Boy One Year Old Begins Life as Wage Earner

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—(AP)—Dennis McShane has gone to work early in life.

Dennis is only one year old but he has blossomed out as a full-fledged wage earner. He got his social security card Monday. He can't walk yet, but he's husky and weighs 32 pounds.

But Dennis can swim, and how. He started swimming in the bathtub when he was five months old and, at nine months, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McShane, got him under the training of an expert coach.

Dennis has appeared in one movie and is scheduled to start work in another soon. The baby can swim across a 30-foot pool and dive from a regulation diving board.

Worst School Shortage In U. S. Faces Children in Fall

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Millions of U. S. kids are eagerly awaiting summer vacation.

School officials are dreading it. They know that next fall they will face the worst shortage of school buildings and facilities that America has ever experienced.

They know that this summer isn't going to be long enough for them to do much about the situation. It will just mean three hectic months of trying to line up more churches, private homes, public buildings and warehouses—anything which will substitute for a classroom. It will mean planning to put thousands of more schools on double shifts.

That's the outlook described by Ray L. Hamon, school building expert of the U. S. Office of Education.

Various Causes Assigned

Several factors have combined during the last few years to create this bad situation. Normal school construction was stopped during the war. Shortages of materials and the high cost of construction during the war have kept the building of new schools and their repair to about half the normal level since the war. And even before the war, surveys revealed that in many sections of the country school facilities weren't adequate.

Added to that is the increasing number of children entering schools as a result of the war baby boom. Before and during the war the average number of children reaching school age each year was a little more than two million. Next fall it is estimated that very close to three million will show up at school after Labor Day ready to start their formal education.

Billions Needed
According to the latest study of the U.S.O.C., the nation needs about $6.5 billion worth of new schools and repairs on old schools.

lem are the ones which grew suddenly as a result of the war. Double shifts, classrooms in churches and other public buildings and general crowding have existed in these cities almost since the start of the war. And the few temporary schools which the government built are now falling apart.

Parking Meter Cheats Blind News Vendor

BUTTE, Mont. — (AP)—Frank Erickson, blind news vendor, says he's sick of competing with a parking meter. The meter is located near Erickson's newsstand and it has the advantage in that it never has to leave the spot for a sandwich or a snooze. Erickson says his ears have told him on more than one occasion that someone absent-mindedly took a paper, then dropped the nickel into the meter, instead of into the collection box.

Infected Foot Halts

Joe Walcott's Training

GREENLOCK, N.J., May 26.—(AP)—An infected right foot has sidelined Jersey Joe Walcott for a few days but the challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight boxing crown isn't worried one bit.

"I needed the letup," said Jersey Joe. "I weigh 198 pounds and that's only three and one-half more than when I met Louis last December."

The fight is scheduled for June 23 at the Yankee stadium. Neither Walcott nor his handlers know now his foot became infected.

"Just one of those things, probably a splinter," said Trainer Danny Florio.
