Jews Take Over Administration Of All-Arab Jaffa

TEL AVIV, Palestine, May 12—(AP)—Mayor Israel Rokach announced today the administration of neighboring Jaffa had been "taken over" by this all-Jewish city.

Jaffa, an all-Arab city has been the main port of the Arabs in Palestine.

The announcement came a few hours after Abu Laban, chairman of the Jaffa Emergency Committee, came to Tel Aviv in a car guarded by the Jewish militia Hagana for a truce talk. The Jaffa emergency committee which took over the virtually deserted Arab city last weekend already had declared Jaffa defenseless and without normal municipal service.

Thousands of Arabs had fled the city following Jewish attacks on it. The Jews succeeded in virtually isolating the city before the British stepped in and enforced a truce.

Arabs Launch Attack
Haganah said that Kefar Tzion, Jewish stronghold in the Judean hills south of Bethlehem, is under heavy attack by Arab legionnaires using armored cars and artillery.

The attack was reported to be the strongest yet on the isolated settlement, which has been off at least three previous Arab thrusts.

Haganah sources complained the attack came before the end of the British mandate (May 15) at a time when the Arab legion was in Palestine with British permission and technical control of the mandate government.

LAKE SUCCESS, May 12—(AP)—Britain warned the United Nations today that any new emergency regime for Palestine must be created by action here before Friday.

John Fletcher Cooke, British representative, told a U. N. assembly P. M. sub-committee, the mandate would be ended at that hour—Friday midnight in Palestine—and the British high commissioner would sail immediately.

Fletcher-Cooke spoke during debate on a United States proposal to set up a temporary trusteeship for Jerusalem. It was the first time the British had informed the U. N. of the exact time they would end their Palestine rule. This left the U. N. only two days to act.

Appeasement of Russia Urged In Wallace's Speech

NEW YORK, May 13—(AP)—A crowd estimated at 18,000 cheered Henry A. Wallace Tuesday night as he outlined his ideas for ending the "cold war" and launching a "century of peace."

Addressing a Madison Square Garden rally, the third party presidential candidate said that there are no differences between the United States and the Soviet Union "which cannot be settled by peaceful, hopeful negotiations."

He presented his views in the form of an "open letter" addressed to Prime Minister Stalin. Wallace's running mate, Sen. Glen Taylor (D-Idaho) also spoke at the rally, which was sponsored by the Wallace for President committee.

Between bursts of applause, Wallace enumerated six "definite decisive steps" which he said must be taken to restore a "common ground of peace."

He called for general disarmament, outlawing of weapons of mass destruction, a ban against export of weapons by any nation, and resumption of unrestricted trade between Russia and this country, except for war goods.

He also urged resumption of free exchange of scientific information between the two countries, free movement of citizens, students and newspapermen in both nations, and establishment of a United Nations agency for the distribution of international relief.

To achieve these ends, he said, there must be "an open, fully reported meeting of representatives of both the United States and the Soviet Union."

Fund of $55,000 Raised
"The world was heartened by the release of notes exchanged by U. S. Ambassador, Bedell Smith and Foreign Minister Molotov," he said, but added that "high American authorities" had poured "cold water on these notes."

Wallace declared the exchange offered "great hopes to those of us who have consistently maintained that peace is possible."

"The two letters assume what we have long contended—that the wartime cooperation between the great powers can be rebuilt and strengthened in time of peace," he said.

The crowd that jammed the garden contributed $55,000 to Wallace's presidential campaign, a spokesman for the sponsoring group said.

The first place poster in each group has been chosen in the state contest and the other posters are to be used to further interest in the coming sale of the poppies made by disabled veterans in federal hospitals.

"You will see the posters in windows about Roseburg and 'Let's We Forget,' they will remind us of a duty we can never repay to the men and women who make the paper poppy that we are privileged to buy," Mrs.

Youth Tortured, Swastika Etched On Chest With Pin

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 12—(CP)—A mauled and tortured 12-year-old schoolboy today nursed an ugly swastika scratched on his chest by a safety pin in this city's worst case of sadism in recent years.

An intensive manhunt was underway for the black-caped and goggled stranger who yesterday lacerated Gary Cuthbert, son of Sgt. and Mrs. Stewart Cuthbert.

The boy, a newspaper carrier, said the weirdly-dressed man accosted him while on his way home from school. The man ended a three-hour orgy of beating the boy by scratching a swastika on his chest with a safety pin. Police report the man told the boy: "You have something valuable of mine." He dragged him into nearby shrubbery, trussed him with the boy's belt and then mercilessly beat him. No incident act was attempted.

The area is a former army barracks, now used as a joint services married quarters. Fear has gripped other resident parents and children are being constantly watched.
