Plane Prospects for Oil

This airplane is prospecting for oil, using a newly developed airborne magnetometer. The instrument, which the plane trails as it demonstrates over Westchester Airport, N. Y., measures varying intensities of the earth's magnetic field. These are recorded in the plane, and data, which would take decades to gather on the ground, is quickly mapped.

Rilea Raps Plan to Take Over National Guard

PORTLAND, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A proposal that the Army take over the National Guard has drawn criticism from Maj. Gen. Thomas E. Rilea and Gov. John J. Hall. Gov. Hall said the plan whereby states would use men not subject to regular military duty and over-age groups would leave the state helplessly unable to perform a job when needed.

The State Adjutant General called the suggestion "another move" by the Army to get control of the state reserve units. "The thing has been simmering for a long time," Gen. Rilea added. He said it is made at this time because Guard equipment is not up to par and quarters are inadequate. He blamed this condition on lack of funds and supplies due from the federal government.

A new Navy rocket, guided by radio beams, can hit targets up to seven miles away.
