In the Day's News

way to make the world safe for Communism is to MAKE THE WORLD COMMUNIST.

Bevin, who appears to be pretty well informed, criticises Russia for MAKING PUBLIC the exchange of notes.

OVER on this side of the world, Presidential Candidate Dewey (who is gunning for Oregon's Presidential preference primary vote) keeps his fingers crossed on Russia's professed willingness to discuss her differences with us. He says in Baker:

"If they (the Reds) means it, it is the best news since V-J Day. If they don't mean it—well, it will be just another example of what happens every six months."

He then adds:

"I hope we have finally learned as a nation that you can't buy peace by appeasement. All you do (when you try appeasement) is to make trouble."

PRESIDENTIAL Candidate Stassen, who is also gunning for Oregon's preference primary vote, says in Cheyenne (on his way back here for the wind-up campaign):

"I would be inclined to dscount any peace proposals made by Russia at this time. The fact that Russia claims that the proposals were made by the U. S. ambassador makes it appear that it is more for propaganda effect than anything else."

AS the situation stands at the present moment, Stassen and Dewey are the leading candidates for the Republican nomination for President and it seems highly probable that the next President of the United States will be a Republican.

So it is good to know that the two leading Presidential prospects are strictly realistic in their attitude toward Russian-American relations.

This is a time when we can't afford to take any wooden money.

WITHOUT committing himself any further, State Secretary Marshall reads a paragraph from Molotov's reply to whatever it was that U. S. Ambassador Smith proposed. Molotov declared:

"The policy of the Russian government has always been a peace-loving policy and one of collaboration with regard to the United States . . . The U. S. S. R. intends to carry out this policy with complete consistency."

(If you can believe that, you can believe anything.)

PUTTING two and two together in an effort to find out what really did happen, it seems likely that Smith told Molotov that the U. S. intends to go through with its policies for rebuilding Western Europe, but is NOT hostile or aggressive toward Russia. He probably added that if Russia has anything to say about what we are planning to do now would be a good time to say it.

The Russians, one guesses, chose to regard this as a proposal to discuss settling our differences and made a big splurge in their press and radio with the idea of convincing their people that America is getting scared.

Kiwanis Directors Back Projected Hospital

The Kiwanis Club's board of directors at a meeting Wednesday night confirmed a previous decision and went on record as endorsing the program of the Roseburg Community Hospital Committee, announced President M. M. Nelson.

Harry Black was delegated to write a letter to the committee formally confirming the club's views.

CONGRESSSIONAL POSTS

By CHARLES V. STANTON

Skipping, temporarily, at least, the party committeemen and electors of the two major parties in our discussion of candidates whose names will appear on the primary election ballot May 21, we find two Roseburg men with outstanding records for service to the state and nation on the Republican ballot for congressional posts.

Guy Cordon, Oregon's senior U. S. senator comes up for nomination, as does Harris Ellsworth, congressman from the Fourth district.

These two men are well known to the older residents of Roseburg, but some of our many newcomers may not be acquainted with the two local members of the state's congressional delegation, and so we will review briefly their prior activities.

Senator Cordon is a graduate of Roseburg High School, a former county assessor, later serving as district attorney, and, immediately prior to his appointment as U. S. senator, was legal counsel for the land grant counties of Oregon and counsel for the grazing and public lands counties of the 11 Western states. He is a veteran of the first World War, past department commander of the American Legion, past exalted ruler of the Elks lodge.

Following the death of Senator Charles L. McNary, Cordon was appointed to the vacancy and was elected in 1944 to fill out the four years remaining in McNary's term. During the brief period of his service in the U. S. Senate he has become one of its recognized leaders and ranks high among the statesmen in the Senate. He has been given most important assignments, including numerous long air tours to investigate various conditions for the Senate, and only recently made a thorough study on statehood for Hawaii, bringing back a favorable report. Cordon's swift rise in the Senate to a place among the leaders has been nothing short of phenomenal.

Representative Ellsworth is a former editor of the News-Review. While retaining a minority stockholder interest in the News-Review, he has no present connection with its management or policies.

He previously was identified with the lumber industry, was manager of a lumber trade magazine, and secretary of the Oregon Newspaper Publishers Association prior to coming to Roseburg. As chairman of the industrial committee of the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce, he laid the groundwork for much of Roseburg's present industrial growth and expansion.

Particularly interested in development of the state's resources, Ellsworth was largely responsible for construction of the alcohol-from-woodwaste plant at Springfield and the Albany metallurgical experiment station. He has led fights for more money for wood utilization studies, access roads, etc. The achievement of Cordon and Ellsworth in blocking a proposed cut in appropriations for the Bonneville Power Administration in the last session of Congress attracted nation-wide commendation.

Virtually the only criticism of either Cordon or Ellsworth stems from organized labor sources opposing the Taft-Hartley Act, and organizations opposed to current sustained yield forest management proposals. These two issues, however, open the way for opposition.

Cordon will face no opposition at the primary, but Manley J. Wilson of St. Helens, long a member of the Oregon State Legislature, and Dr. Louis A. Wood, Eugene, will seek the Democratic nomination and the right to contest Cordon in the general election.

