Communist, He's just a sap. (As this writer recalls it, after the lapse of many, many years, Henry is exactly the kind of sap who always got badly stuck in a horse trade back in the days when horse trading was a regular business.)

"Why don't you GET OUT OF CZECHOSLOVAKIA? Turn this beautiful and progressive and democratic little country back to the liberty-loving people who built it. Get out, bag and baggage. Take your secret police with you. Call off your Communist dogs. Say you've made a mistake and are sorry and that hereafter their country is theirs to do with as they please without any interference from outsiders."

"Another thing, Joe. "Quit bedeviling little Finland. My people are strong for the Finns. They admire 'em. Americans always admire people who pay their bills, even if paying makes the skin slip. These Finns have always paid their honest debt to us, even when they had a lot of precedent for beating us out of what they owed us. "Give Finland a real break. Get out of there too."

"If you'll do these things, Joe, and MEAN it, I think I can make a deal over here. But if you DON'T—well, I might even lose confidence in you myself. After all, you know, I'm an American. "If you'll do all these things, in good faith, and live up to 'em, the American people will get back the confidence they once had in you. Then we can do business. People who have confidence in each other can always get along together."

"I really want to make a peace deal with us, quit sticking your nose into the affairs of France. The French are good people. If they WANT Communism, well and good. They'll vote for it. But if they don't want it, quit trying to force it on 'em."

Younger Men in City Affairs Discussed

I note in a recent issue of your paper that our mayor favors younger men into our city affairs. This idea seems to have merit. We younger fellows, in the main, have enthusiasm but lack experience. These early enlistments afford opportunity for training while the responsibility is borne by men who have met the acid test of experience.

From all indications Roseburg is to become a sizable city and its affairs of such importance that the best available talent should be used. In this connection we notice that big business concerns are not turning their affairs over to young inexperienced men.

ON TO THE FESTIVAL!

An appeal for contributions to send the Roseburg school band and Knights of Pythias Girls Drum Corps to the Portland Rose Festival has met with a fair response, but the full amount required has not yet been pledged. We are certain that failure to raise the band's travel budget is not due to any lack of willingness on the part of Roseburg residents to donate to the fund, but is occasioned merely by the fact that no one has had time to arrange an organized solicitation.

Roseburg, in our opinion, should not fail in representation at the Rose Festival. Many cities enter floats in the floral parade. We hope Roseburg will also participate in that activity. But more important than a float, we believe, is the presentation of our band and drum corps. We have nothing finer to offer as representative of Roseburg and the Umpqua basin than the beauty, ability and enthusiasm of our young people.

The behavior of our young people when away from town has contributed much to Roseburg's reputation. Roseburg's football and basketball teams for years have been welcome guests at any hotel, whereas some hotels have suffered heavy damage from youthful representatives of a few Oregon towns. Our band and drum corps repeatedly have been praised by communities they have visited because of their good conduct.

With two such perfect exhibits to enter from Roseburg, the Pacific Coast's No. 1 boom town, we would, in our opinion, be extremely negligent if we failed to take advantage of this opportunity for self-advertising and expression of good will toward Portland and the rest of Oregon, by failing to send the two groups to the festival, simply because we were too indifferent to make voluntary contributions to the travel budget.

The school band and the girls drum corps are now resplendent in new uniforms. Both organizations are extremely efficient in music and drill. They will compare most favorably, we believe, with any similar units in the state. Their appearances in Portland parades and in various events for which they are scheduled will bring much attention to themselves and the area they represent. No advertising money could be spent to better advantage.

Funds for travel expenses can come only from public subscription. Our school operating costs are too high to permit inclusion of such extra curricular activities in the annual budget. The Chamber of Commerce is not organized to raise any such sum of money within itself. The Chamber is sponsoring the collection of needed money for this project, having already secured several large pledges from business firms and a few contributions from individuals.

It is anticipated that the band will soon conduct a tag day program, but this will not raise all the money necessary for the trip.

Roseburg people who would like to see our area well represented at the Rose Festival and who desire that the young people participating in the band and drum corps be rewarded in part for their hours of practice and training, as well as for their enthusiastic help in numerous civic activities, have an opportunity to aid these purposes by voluntarily mailing contributions to one or the other of the two addresses given above.

Fishermen Reap Salmon Harvest in Eureka Area

EUREKA, Calif., May 27.—(AP)—Commercial fishermen are harvesting the heaviest run of salmon of the year. Boats flooded this port with fish taken in deep waters west of Blount Reef, 60 miles off shore southwest.

Norcal Packing Co. of Fields Landing on Humboldt Bay has so far accepted deliveries totaling more than 35,000 pounds, mostly large Chinook salmon.

Many of the delivering boats are larger craft from Oregon and Washington, currently fishing the Humboldt Bay area. They are capable of staying out several days because of ice storage facilities for the catch.

The average catch was from 2,500 to 3,000 pounds per boat, with the Kay of Astoria landing high catch of 5,800 pounds.

Fishermen reported using weights up to fifty pounds to take salmon from the deeper waters.

Funeral services were held at Oakland today for James L. Cole, formerly a resident there, who died at Pasadena, Calif., May 22. He was born Sept. 21, 1861, seven miles west of Oakland, the late Dr. and Mrs. James O. Cole and lived most of his life in that vicinity.

