Concert Pianist Career Goal Of Queen Contender

Roslyn Hill, above, is the fifth of six Carnival Queen contenders, one of which will be selected and crowned at the Senior Carnival Thursday night Dec. 2, at the Roseburg Armory, on the basis of points acquired through the selling of admission tickets to the affair.

Ex-Portland "Roz," as Miss Hill is commonly referred to, came to Roseburg a year ago and will leave next fall, but not because she doesn't like it here. The pretty 17-year-old Miss plans to attend the University of Oregon, where she will major in music.

Already a talented pianist, the hazel-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hill said her ambition is to be a concert pianist some day. She played the "Scarlet Dance" by Chaminade in the recent talent contest and elicited enthusiastic applause from the audience.

Miss Hill is a member of the Spanish Club, a Senior High, but finds English her favorite subject. She has brown hair, is 5 ft. 6 inches in height and weighs 115 pounds, net.

Campaign manager Dick Bonebrake makes no bones about Miss Hill's qualifications for the coveted queen role, and is breaking his neck, literally, to see she is elected. West Bros. Jewelry is campaign headquarters for "Roz."