Wilson has been for a number of years an organized labor spokesman in the state legislature and a proponent of social legislation.

Dr. Wood, professor of economics at the University of Oregon, unsuccessfully contested for Ellsworth's seat in Congress at the election two years ago.

Ellsworth will be opposed on the Republican ticket by Robert L. Parsons, Grants Pass, a former dairyman, now in the transportation industry.

Two candidates seek the Democratic nomination for representative, Elmer B. Sahlstrom, Eugene, and William F. Tanton, Jasper. Sahlstrom is a public accountant, a lawyer, former operator of sawmill and logging businesses, past president of the Young Democrats Club.

Tantan is a farmer and small mill operator, a native of Oregon, active in labor and welfare organizations.

Both Republican and Democratic opponents of the two Roseburg men now serving in Congress stress their opposition to cooperative contract sustained yield forest management, and to the Taft-Hartley Act as principal planks in their campaign platforms.

Budget Proposed For City Topic Of Slankard's Talk

As the Lions Club program feature Thursday night; City Manager Matt Slankard discussed the city budget on which the people of Roseburg will be asked to vote to determine whether the budget is to exceed the six percent limitation. The election will be held in connection with the primary May 21.

Manager Slankard emphasized that the amount outside the limitation figure on which the people will vote is less than the amount approved by the voters last year, even though the total budget for the 1948-49 fiscal year is greater. This is due, he explained, because of increased city revenues from other sources.

The amount outside the limitation figure is $26,662.33, compared with $42,818.48 approved last year by the voters. Increased assessed valuations would actually reduce the millage levy from 20 mills last year to an estimated 16.9 for the coming year, if the budget is approved.

"For the good of the city of Roseburg as a whole, there is a need for a larger operating budget," said Slakard. "It is the duty of each and every voter of the city to vote. It would not be so bad to lose the larger increased budget if everyone voted. We would know then that the people of Roseburg, did not want the improvements included in the budget."

LETTERS to the Editor

Endorses Toll Road Idea For Cleveland Rapids

ROSEBURG—I can't write an editorial, Charley,, but I can second the motion on your editorial in the News-Review of Tuesday, May 11 on the subject of Cleveland Rapids and, in the hope that it may cause more action, I'm going to do so.

Personally, I would not blame the property owners and residents if they made the Hutton road a toll road and charged us fishermen, onlookers and recreationists a fee for use, or abuse, of their road. I want to thank them for putting up with us.

This county needs all possible public recreation sites it can get. Maybe it would help if fishermen, recreationists, property owners, men of good will and voters would start writing letters and post cards to our County Court even though we only say, "Cleveland Rapids access and recreational area—Now!"

Mine is in the mail.

Endorses McAllister For G.O.P. Delegate

MEDFORD—It is because I feel deeply that the soundest judgment must be exercised by the delegates to the Republican National Convention next month, in order that the strongest possible candidate will emerge to head the party ticket, that I am so personally interested in the candidacy of William M. McAllister for delegate.

Mr. McAllister served as a member of the House of Representatives in four sessions of the Oregon legislature and was speaker of the House in 1943. He attended the Republican Convention in Cleveland in 1936 and is thus familiar with convention procedure.

As a Military Government officer during the war, Bill McAllister spent two and one-half years in the European Theater of Operations. He has practiced law in Medford for a number of years, and is active in civic, fraternal and veteran groups, and holds an enviable place in the life of this community.

I can sincerely endorse to the voters of the Fourth Congressional district the candidacy of William Mc Allister for delegate to the National Republican Convention.

Attendance Pins Given Members of Lions Club

One hundred percent attendance pins, based on 32 consecutive week attendance at meetings were awarded to 13 members of the Lions Club at the meeting Thursday night.

The members awarded pins were Buckley Bell, Dr. E. W. Carter, Bruce Elliott, Carl Felker, Thomas Hartfiel, Forrest Losee, Albert McBee, Dr. Earl Neuru, Matt Slankard, Clifford Smith, Luther Wade, Walter Welker, and Joe Wikoff.

A large delegation of Roseburg Lions plan to be present for the charter night program at Myrtle Creek next Wednesday night. The club there is sponsored by the Roseburg Den.

Nomination of officers will be held at the meeting Thursday of next week. Further nominations may be made from the floor at the date of the election the first week in June.

Monthly Meeting Set For 90 and 9 Men's Club

Monthly meeting of the Christian Church 90 and 9 men's club will be held Monday night in the church basement. Potluck dinner will be served at 6:30, and a "good" program is announced by President C. O. Slabaugh. The meeting will be terminated, he said, in time to permit members who so desire to attend the county candidate forum meeting in the County Courthouse, starting at 7:30.

MEET THE CANDIDATE

The following statement concerning his candidacy for nomination for justice of the peace of Deer Creek District on the Republican ticket was submitted by A. J. Geedes, above, and does not necessarily signify endorsement by the Roseburg News-Review.

"A resident of Roseburg for thirty-six years;

"Is fully qualified to fill the office, having handled very similar court work during past 19 years in employe of the City of Roseburg in capacity of municipal judge and city recorder.

"If elected, will endeavor, to best of ability, to conduct the office faithfully, efficiently, impartially, and in a business-like manner."
