Reinstatement, Back Pay Ordered for Film Writer

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 21.—(AP)—Lester Cole, film writer suspended for refusing to testify before the un-American Activities Committee, was ordered reinstated yesterday in his $1350-a-week job. U. S. District Judge Leon R. Yankwich also ordered Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio to pay Cole some $75,000 in back salary, and retained jurisdiction in the case to make certain his order is carried out. Cole was one of 10 Hollywood figures who refused to tell the committee headed by Rep. J. Parnell Thomas whether they were or had been Communists. All 10 were suspended by movie studios—attorneys for the 10 called it a blacklisting—until such time as they were cleared of charges. Cole contended that the so-called "morals clause" in his contract did not warrant his suspension, and a jury decided Saturday that his action did not "bring himself into public hatred, contempt, scorn or ridicule" or "tend to

KDND DIAL-LOG

"Does the present timber program of the United States Bureau of Land Management best serve the interests of Douglas County?" Hear this question discussed tonight at 7 on the "Roseburg Junior Chamber of Commerce Forum."

"The Case of the Crooked Corpse" will be dramatized on tonight's "Adventures of the Thin Man" series—starring Les Tremayne and Claudia Morgan as Nick and Nora Charles. At 8, hear Alan Ladd in "Box Thirteen." Two special Christmas programs are slated for tomorrow evening—7:30 to 8 p. m.—It's "The Littlest Angel," with Loretta Young narrating a story you'll long remember. At 8:45—John Nesbitt will tell the story of "The Juggler of Our Lady" . . . another Christmas tale not to be missed! Don't forget "What's the Name of That Song?" tomorrow night at 7, and "Boston Blackie" at 8.

Two trucks, carrying 900 Christmas packages, arrived at the Don Lee Studios in Hollywood, increasing to 7,000 the gifts addressed to "Santa Claus Hemingway," which the famous network commentator will distribute to Army, Navy and Marine hospitals St. Nicholas Day. The almost immediate flow of packages to the studio after Hemingway made his appeal, has astonished old-time network mailroom clerks, as the first gift came in less than 24 hours after Hemingway made the first announcement on his two shows (7 a. m. and 3:15 p. m. Monday through Saturday).

OREGON RALLY TO BE HELD IN HOLLYWOOD: KHJ studios at 1313 North Vine Street will be the scene of an Oregon rally Jan. 4, when a trainload of Cotton Bowl rooters arrives there for a visit to the Hollywood "Ladies First" radio show before continuing to Portland.

Spotted the Christmas Tree this morning on Cass Street . . . A beauty, isn't it? Ought to increase everyone's Christmas spirit a thousandfold! Don't care if you HAVE finished your Christmas shopping . . . get downtown and look at it!

Collision of Buses In Utah Takes 13 Lives

TOOELE, Utah, Dec. 20.—(AP)—Investigations into the Burlington Trailways bus crash Saturday that claimed 13 lives continued today. Thirty-four military personnel, enroute home for Christmas, were aboard the eastbound bus which collided with a westbound bus on fog-shrouded U. S. Highway 40, about 63 miles west of Salt Lake City. Both vehicles were swept by flames and survivors escaped through smashed windows.

Blind Dog Warns Blind Mistress of House Fire

GLOUCESTER, N. J., Dec. 20.—(AP)—The whining of a blind dog yesterday warned the animal's blind mistress that her house was on fire. Mrs. Anna McGlinchey, 60, was awakened by the whining of her pet, "Yippie," and summoned help after making her way to a bedroom window. A passerby helped Mrs. McGlinchey downstairs and then called firemen who confined the blaze to the dining room.
