

Sutherland Seeks Bids on Water Filtration Plant

Sealed bids for the construction of a treatment and filtration plant for the Sutherland city water system will be opened at 7:30 p. m. Friday, July 16, it was reported by City Recorder William A. Crowell.

The plant is to be constructed at the city-owned dam on Calapooa Creek, nine miles east of the city, Crowell said.

Preparations for the start of the project were made this week, as silt and brush that has collected behind the dam was cleared away, and the reservoir behind the dam deepened.

Two contracts will be let in the improvement project. One will cover the construction of the plant and the foundations of a water tank; the second will be for furnishing machinery, valves, pumps, and controls for the filtration plant.

A. D. Harvey and S. C. Watkins, consulting engineers of Medford, are the designers of the projected water treatment plant.

Republicans Lambasted By Senator Barkley

war," he said. "The world situation has reached a posture where intensity of feeling and spontaneity of conduct might easily precipitate armed conflict."

He wanted to know if the nation's fate could be entrusted safely to a party which, he said, has given "obstinate obstruction" to steps toward peace.

There were cries of "pour it on" as Barkley lit into the Republicans.

New Deal Lauded

The Republicans can jeer all they like at the "New Deal," he said, but "the American people will not willingly surrender the great gains they have made under it."

The New Deal, Barkley said, brought recovery and prosperity to the nation with a series of "some of the greatest programs ever inaugurated by the American government."

Republicans, he declared, condemn it with their mouths but endorse it with their platforms.

"Let us ask," he suggested, "and let the American people ask those who sprang this forest of superb accomplishment with the froth of their vindictive lips, which tree will they cut down with their mighty ax or their 'puny hatchet'?"

'Sabotage' Charge Hurdled

Amid loud and frequent applause Barkley accused the Republican-controlled 80th Congress of trying to "sabotage" the 16-years of Democratic accomplishment.

By limiting funds, he said, it sought to cripple such programs as soil conservation and rural electrification, and to destroy the rights obtained by labor.

He said the Republicans failed to attack the housing problem, surrendering instead to "the real estate lobby."

Nothing was done, Barkley said, about a health program promised by the Republicans, nor about controlling inflation or increasing the minimum wage from 40 to 70 cents an hour.

All these measures "are a part of the flock of 'gone geese' put to flight by the Republican Congress which was just adjourned," the Senator declared.

The Kentuckian said the Republican Convention marked a return to political influence by Joseph R. Grundy, former Republican Senator and one-time head of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association.

Grundy, Barkley said, "exercised great influence in, if he did not actually dominate" the selection of Rep. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania as the new chairman of the Republican National committee.

BROKEN MAIN FIXED

Water on Hoover Street was shut off this morning as a service crew of the California-Oregon Power Co. repaired a broken main at the corner of Hoover and Fullerton Sts. No report of the cause of the break was available.

GRASS FIRE

The Roseburg Fire Department was called to put out a grass fire at 940 S. Stephens Street Monday at 3:30 p. m. No damage resulted.

the closing session of the convention tomorrow night."

Dispatches from Washington said the president's tentative decision is to fly here, accompanied by Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, and to return to Washington immediately after a short address to the convention.

McGrath said he hopes the convention can meet in almost continuous session tomorrow to wind up its business.

This would mean jamming through adoption of a platform and selection of presidential and vice-presidential candidates into one day.

A reporter asked what was the reason for the speedup.

"The heat of Philadelphia," McGrath replied.

All signs had pointed strongly to Barkley for the last 12 hours, although some big city leaders, including Frank Hague of Jersey City and Paul Fitzpatrick of New York, were taking the view that some younger man should have the No. 2 spot.

After Barkley had provided the convention's first breath of excitement—a 28-minute stampede for his vice-presidential candidacy last night—these leaders huddled with Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing in the convention hall office of Democratic Chairman McGrath.

