Tax Delinquents Listed in County Notice for $52,000

Twenty-one hundred persons who are delinquent in the payment of their personal property taxes are the reason for the added bulk of eight pages to the News-Review for five consecutive Saturday issues, according to Mrs. Kathryn Young, deputy in the tax collector's office.

The 2,100 persons who will have their names listed are those who have not paid their taxes for 1946. The publication is mandatory under state law and will be repeated annually.

Consequently, the county has not been able to collect very much of the taxes it is owed, because it has given personal service of notices to all tax delinquents who have required the full time of at least one deputy, Mrs. Young pointed out.

The law was modified by the legislature this year to permit service by publication, after which the tax collector shall issue a warrant to be filed in the clerk's office. Delinquent taxes then become a personal lien against the individuals for whom the warrants are issued.

Persons who also own real property will have delinquent personal property taxes added to their tax statements, Mrs. Young said.

The original list of delinquents contained approximately 2,144 names. Many were deleted from the list because they were deceased, bankrupt, or had moved out of the county.

Before the first notice of delinquent personal property taxes due was published, Mrs. Young wrote to the State Tax Commission for an opinion. The commission replied that the publication was required by law. The legal notice appeared Aug. 16 and 23 and will appear three more times.

INTERREGIONAL HIGHWAYS

By CHARLES V. STANTON

The Federal Works Agency has announced approval of routes selected by state highway departments throughout the nation for inclusion in a national system of interstate highways.

The system includes the Pacific Highway, which was given the Oregon State Highway Commission's approval after efforts had been made to secure routing by way of Klamath Falls and the Willamette highway.

The integrated system, it is announced, consists of north-and-south, east-and-west, and diagonal routes making possible travel from any section of the country to any other section by a direct route. It is further reported that the system contains 37,681 miles of the nation's principal highways, including 2,882 miles of urban thoroughfares.

Service to be afforded by this national highway system is indicated by statistics furnished in the formal announcement, which states that rural sections to be made a part of the system comprise only 1.1 per cent of all rural roads but carry 20 per cent of all rural traffic.

The statement adds that "In many large cities depressed or elevated expressways will be built, making possible city travel at an average speed of 35 to 45 miles an hour, without stops for traffic signals and free of interference by cross-traffic.

Construction of interregional highways has long been advocated and the program now advanced should greatly aid in speeding the increasing volume of traffic between major points throughout the nation.

Two Oregon routes are included, Highway 99 (the Pacific highway) and the Columbia River highway. The east-west route through Washington, Idaho, and Montana is by way of Seattle, Spokane, Coeur d'Alene and Missoula.

Thus when the system has been completed, it will be possible to travel the shortest and most direct route from nearly any major center to any other principal area throughout the nation.

It is not to be expected that this system of highways will be built overnight. It will take a good many years to build the thoroughfares as planned. The State of Oregon will need more money than is now in sight if it is to take fullest advantage of the amount of federal aid to be made available.

In our opinion, the state should not delay authorization of highway bonds to permit earliest possible completion of our portion of the national system.

State Press Comment

Hawaii-Oregon (Salem Statesman) Senator Butler of Nebraska opens up an interesting new line of thought at Bend with his observation that it is possible Hawaii might be added to Oregon as a county, rather than being accepted as a full-fledged state.

The idea may or may not be worthy of consideration. But in any event there is no doubt a great hue and cry would come from the islands if they had to change their seat of government from their own picturesque Iolani palace in Honolulu to Oregon's modernistic statehouse 2500 miles away—instead of to the national capital at Washington.

The addition of the islands to Oregon would mean a fifth representative in this state's delegation to congress. But the islands still would have no congressional representation as a separate entity, and Oregon's own two senators still would handle all its business in the upper house.

The annexation of Hawaii's heterogeneous population also would mean a considerable increase in the travel expenses of Oregon's state officials, and there is little doubt that in actual operation the plan would find Iolani palace bursting at the joints with branches of this state's department—in fact, it would be a separate sub-statehouse rather than a courthouse to which the idea seems designed to relegate it.

Hawaii would make a novel addition to our own state, but we are quite sure the islands themselves would veto the plan.

Yankees Edge Out Browns, 7 to 6, in Tenth Inning

By GAIL FOWLER

Associated Press Sports Writer Lefty Joe Page, the stellar stalwart of the Yankee bullpen, took over in the sixth inning with the score tied at 6-6, yesterday and held the St. Louis Browns to three singles and no runs the rest of the way as the New York Yankees salvaged their fifth win in 11 invasion tries, 7-6, in ten innings.

