is being given to promotion of projects that are in line with recommendations of county program planning conferences.

Self-Employed, Jobless Veterans Advised on Pay

Termination date of the war under the federal-state program of readjustment allowances for unemployed and self-employed veterans has been set as July 25, 1947, according to word received by Silas Gaiser, administrator for the Oregon Unemployment Compensation Commission.

"This means that World War II veterans discharged before July 26, 1947, will have until July 25, 1949, to draw their allowances if eligible," explained Mr. Gaiser, "those discharged since July 26 last will have two years from date of leaving the service."

Congressional action on substituting the new date for "termination of the war" in Title V of the GI Bill of Rights came during the closing days of the 1947 session. State agencies have administered the readjustment allowance program on the same basis as unemployment compensation under state laws.

With many veterans now having benefit rights under both state and federal plans, Mr. Gaiser pointed out the importance of considering expiration dates in filing claims. Both types of claims are handled through the Oregon Commission's 29 local employment offices, where all information concerning weekly allowances, duration and expiration rights may be secured.

Since the GI bill went into effect three years ago, about 72,000 veterans or nearly half of those returning to Oregon have filed claims. Of the 1,658 who have exhausted their allowances, $18 were self-employed. Oregon veterans have received nearly $17 millions, of which 19 per cent has gone to those working for themselves.

TWO-WAY LUCK

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21.—Doctors examined Louis W. Lewis, 54-year-old riveter, after he fell 25 feet from a scaffolding and found he had sustained only a broken tooth.

Then Lewis did a little examining of his own and discovered that a pair of eye glasses carried in his hip pocket were undamaged in the fall.

Witness Held In Family Tragedy

EUGENE, Ore., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Harold M. Alford, 29, Creswell truck driver, was in Lane County jail here today as a material witness in the slaying of Walter Rookard, Creswell logger who died Monday morning as the result of shots from a 30.30 rifle.

Rookard's wife, Helen, is facing a charge of second degree murder as a result of her husband's death.

Investigating officers said that Alford was the last person known to be with the Rookards before the Sunday night shooting and that he was the first person to appear on the scene after the shooting.

State and county officers questioned Alford about possible motives for the shooting. District Attorney Ed Luckey said he had found evidence of domestic conflict. Mrs. Rookard told officers that she and her husband once had obtained a divorce but later remarried.

Brain Operations Given 13 Mental Patients

TACOMA, Aug. 21.—(AP)—Thirteen mental patients at the Western Washington state hospital this week underwent delicate operations performed by a new "super-orbital" technique, and Dr. W. N. Keller, hospital superintendent, said at least 10 of the 13 should show definite signs of improvement.

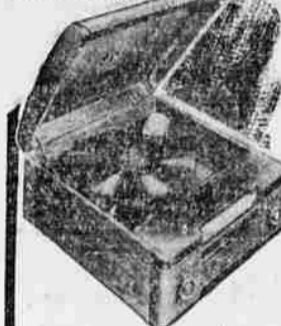

The operations were performed by Dr. Walter Freeman, professor of neurology at George town University and one of the nation's recognized authorities on brain surgery.

The operation was conducted after a check by Dr. Freeman of 80 or 90 cases of dementia praecox and "involution psychosis" cases in the institution, the superintendent said.

Cordon Sees Need of Indian Status Change

KLAMATH AGENCY, Ore., Aug. 21.—(AP)—Senator Guy Cordon yesterday told assembled Klamath tribesmen that he had heard enough testimony in the past two days of Senate hearings to make up his mind that "something must be done" to bring about a change on the Klamath reservation. The reason for the hearings are continuing is to determine just what should be done. "I don't believe present conditions on the reservation are proper," the Oregon senator said. "Probably we can not take immediate action to throw the reservation open, but we must undo the harm that has already been done the Indians."

He said he wanted to learn more and is certain a reasonable program can be developed. Cordon addressed his remarks to approximately 250 Indians assembled in the Tribal Council hall at Klamath agency. It was the first indication of how the opinion of the senators conducting the hearings may be drifting.
