Gift Gossip by Margie

Hello there, all you pint-sized people! No saying has been more overworked than the trite cliché, "It's a small world." Yes, small, and growing smaller by the day. Yet to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Thumb, Minnie Warren and Commodore Nutt, all midgets of international reputation, who visited Roseburg in the early sixties, the world must have seemed a vast and confusing experience. Midgets are adults in miniature, small people in a large world. General Tom Thumb was only 31 inches tall at the age of 25. He, as well as Commodore Nutt, was introduced to the American public by the one and only P. T. "One-Born-Every-Minute" Barnum. At DOROTHY'S, still operating at 115 S. Stephens St., you may enjoy the pleasure of being introduced to the small world of miniatures, without any Barnum ballhood.

The tiny copper copies are so clever and classy, if you don't already have a miniature collection you'll want to start one on the double. Wee wagons, teeny tea kettles, and itty bitty radios and sun dials bring out the juvenile in even the most dignified dowager. Minute figurines carved of wood and originating in Italy are odd enough to capture the most elusive attention. And the diminutive vases of Chinese manufacture are simply too, too cunning for conversation. Do let DOROTHY'S initiate you into the land of Lilliput.

Blown glass from Mexico is the perfect medium for fantastic futuristic absurdities in the form of brilliantly-colored fish, flesh and fowl, all of pigmy caliber. Bronze crops up in various small replicas of horses, dogs and inanimate objects too numerous to enumerate. And the pottery pretties in petite sizes run the gamut from buxom bunnies to placid polecats, with a few superior seals and pusillanimous pachyderms on the side. In the ceramic line there are tiny flower pots putting forth colorful blossoms of pastel porcelain.

If you haven't seen DOROTHY'S see world of wonders, you just ain't seen nothin' yet. And don't forget, you can still get charms for your bracelets at DOROTHY'S, where small things loom large. Adieu, my little cabbage. Margie—(Ed. Adv.)

Value Received

So often we hear the expression: "You get just what you pay for." The expression is used so generally by people who are charging high prices that a lot of us have come to believe it is really true. And, of course, to a certain extent it is true.

But it does not follow that you get first class merchandise simply because you pay a high price. OH, NO! If you don't believe this, just check some nationally advertised product in every store in town, and see the different prices for the same package.

We have seen the same brand of chewing gum sold all the way from 3c straight, down to 3 pikes, for a dime. Now, do you think the gum you paid a nickel for was any better than the gum that cost you 3 and a third cents? All same brand; all same day; all same town.

Now, let's talk FEED. We can quote you prices of a good Calf Meal, 24% protein, which will cost you $2.25 FOB Portland in car loads for 25-lb. cotton sacks. Another company which is generally considered just as reliable sells the same product at $1.75, same terms. Stop another: very good company; honest, reliable, good quality feed; same product; $1.70, same terms. These are all good companies, and they all make good Calf Meal. But the dairyman who pays $2.25 for 25 lbs. is just kidding himself if he thinks his calves will grow into milk cows in two thirds the time they will on the Calf Meal at $1.70.

Then, there is UMPQUA CATTLE MEAL. Made right here in Roseburg, 24% protein, same as the others; same kind of sack; same ingredients, same number of pounds in a sack; yet it sells NOT FOB PORTLAND, but direct to the dairyman at $1.55. And three out of four Douglas County dairymen KNOW it is just as good, because their fine calves and bumper lambs prove it.

Next time some merchant tries to justify his high price with the old gag "You get just what you pay for," ask him why his price is high. UMPQUA FEEDS are lower in price because they are made at home and sold direct to the consumer. Less freight, less selling cost, no middleman.

A Demonstration in Good Farming

Just in case it should stop raining, (and always before, it has stopped sooner or later), George Kuhn will give an all day demonstration of the "SEAMAN'S TILLER" next Sunday, May 16th. This demonstration will be made on the Al Bashford farm, just across Brown's Bridge, in Garden Valley.

This implement is said to prepare the land for seeding in one operation, eliminating plowing, discing, and other tillage. It appears that we will need something that will work quick, as we have only a few minutes between showers to get a crop planted. Maybe this machine is the answer to an Oregonian's prayers.

Dean of Women: "Why did you ever come to college?" Co-ed: "I came to be with you, but so far I ain't been."

Hogs Need Minerals

Recent research has proved UMPQUA PIG RATION to be a very good investment. To put it a little different, since the experts failed to mention UMPQUA PIG RATION by name, a lack of proper minerals causes slow growth and slow gains, both of which are costly to the hog producer.

A severe shortage of minerals causes lameness, and sometimes paralysis and death. But there are thousands of cases of "border line" mineral shortages which do not develop these extreme symptoms, yet do prevent your pigs from growing as fast as they should, and making the proper use of the high cost feed you furnish them.

Because UMPQUA PIG RATION has the proper amount of minerals, as well as all the minerals needed by your pigs, and because it has proteins and all other necessary elements, you can't raise better pigs nor produce them cheaper than with this feed.

ON THAT HUM FEED, we saw a couple of the prettiest butcher hogs at Bert Gilbert's farm we ever laid eyes on. And they had had nothing to eat since weaner age but this UMPQUA PIG RATION. You know,

Mr. Gilbert runs the local five and dime store. We always wanted to see exactly what this feed would do, and now we don't hesitate to recommend to anybody who wants to raise good hogs and raise 'em cheap.

Stop Those Robbers

The weather may warm up soon. When, and if, it does, those tiny rascals known as red mites will get you if you don't watch out. Nothing stops egg production, or growth on pullets much quicker than a few million of these mites taking blood transfusions nightly from your flock.

But we have the stuff to prevent all this down at the Douglas Flour Mill. Paint your perches with creosote, and stop worrying about mites for the whole summer.

Honest Politician

With politicians grabbing the limelight these days we thought you would like to hear what the one who was asked if he thought he had influenced public opinion. He said:

"No; public opinion is like a mule I used to own. In order to make folks think I was driving I had to watch which way he was going and then follow closely."

Uncle Sam Says:

Nobody is supposed to advertise a CURE for coccidiosis. So we won't. But we have something that will stop it awful quick. "SULMET" in the drinking water does the business. We have it in gallon jars, and can sell it cheaper that way. Or, if you don't need a gallon, bring a container and the boys will sell you what you need.

Movie Starlet: "I'll indorse your cigarette for $5,000,000." Cigarette Manufacturer: "I'll see you inhale first."

Remember

The one place in town to get a feed for everything on the farm, to get the best feed for the purpose, and to get it at the best price, is the DOUGLAS COUNTY FLOUR MILL.