At Detroit, the Red Sox and Tigers were dividing their second straight twin bill and taking turns keeping the second-place seat warm. The Tigers ascended after beating Johnson, 7-2, in the first game, after he'd held them to one hit for six innings.

The Red Sox came back in the afternoon to win, 5-4, and resume second place, with ex-tiger Tebbets scoring once and batting in two more.

Home runs accounted for all the scoring at Cleveland as the Indians and Bob Feller triumphed over the Philadelphia Athletics, 2-1.

Candini's relief pitching gave Washington a 6-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox in the remaining American League contest.

Top Trio Beaters These developments highlighted National League play: 1. Brooklyn, St. Louis and Boston, the three top clubs, all were beaten.

2. Mike cracked his 43rd home run of the year as the Giants beat the Cards, 6-4, to go five games and four days ahead of Babe Ruth's 1927 circuit smashing schedule.

3. Blackwell of Cincinnati became the first major leaguer this year to win 20 games as the Reds stopped the Braves, 4-2, in 10 innings.

The Chicago Cubs beat the Dodgers, 6-3, running their string to four straight over the loop leaders. They had to beat Hatten to do it. Hatten had beaten them eight straight times up to yesterday.

Mize's 43rd homer shared honors with Ray Poat, ex-Cleveland right-hander purchased this week from seventh-place Baltimore of the International League. Poat was thrown in against Brecheen in his inaugural, and was still around at the finish after flinging eight-hit ball and hitting a triple and homer, while Brecheen was shelled out in the seventh.

In the remaining National League game Leonard achieved his 16th victory for the tail-end Philadelphia Phillies by outpitching Queen of the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3.

One City Produces Rain But Another Gets It

ANADARKO, Okla., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Dry Chickasha, Okla., residents pondered the deceitful ways of Oklahoma weather today after rain which had been "intended" for them fell in nearby Anadarko.

105 pounds of dry ice into a cloud over Chickasha, hoping to make it rain in that city. It rained all right, but by the time the dry ice had "worked," the cloud was over Anadarko 19 miles west, and Anadarko enjoyed a one-half inch shower. Chickasha stayed dry.

Walk With Bases Loaded Gives L. A. Win Over Beavers

(By the Associated Press)

The Los Angeles Angels last night squeezed past the Portland Beavers, 6-5, to bolster their Pacific Coast League lead to 31 games.

Los Angeles scored twice in the third but Portland filled the bases in the fourth before anyone was out and three runs came home when Reich tripled. Then he scored on Storey's long fly. Storey made it 5-2 with a homer in the sixth but the Angels came back in their half to tie it on Maddern's three-run homer.

The Beavers finally gave away the game in the eighth when after two were out the Angels' Ostrowski walked, Stringer singled and Gillespie walked to fill the bases. Beaver Hurler Robinson, who relieved DiBiasi in the sixth, then walked in Stainback with the winning run.

Fleming, allowing only four hits, was the winning pitcher. Seattle succeeded in squelching a nine-inning San Francisco rally to beat the second place Seals, 3-2.

Sacramento and Oakland used five hurlers apiece as the Solons outlasted the Acorns to win 10 to 9.

Woods hurled a shutout for Hollywood, limiting the San Diego Padres to four hits and topped it off with a homer in the seventh to drive in three runs and give the Stars their 4-to-0 victory.

Tri-City Billed to Play Grants Pass

Tri-City's baseball club, resting in third spot in Southern Oregon league play, gets a return chance at Grants Pass, loop leaders, Sunday on their home grounds.

Game time is slated for 12 A. M. Enabling fans to attend the Canyonville rodeo at 2:30 P. M. Sunday's fray is the final league game of the Tri-City crew and the outcome will decide whether Tri-City enters the end-of-season Shaughnessy playoffs or becomes tied up with Roseburg's Umpqua Chiefs for fourth slot, which would call for a playoff between the two clubs.

A Tri-City victory means that Roseburg's only chance of turning up with the top-four clubs would be a win over Central Point by Ashland which would tie the Chiefs and Central Point for fourth spot, with Tri-City finishing third.

In their last meeting, Tri-City was edged out by the Cavemen, 3-2, and are reported to be predicting a revengeful win.

Team batting average, as tallied by Secretary Don Davis, stands at .381 for 13 games. Don Loggery leads the heavy-hitting crew with a hot .500 and is followed by his brother Forest with a .487. Individual average follow:

Table with columns for Player Name and Average. Includes D. Loggery (.500), F. Loggery (.487), Udn (.380), Knickerott (.370), Lieber (.341), P. Laurance (.318), Avery (.313), Witcher (.310), Cox (.300), Kell (.281), K. Laurance (.231), Hess (.148).
