B.P.W.C. RECEIVE STATEMENT FROM OREGON GOVERNOR HONORING WEEK

"Observance National Business Women's Week" has been designated by the Oregon Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs for the week of October 10-16, in accordance with the program of the National Federation of Clubs. I am glad to join in paying tribute on this occasion to the members of the organization who have contributed much to the advancement of women in the world of business and service. Members of the Oregon Federation have endeavored through the years to follow high standards of business and professional ethics and to aid other women in their activities. That they have been successful in achieving their goal is evident to all who have had the opportunity to observe them in their individual assignments and in their organizational development. Their contribution has not only been to women, but to the business and professional world in general." Signed, John H. Hall, Governor of Oregon.

Harry S. Truman, president of the United States, wrote a letter to Dr. K. Frances Scott, newly elected president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, in which he praised the selection of the organization's slogan, "Use Your Vote in '48" and stating that National Business Women's Week has his hearty endorsement. His letter stated "that you as business women are devoting time and energy to urge a total vote in November reaffirms your patriotism and is in keeping with your history of public service. I congratulate you on your choice of slogan and hope that every citizen of the United States will join you in putting it into practice this year."

The national president of B.P.W.C. reports that politics is the responsibility of every woman as well as man in this country. She states there is a colossal educational job to be done to teach the average person more about political procedure, why each individual's vote is so vital, how he can obtain information about candidates, and to inspire more general interest in the primaries.