Toastmasters Give Sketches Of Their Own Lives

Brief auto-biographical sketches were the speakers' topics at the Toastmasters Club dinner meeting at the Umpqua Hotel Tuesday evening. Sam Reed was toastmaster and talks were given by Bob Gladwell, Bill Tipton, Jerry Sheldon and Phil Harth. Gladwell, who operates a planing mill in Roseburg, stated he was the youngest of 11 children, and was born in Tillamook, where his father engaged in the cheese-making business. His family moved to a farm near Roseburg while he was very young. His father brought his herd of dairy cattle, but found the climate here did not agree with the animals and he was forced to dispose of them.

DAILY DEVOTIONS DR. CHARLES A. EDWARDS

One of the most important evidences of the resurrection of Christ is the transformation of His disciples. The civil forces of the day had crucified Jesus with whom those disciples had spent three wonderful years and in whom their hope of the Messiah was set. But the Cross had rung down the curtain on all their hopes. A more dispirited group of men it would be impossible to conceive. They all forsook Him and fled. But in a few days these same men became a united, strong, happy band, facing the world with a courage that could not be shaken.

Citizenship For Indians Advocated By Women's Clubs

PORTLAND, Ore., May 27.—(AP) The General Federation of Women's Clubs called yesterday for revision of the U. S. Bureau of Indian Affairs and urged equal citizenship rights for Indians. Some 2,000 delegates to the national convention voted unanimously for a resolution calling for a long-range government policy on Indian affairs and reorganization of the Indian's bureau's administrative setup. The action drew commendation from Mrs. Henry Roe Cloud, wife of the superintendent of the Umatilla, Ore., Indian Reservation, although she added that the resolution "has not quite enough teeth in it."

Daylight Savings Movement Finds Oregon Hesitant

(By the Associated Press) The swing to daylight saving time in Washington State reached a fast pace yesterday. A parade of towns and cities announced decisions to turn their clocks ahead an hour June 1, following the example set by Seattle more than a week ago. Many towns in the nation already are on daylight time. Portland's city council also voted daylight time for clocks under official city control — which means in city offices and on streets. Merchants will also vote on the issue. In Washington State Centralia, Chehalis, Port Angeles, Everett and Snohomish joined the D. S. T. move. Bremerton, Aberdeen, Hoquiam and Grays Harbor County decided in favor of it earlier. Whether upstate Oregon would follow Portland's switch to daylight saving was uncertain. Robert L. Elfstrom, mayor of Salem and president of the League of Oregon Cities, said the league were in favor of daylight saving. The 200 cities in the league were about equally divided on the issue in a poll several weeks ago. Roseburg Mayor Al Flegel said the city council there is unanimously in favor of daylight saving. The matter will be debated at a Roseburg council meeting Thursday night. Grants Pass was expected to discuss the question at a council meeting later. Corvallis reported some sympathy for daylight time on a "if the other towns do" basis. The Chamber of Commerce went on record favoring such a change. In Baker and Eugene, city heads opposed a time shift, and indicated it would only be adopted should a popular move for it arise.

James L. Cole, Pioneer, Laid To Rest at Oakland

Funeral services were held at Oakland today for James L. Cole, formerly a resident there, who died at Pasadena, Calif., May 22. He was born Sept. 21, 1861, seven miles west of Oakland, the late Dr. and Mrs. James O. Cole and lived most of his life in that vicinity. He was married to the former May Starr, daughter of pioneers who lived in the same valley west of Oakland. Last year they moved to Pasadena to be near a daughter, Mrs. Grace Fleischman of that city. In addition to M. S. Cole and Mrs. Fleischman, another daughter survives: Mrs. Elsie Baldwin of Lodi, Calif. A son, Lucian Cole, died in 1942, a daughter, Bess Cole, died in infancy many years ago. Mr. Cole was a farmer most of his life. He was educated at the old Calapooia School and the Wilbur Academy. He served as a deputy county assessor for many years. Today's services were in the Oakland Christian Church with interment following in the I. O. O. F. cemetery.

138 Students Will Be Graduated From Roseburg High

Graduation exercises for the Roseburg Senior High School senior class are scheduled for 8 p. m. Friday in the Senior High auditorium. Approximately 138 students, the largest graduating class in the school's history, will receive their diplomas.

Dr. Victor P. Morris, dean of the University of Oregon school of business administration, will deliver the evening's address. His topic will be "Finding New Frontiers."

The program announced by Stanley Glick, senior class advisor, will open with the processional music, "Pomp and Circumstance," played by Miss Melva Williamson, as the seniors enter and take their places on the stage. Rev. Kenneth W. Knox will give the invocation.

Miss Joyce Kvidera will next give the salutatory, followed by a solo, "I Heard a Forest Praying," sung by Roy Shore. Miss Sue Hahn will then give the valedictory.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh. It's Leap Year, Girls! First girl in our town to "get her man" on Leap Year was the Cuppers' daughter, Jane, who wed Bill Webster's boy last Saturday. I know it's usual for older folks to shake their heads over the younger generation. (It's gone on for hundreds of years, now.) But from where I sit, young people of marrying age today are every bit as commendable as their elders were—in their temperance (a glass of beer for instance), tolerance, and common sense. So to Jane and Bill—the best of luck! Joe Marsh Copyright, 1948, United States Brewers Foundation
