The boys presented the ex-Army chief of staff with an award in the shape of a paperweight. On it was inscribed: "Whose unselfish devotion to the service of his country and his fellowmen has provided the youth of the nation with an inspiring ideal and guiding example of good Americanism."

meeting prior to the "victory dinner" will be Wednesday noon of next week. The necessity of having all contributions in by that time was stressed. May Exceed Goal
"Si" Dillard, business and professional division chairman, called attention to the fact the $300,000 goal was a minimum figure aimed at, but that the committee hoped to raise considerably more to put over the program in the best possible manner and to build the best possible hospital.

Memorial-Medical Gifts Division, Kenneth Ford chairman, $44,720, reported, total $224,115; Major Gifts Division, Henry Jacobson, chairman, $2,675 reported, total $7,150; Business and Professional Division, St. Dillard chairman, $2,080 total (none previously reported); Employee Division, Roy Cummings chairman, $1,295.44 total; Women's Residential Division, Mrs. Benjamin DuFresne, $1,229.40 reported, total $1,673.40; County Division, E. Cash Discrepancy Found In Justice Hartfiel's Records account, were paid in error from the official account. As previously indicated, the Davis report also stated, "cash in the amount of $1,880 was counted in a safety deposit box in the Douglas County State Bank, which according to the Justice was carried under his personal account and not as an official of Douglas County."

"Attention is directed to the provisions of Section 97-506, O.R.A., which relates to the handling of public moneys. It will be noted that for any public official to carry money in a safety deposit box the officer must first obtain permission from the governing authority. The granting of such permission was not located in the County Court proceedings."

The report further stated: "A cash count was attempted on Aug. 18, 1947, but was unsuccessful, due to the judge's refusal to allow a count of bail money on hand. Obviously any attempt to verify the cash position of any officer requires examination of all official funds in his possession in a particular date. A partial count or verification is totally inadequate."

Judge Hartfiel expressed the opinion that as bail did not belong to either the state or county, it was not subject to audit. He agreed that the bail moneys were held by him in his official capacity but believed they were not subject to audit.

Complete counts of the money on hand in Hartfiel's office were made on Aug. 28, 1947, and March 23, 1948, the report states. "Partial detail lists of the items making up the accountability of this office were submitted to Judge Hartfiel at various times during the audit and on Aug. 11, 1948, a complete set of the statements of assets and accountability as contained in this report were delivered to him for examination and comment," the Davis report revealed.

Other Audits Reported
Audit reports were also filed covering Justice Court records of Nina W. Pletzold, Canyonville, South Umpqua District; Clarence Leonard, Drain, Drain District; Ward C. Watson, Sutherlin, Calapooia District; Fred M. Wright, Reedsport, Reedsport District, and T. L. Weaver, former justice of the peace at Canyonville.

In the case of other Justice Courts, Davis recommended that official moneys be deposited in separate bank accounts from the justices' personal accounts. Previously, where justices were paid on a fee system, they deposited court fees, fines and other funds in their personal accounts.

In the case of Fred M. Wright, at Reedsport, the Davis report said: "Considerable difficulty was encountered in reconciling and location of certain of the records and transactions. It is suggested that a more adequate system of filing of cases and recording transactions be adopted." Periods covered by the audits follow:
Nina W. Pletzold, January 6, 1947, to June 30, 1947; Clarence Leonard, July 1, 1946 to June 30, 1947; Ward C. Watson July 1, 1946, to June 30, 1947; T. L. Weaver, July 1, 1946, to Jan. 5, 1947; Fred M. Wright, July 1, 1946, to June 30, 1947, and Thomas C. Hartfiel, May 24, 1946, to March 22, 1948.

ry can do much to prevent it." Wallace Sounds Off
A somewhat different view was expressed last night by Progressive Presidential Candidate Henry A. Wallace. He told a Hollywood group he doubts that this country ever will win friends by showing other people how "well dressed and well fed and competent" Americans are.

Wallace opened a week of intensive campaigning in California by blasting film companies and the Un-American Activities Committee. The house group, he declared, is setting the "Intellectual Standards" for the movie industry.

Such a situation, Wallace said, makes it hard to produce pictures with integrity.
