June Bride

Mrs. Albert Hoffman

YONCALLA — Miss Martha Lanan, daughter of Guy Lanan of Kingston, Ill., became the bride of Albert Hoffman, son of Mrs. Katherine Hoffman of Cornelius, Ore., at high noon Wednesday, June 30, at the home of her father in Kingston, Ill.

Four generations have resided in the farm home at Kingston, where the wedding took place. The date was doubly important because the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Henry Lanan, observed her 80th birthday the same day.

The Rev. Dr. Bishop, pastor of the Methodist Church at Cary, Ill., officiated at the double ring ceremony. Piano selections were played by the bride's cousin, Mrs. Draper Bishop, before the service. Her selections included, "Concerto One" by Tschakovsky, "Oh Promise Me" and "All Through the Day." She also played Lohengrin "Wedding March" as the bride party took its place. The house was beautifully decorated with large baskets of white summer flowers.

The bride was charming in a white 11 on ensemble, her dress being princess style with cap sleeves, with tiny pearl buttons down the back to the waist line. She wore a wreath of tiny white roses in her hair, and a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. She carried a shower bouquet of white rose buds, and her accessories also carried out the white theme. Her hand knit lace gloves were her grandmother's dating back 60 years. Mrs. Phyllis Perrin of Forest Park, Ill., was the only attendant. She wore a beige afternoon dress and green accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of green carnations. The best man was Joe Lanan, brother of the bride. Mr. Lanan gave his daughter in marriage.

After the wedding the guests were taken to the Twin Gables,

Golden Voice of Roosevelt Missing At Lifeless Democratic Convention

By HAL BOYLE

PHILADELPHIA, July 12.—(AP)—The golden voice is gone. That was the paramount fact as the Democratic convention opened here today like a football team starting a game with four men trying to play quarterback.

The great signal caller is dead. There is no one here to say "My Friends" and melt the divergent animosities of the Democratic party in the brotherhood of political loyalty.

You have to have a hero—or several heroes. And none has come here yet.

In the opening hour of its fifth straight quadrennial bid for power the historic Democratic party is as split apart as the quarreling would-be heirs to a rich man's legacy.

What is missing here is the vast personality, the unifying magic of the last leader—the purple Democrat, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

There is no doubt among most delegates here that the inheritor of his mantle, Harry Truman, will be nominated to lead the party.

Negro Major Problem
But they are preparing to nominate him in an unhappy atmosphere of revolt over an internal problem affecting one-tenth of the American population—the Negro citizens.

This subject outweighs in the attention of the delegates at this stage the high cost of living, the world crisis, or any other problem facing the nation.

It outweighs even the prospects of victory in November. In two days here I have heard no delegate even bring up the topic in an optimistic view.

There is a great contrast between this convention and the Republican convention here last month.

The G.O.P. gathering was featured by an exciting clash of personalities. Dewey, Taft and Stassen were present and contending vigorously for the nomination. So were a number of dark horses.

That convention was built around the competition of men. This convention so far has been an angry conflict of principles and principles are never as colorful as people.

The Republican convention opened in an atmosphere of hope and horse-trading. The Democratic convention has started in a fog of sectional recriminations and bitterness.

Roosevelt Missing
There is no hero or potential hero yet on the scene. There is little parading or open enthusiasm for the leader they know they will pick—Truman. There are more arguments than there are cheers.

This is the surface picture to a popular restaurant outside of Chicago, where a reception was held. Table decorations at the reception were white rosebuds. Piano music during the reception included "Happy Birthday" for the bride's grandmother and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life."

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and of Northern Illinois State Teachers College. She taught home economics in Yoncalla High School for the past two years. The groom is a graduate of Forest Grove High School and Oregon College of Education at Monmouth. He is now principal of Yoncalla grade school.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman enjoyed a short honeymoon in Chicago. They will return to Kingston for a couple of weeks before leaving for the West, where their trip will take them through the Canadian Rockies and Oregon. They will return to Yoncalla about the first of August, to make their home.

Out of town guests included the groom's sister, Miss Caroline Hoffman of Cornelius, Ore., Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas of Spring Valley, Ill.

MISS RAMONA FETT HONORED AT LOVELY SHOWER PARTY

Miss Nancy Radabaugh and Miss Ardyth Andrus entertained Thursday at an 8:00 kitchen shower honoring Miss Ramona Fett, bride-elect of Tyler Evans, at the Radabaugh home on East Lane street.

Beautiful yellow roses formed the table centerpiece and the rooms were attractively decorated with bouquets of red roses, and other mixed flowers.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, after which games and visiting were enjoyed.

Lovely gifts were presented to Miss Fett from: Miss Nona Bratton, Miss Irene Trapolis, Miss Lorraine Losee, Miss Edith Polrot, Miss Carrie Miller, Miss Marilyn Dixon, Miss Mary McKinney, Miss Jean Elliott, and the hostesses, Miss Radabaugh and Miss Andrus.

AND EVEN A CRAB

ST. HELENS, Ore.—(AP)—When the Columbia river flood subsided, the Ezra Barkers went back to their home here. They weren't too surprised to find a carp in the bedroom. Nor even when they found a sturgeon in the living room. What stumped them was what they found in the kitchen. It was a crab—70 miles upstream from the ocean.
