GIFT GOSSIP

by Margie

Hello there, all you gracious people! Confucius says, "What is whispered in the ear is heard miles away." And he wasn't speaking of the telephone, for that was several centuries before Dim Arneche invented it. But gossip knows neither time nor space, so just to bring you up to date let me whisper that DOROTHY'S, distinguished purveyor of delightful dodads at 115 S. Stephens St., can supply you with a hundred items well worth talking about.

Gossip may travel without visible means of conveyance, but when it comes to serving your guests you really need something more substantial than rumor to support the cakes and coffee. Now I happen to know for a fact that DOROTHY'S has any number of those big gorgeous hammered aluminum trays, hand wrought and guaranteed not to tarnish. Some are large and others are larger, but all are useful when needed and ornamental when not. Round, oval or rectangular, you don't need to savvy geometry to grasp the beauty and utter desirability of these glamorous servers. In the same material you'll find covered candy dishes and those discreet silent butlers that add so much eclat to home management.

And girls, strictly between you and me, there are other trays at DOROTHY'S, too; the kind with wooden frames and glass bottoms. For the breakfast room there's a delectable green with morning glories twining under glass. For the rumpled room, horses or fish contribute to the conviviality. And for the dignified, formal occasion, a reproduction of an old master in a deep shadow box frame. If your maid has a day off seven times a week, then you'll surely appreciate the advantage of a serving tray to lighten the burden of constant catering to family and guests. Let DOROTHY'S serve you that you may better serve your household.

One last whisper: Remember there's a new sales slip contest in progress at DOROTHY'S, down three on Stephens St. Stop in and learn the particulars next time you pass that way. Can you hear me? Margie. Paid adv.
