In the Day's News

lot of other people were out helling around and having a good time) led him to the conclusion that prices were too high and had to come down.

So he sold wheat and oats "short."

That is to say, he MADE A BET that prices of these commodities would fall. Prices did fall. When his judgment was confirmed, he made a profit.

That is the way business works.

* * *

WHY is congress investigating these transactions?

That is a horse of another color.

Let's take a look at it.

WHAT congress wants to know is DID SOMEBODY HAVE INSIDE INFORMATION?

In these days, the government is an immense operator in the commodity markets. It buys grain in huge quantities. As a matter of fact, the government sometimes SELLS grain—"hedging," as other market operators do.

Obviously, since it is a big operator, what the government does (or doesn't do) can affect the markets. If somebody knows in advance what the government is going to do, he can make a big profit at little or no risk.

That amounts to shooting craps with loaded dice or playing roulette with a fixed wheel.

* * *

IF somebody is doing that, we ought to know it.

Congress is trying to find out.

That's what this "investigation" business is all about.

* * *

IN this country, we've had "free" markets ever since anybody can remember. Where there are free markets, there is speculation.

But, by and large, taking the bad with the good, our free market system has brought us more of the good things of life than anybody else's system.

That's the meat of the coconut.

* * *

HERE is a thought:

When power to make or break prices is placed in GOVERNMENT'S hands, TEMPTATION IS LAID AT SOMEBODY'S FEET.

Since, from time to time, we have to put power into the hands of government, our job is to see to it that we get the right kind of men in government.

If we do that, we'll get along all right.

* * *

IT will do you no harm to think of that the next time some demagogue solicits your vote on some screwball promise.

If we put power into the hands of screwballs, we'll get screwball results.
