

Chance of Death In Traffic Greater In Dry Weather

Drivers who think summer road and weather conditions make it safe to speed up are working on a theory not born out by the facts, Secretary of State Newberry warns.

"Summer driving is less hazardous than winter driving, of course," Newberry said. "But what motorists tend to forget is the increased chance of death in any accident, due to higher speeds and heavier traffic."

The Secretary blames much of the state's recent large death toll on high speeds induced by good roads and weather. In a survey of accident figures, he points out that the chance of death in any accident is more than twice as great in clear weather as in rain. Similarly, the chance for death is greater on a dry highway than on wet, snowy, or icy roads.

"A moment's thought will show that this apparently unusual experience is due to slower driving speeds under the adverse conditions," Newberry declared. "The chance for death drops as speed drops. If we gave heavy traffic the same consideration as a driving hazard we give to rain or snow, our summer fatality rate would be cut in half."

BUNYANS AT CENTENNIAL—Roseburg's Paul Bunyans initiated three governors and threw 25 turkeys to the crowd during Oregon City's Centennial celebration Saturday. Upper picture shows Governors C. A. Robins of Idaho, Earl Warren of California and John Hall of Oregon, after having received their Bunyan axes from Secretary of State Earl Newberry, a former Bunyan initiate. The Bunyans in the picture are: (back row) Don Gum, Tom Pargeter and Wayne Crooch; (bottom row) Bill Pyle, L. B. Hicks, Blaise Elaska (honorary member from Eugene), Bud Tosier and Al Mc-Bee. The second picture shows the Bunyan's float, number 42 in the Saturday morning parade, when the turkeys were released, advertising the Northwestern Turkey Show in December. On the float are Crooch, Tosier (with his head obscured by a turkey), Pyle, Gum, Hicks, Pargeter and Mc-Bee. The third picture shows a small boy scrambling for possession of a turkey. Both white, broadbreasted turkeys and bronze turkeys were thrown to the crowd. Each had a tag which read, "Feed me, make me grow, bring me back to the Northwestern Turkey Show Dec. 6 to 10 at Roseburg." Other Bunyans who participated but not appearing in the pictures were Abe Bean, acting Bull of the Woods in place of Jack Josse; Bob Layzell, keeper of the consequences, Bill Millhollen and Sid Fredrickson.

Flood Control Work On Smith River Reported

REEDSPORT—The C. T. Malcom Company of Portland has a bulldozer and drag-line equipment working on various Smith River farms doing flood control work for the U. S. engineers.

A tide box is being installed on the Ronald Wiley ranch to replace one washed out during the freshets of last winter. Other ranches being worked on are those belonging to C. M. Dawson and his son, Mrs. Mabel Kennedy, and the Walter Pyritz ranch.

Smith River farmers are finding, in most cases, that their apple crop is a complete failure. The only apparent reason for this condition were the continued heavy rain during most of the spring.

The first chairs were symbols of authority and hence usually were, in effect, thrones.