Some Oppose Barkley

Ewing came out like a man who had swallowed the tanager of a Barkley vice-presidential boom and looked for his own to mushroom. The others wouldn't talk, either. But there seemed little doubt that if they take Barkley, it will be with the greatest of reluctance.

Against this, Leslie L. Biffle, sergeant-at-arms of the convention and one of Mr. Truman's close advisers, told reporters after a stag party for Barkley that the Kentuckian is in.

"I think it is a cinch. I think there is no question about it," he said.

Barkley, who has maintained complete silence in the last two days about his evident availability, stood within earshot as Biffle made his comment.

Supporters of Truman

The Kentuckian, as minority leader of the Senate, has gone down the line for President Truman's legislative program.

Often a Democratic keynoter, he never has been a vice-presidential bridesmaid, although he was among the contenders in 1940 and again in 1944. That was the year Mr. Truman was chosen for second place on the Franklin D. Roosevelt ticket.

The slow-starter demonstration for Barkley, paced at the beginning by the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home," developed into the convention's first real lift last night.

In the nearly half hour it lasted it showed that the old war horse had made a lot of friends in the Democratic party since the late President Roosevelt penned his famous "Dear Alben" letter in 1937 and thereby made him the party's Senate leader.

The Roosevelt-Barkley friendship came to an abrupt end seven years later when Roosevelt slapped a veto on an income tax bill over Barkley's advice.

The Kentuckian immediately resigned his leadership post but was re-elected by his fellow senators within a matter of hours.

tion of the Republican party for "lowering taxes on the rich and putting the burden on the poor."

Displaced Persons—A demand that 400,000 European war refugees be allowed to enter this country rather than the 200,000-odd provided for in the present law. That law is described as "un-American" because of "race and religious discriminations."

Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York, member of the platform group, said the platform drafters "snapped their fingers" at the state department and "gave them a shellacking" in the Palestine plank.

Mayor Hubert H. Humphrey of Minneapolis, selling reporters "I hope there will be no convention floor fight on the platform," added:

"I don't think there will be."

The 4,500-word present draft compares with the short, 1,366 word 1944 platform. The 1948 Republican platform was about 2,400 words.

CURFEW VIOLATED

Two juveniles were picked up by city police last night in violation of the "after hours" ordinance and were cited into municipal court with their parents today. Judge Ira B. Riddle reported he assessed fines of $2 each against the youths' parents. The curfew hour or juveniles is 10 p. m.

Youthful Gunman Gets Temporary Penalty

found upon him at the time of his arrest when he entered a hardware store in Salem July 4, the officers said. He was reported to have told the officers he is a deserter from the army at Fort Ord, Calif. The police are further checking his statements.

While the arrest of Downs was made by the two city officers, their expediency was made possible by a group of citizens who had seen the youth loitering about the store, had also seen him flee south on Hamilton Street and had followed his course to the highway.

Four men in particular, John Patton, Norman Seifarth, B. M. Rice and Mr. Zimmerman, all living in the immediate vicinity, after observing where Downs cut through the brushy draw, drove in Rice's car to the highway, where they spotted the youth in the vicinity of Bill's Cafe.

They kept him under surveillance until the police, directed by a News-Review reporter to the highway location opposite the draw, had arrived. Downs meantime went over the embankment, so the men drove south a short distance, then returned on the railroad, and some of them spotted Downs from the railroad track before the police actually saw him.

The condition of Denton was reported from Mercy Hospital today to be "about the same." The bone in the upper part of his leg was shattered by the impact of the .38 calibre bullet, and the slug split into several pieces, which are still lodged in his leg.

State Fire Marshal Aide Makes Inspection Here

M. J. Gilson, deputy state fire marshal from the Salem office, was in Roseburg this morning making a routine fire inspection trip with Fire Chief Glenn H. Taylor.

Chief Taylor stated that he would like to again request residents of the city to clean up their vacant lots.

