New Rates Fixed On Gift Parcels for Europe

Effective on Dec. 28, 1948, a new schedule of rates was placed in effect by the Post Office Department on gift parcels to England and certain countries of Europe, reports Postmaster L. L. Wimberly.

For some time the rate on gift parcels to England, Northern Ireland and Italy has been six cents per pound. There now has been added the American and British zones of western Germany to this six-cent rate. The rate for the American and British zones of Berlin is now nine cents per pound. The French zone of western Germany is ten cents per pound while the French zone of Berlin is 13 cents. In all of the Soviet zones of Germany the rate is 17 cents per pound.

All parcels must be very well packed and have customs tags attached showing the list of articles enclosed and the value.

ICE FLOW—Cold weather and freezing conditions have brought this unusual picture of floating ice slush in the South Umpqua River. The above picture was taken at the west end of Douglas Street looking across the river toward Mercy Hospital. An increasing amount of ice in the river has been reported each day with the continued low temperatures ranging from an official 11 to 13 degrees to as low as five degrees in outlying valley points.

Broken Leg Lucky For Girl; Defect In Knee Remedied

ALBANY, Calif., Jan. 13.—(AP)—When six-year-old Mary Ann McMahon fell off her tricycle and broke her leg, she didn't know what a lucky break that was.

In setting the leg, a surgeon also straightened out a knee defect the child had since birth.

Now her father, Dr. Robert T. McMahon, city health officer, is considering having Mary Ann's other leg broken surgically to straighten that knee.

Mary Ann was born with no fibulas in her legs. A fibula is the second and smaller of the two long bones of the lower leg. She had to wear cumbersome casts year after year; doctors had felt she could never walk without them.

But then came the accident. A San Francisco surgeon, setting the leg, saw that if he twisted it slightly the single bone might better bear the child's weight. It worked. Mary Ann walks much better, and a similar operation may be performed on the other knee.

financial stick at the members' December ruling which barred ordinary soldiers from entering the club.

The ruling caused quite a hubbub. Maj. Gen. George Hays, deputy theater commander, called the board on the carpet. He pointed out the Army subsidizes the club and said there could be no discrimination where U. S. government funds were concerned—or else.

Five hundred members met this week and were told they would either have to put up an additional $175,000 of their own money in the next year or pull down the "restricted clientele" sign. They decided to pull down the restriction.

Wealthy Rancher Slated To Die for Murder

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 13.—(AP)—Wealthy John Wallace, Meriwether County dairyman, must die for the slaying of William H. Turner in Coweta County.

The Georgia Supreme Court has unanimously upheld the death sentence given Wallace for the murder of Turner, one-time tenant farmer on the Wallace plantation.

Wallace said he accidentally shot Turner in an effort to "bluff him into telling where his stolen cows were."

Three other defendants, Herring Sivell, Tom Strickland, and Henry Mobley, agreed to accept life sentences, which they are now serving.

Turner was released from jail April 29 for lack of evidence on a cow-stealing charge brought by Wallace. His partially destroyed body was found two weeks later.

Christian Education Program Set at Church

Christian Education Sunday, Jan. 16, will be observed at the First Christian Church of Roseburg with a special talent team from Northwest Christian College, Eugene, to be in charge of the evening service at 7:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knox will direct the singing and worship service. Charles is a brother of the minister, the Rev. Kenneth Knox, and is ministering to the church at Fall City. Harold Hanson, who ministers to the church at Holley, will bring the message.

A special offering will be taken for Christian Education and will be given to Northwest Christian

Church Plans Video Shows To Lure Young From Bars

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(AP)—The New York First Presbyterian Church yesterday came up with this answer to the problem of keeping young people out of neighborhood bars: A "television center."

A spokesman for the church said it had bought a television receiver and set aside a room for a weekday schedule of video shows for younger groups.

Mrs. Kenneth Chamberlain, in charge of the project, said that television sets in surrounding bars seemed a strong attraction to the younger generation. She added,

"Instead of youngsters going to a bar to see a picture, we thought it was something that the church could do."

They will be showing natural color pictures taken in these countries and also while they traveled through Guatemala and Mexico. They also have a display of hand-work and curios from these countries to show.

The public is invited to this service.

Jailed Suspect Believed Slayer Of 'Black Dahlia'

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Police are convinced that a mystery man mentioned by bellhop Leslie Dillon, 27, in connection with the "Black Dahlia" slaying is Dillon himself, deputy chief Williams Bradley said today. Dillon is booked on suspicion of murder in the slaying of Elizabeth Short, 22, a waitress known as the "Black Dahlia" because of her fondness for sheer black clothing. Her sadistically mutilated body was found in a vacant lot Jan. 15, 1947.

Dillon insists he never knew Miss Short, and told police he learned details of the crime from a friend, who he said knew the girl in San Diego.

Bradley said police yesterday checked several addresses given by Dillon where, he said, they might find the friend. In each instance, Bradley said, witnesses identified photographs of Dillon as being the friend he named.

Some 50 or more "confessions" have been made in the killing—all later disproved.

Mails Held Because New Postage Rates Ignored

Many people appear to have missed the publicity on new postage rates and their mail is being delayed because of underpayment of postage, according to Postmaster L. L. Wimberly.

With the exception of first class mails and second class newspapers, all domestic rates have increased. Mail most frequently found short of proper postage are airmail letters, which now require six cents per ounce and third class advertising and greeting cards, which now require two cents for a minimum instead of 13 cents.

There is a common error all the time in the mailing of birth notices, which are first class and require three cents each, whether sealed or not.
