Strike Threat Faced By 8 Salem Restaurants

SALEM, Aug. 12 (AP)—Eight of Salem's largest downtown restaurants were expected to be closed today by a strike of 200 union cooks and waitresses.

A. B. Pedersen, business agent for the Salem Culinary Alliance, said the Union is striking for a 10-cent an-hour wage increase. The restaurant owners voted yesterday to reject the wage demand. The wage demand would provide a top of 75 cents an hour. Restaurants affected are Nohl-gren's, The Meadows, S.P.A. Grill, Bright Spot, Bluebird, and the Salem and Marion Hotel Coffee Shops.

The word "tobacco" is derived from the early West Indian name of the pronged stick, "tobago."