The city ordinance, said Taylor, requires that grass, weeds and rubbish be removed where they may become a fire hazard. Full cooperation is urged by the chief.

"If the vacant lots are not taken care of, serious fires may result," the chief warned.

Jail Term Given Driver Having No License

Marion Cornelius Keller, arrested July 9 on a charge of having no operator's license, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail. Justice of Peace Thomas C. Hartfield reported. The original charge was dated Jan. 21, 1948, but Keller had failed to appear previously, said Hartfield.

Raymond Angelo Seghezzi, 18, paid on a fine of $30 on a charge of reckless driving, Justice Hartfield reported.

in their counterattack near Lydda and Er Rameh. Their first charge took Beit Nabal and Deir Tarif, three and five miles north-east of Lydda. An attempt to smash through to Lydda itself was negated by Israeli fire. Of the Arabs who surrendered in Lydda and Er Rameh, only a handful were Legion troops.

A decisive battle appeared to be shaping up. The Jews seemed intent on pressing on to Latrun, the powerful road block on the Jerusalem highway.

Kremlin Still Silent

The U. S. increased the planes flying into Berlin and started expanding the great Templehof airport. The British were reported sending in new troops, with some scheduled for Berlin duty, but this report was denied officially in London.

The Kremlin kept its silence on the U.S. British and French notes demanding an end to the blockade, now in its fourth week. The Moscow radio urged a German peace treaty be concluded quickly and that all occupation troops be withdrawn as soon as possible after the signing. The Russians have blocked every previous effort to write a peace for Germany and Austria. Their new anxiety seemed to stem from the Western Allies' moves to set up a government in Western Germany.

U. S. planes carried a record 1,249 tons of food and supplies to Berlin yesterday. The British sent in 204 cargo planes, compared to 240 by the Americans.

France, which is to receive $1-100,000,000 a year from U. S. taxpayers through the Marshall Plan, faced a threatened strike of government employees. Airport, radio and weather personnel has walked out already.

Since France, like Britain, has socialized a great part of her industry, the strike could just about shut down the country if allowed to spread. Anti-Communists were leading this one, and the Communist unions were merely joining the walkouts.

Yugoslavia started a trial in Croatia of 50 persons accused of spying and terrorism. The trial, apparently an attempt to divert attention from the crisis growing from the Cominform denunciation of Premier Marshal Tito, was in part an attempt to implicate U. S., Britain and the Vatican.

"It will be administered as a non-sectarian community-owned and operated institution," the doctor concluded.

Danger of Disease May Cancel Turkey Show

ster said, is that a recent case of Newcastle disease among birds in Washington was traced to the poultry exhibit of the Pacific International Livestock Exhibition at Portland last year.

Newcastle disease is spread by a virus affecting chickens and turkeys. It first appears in the birds' respiratory systems and is characterized by a gasping action. The disease later affects the brain. There is said to be no known cure for the disease and birds so afflicted are destroyed.

Certification Required

The disease is reported to be prevalent in sections of California and Washington. All poultry brought into Oregon must be certified free of Newcastle disease. Young chicks and poulters are susceptible, however, and it is reported that birds have become infected with the same virus by being transported in the same express car with diseased birds. Two Douglas County chicken flocks are reported infected.

Another meeting of the directors will be held in the Roseburg Chamber of Commerce offices next Monday night, to hear a report from Routledge and Roadman of the meeting in Portland. Those who attended the meeting here yesterday included Jay Conn, Oregon Turkey Growers, Roseburg; Lawrence Michaels, Canyonville; Lawrence Roberts, Northwest Poultry and Dairy Products, Roseburg; Roy O. Young and Sam J. Shoemaker, both of Roseburg; Glenn Wellman and Bob Bashford, Douglas County Flour Mill; Lawrence Loy Medford, Claude Goff, Triangle Mills, Portland; and Boner, Routledge, Roadman and Brewster.

The meeting was preceded by a luncheon at the Umpqua Hotel.
