Wages were not involved in the dispute, the AFL Air Line Pilot Association calling the strike after it said the company had failed to bargain in good faith, failed to send representatives to the conference table with full bargaining authority, and had used the signing of an agreement as a weapon to deprive pilots of rights for handling grievances.

Beginning October 1st, it will become necessary to raise the price of milk one cent per quart, due to the high cost of production. This increase in price is the result of advances in the cost of dairy feeds and other supplies essential to the production of high quality dairy products. There has been a gradual rise in this cost of production during the past few months, until it became absolutely necessary to raise the price of butterfat to the producer. Any relief to this situation is not in sight at the present time. This makes the advanced price to the consumer a necessity which is beyond our control under prevailing conditions.
