MARY-MARTHA CLUB HAS LARGE CHRISTMAS PARTY AT SUTHERLIN

The women of Mary-Martha Club of the Sutherlin Christian Church entertained Friday afternoon with a program and silver tea with the offering to be used for benevolent purposes.

The program was held in the West-room of the church, which was decorated in the Christmas motif. The Christ-Child and Manger "Scene" was depicted, signifying the Christian part. The piano was garlanded with ropes of Christmas tinsel, and on the top was a tiny lighted Christmas tree, surrounded by small angel candles. On the opposite side of the room was a miniature fireplace complete to the imitation fire and little stockings, ready for Santa.

The program opened with group singing. Mrs. Earl Reed read the Christmas Story from the second Chapter of Luke, while Mrs. Bill Weber played softly on the steel guitar. Mrs. Edna Longbrake sang a solo, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," followed by the prayer by Mrs. Ada Abeene.

"O Little Town of Bethlehem," was sung by the group, and Mrs. Harry Barnes gave a reading, "The Black Madonna." Four-year old Gaylen Kleinfeldt, sang a solo, "Away in a Manger."

The church has sponsored the "Pack a Towel" movement, for needy persons in Europe. This particular one being for twelve to twenty year old boys and girls in displaced persons camp.

Mrs. Kay Kleinfeldt dedicated these gifts with a Scripture reading and prayer.

Holiday Season Workers Problem In Social Security

During the Christmas season, employers face the problem of obtaining social security account numbers from temporary workers. The problem is aggravated in this particular season as many of the persons hired are students or others who are regularly employed.

Paul F. Johnson, manager of the Social Security Administration at Eugene, Oregon, offers the following suggestions for employers to minimize this difficulty and to insure accurate reporting:

1. Insist on seeing the social security account number card of the prospective employee.
2. Make sure a permanent record is made of the name and account number as they appear on the card.
3. If the applicant is hired and does not produce a social security account number card before the first pay day, have him complete an application for an account number. The application should be forwarded by the employer to the nearest office of the Social Security Administration with the request that the employer be notified of the account number assigned.

A representative of the Eugene office will be at the Oregon State Employment Service in Roseburg Tuesday, Dec. 21, between the hours of 8:30 a. m. and noon. Any one desiring information concerning the Social Security Act are urged to contact him during that time.
