DRAIN MEMORIAL DRAWS ATTENTION—Nationally-known writers are asking their publications for assignments to cover the official dedication of the North Douglas Living War Memorial at Drain, according to H. C. (Bud) Horn, co-chairman with William Griswold for the dedication program. Date of the dedication awaits the arrival of U. S. Senator Guy Cordon. According to advice from his office, he will be able to attend July 25 or Aug. 1. Writers are telling their editors, said Horn, of the national importance of the dedication on the basis that Drain, with a population of less than 1,000, has raised $70 per capita to build the memorial and that the project is an outstanding example of community cooperation in commemorating the heroes of World War II. In the pictures here, scenes of the swimming pool and its users are shown above. At left, new field lights have been erected at the new athletic field being completed near the swimming pool. The field, it is asserted, will be the "best lighted on the West Coast." Grandstands are to be erected as part of the plan. Also to be included in the memorial are a playground for smaller children and a picnic area.
