Body of Missing Beauty School Student Found

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 17—(AP)—A girl's nude frozen body found in a shallow grave in an outlying metropolitan park was identified last night as that of a 17-year-old beauty school student who has been missing for two months.

The young student, Noreen McNicholas, disappeared after leaving home Nov. 5 to attend beauty school classes. She never arrived.

The body was covered with moss and dirt at a spot about 200 yards from the place where the girl's clothing was found last Tuesday. Her purse had been found earlier about 200 feet from the grave.

Coroner Paul Mellinger said marks indicated the girl was probably strangled. He was unable to say yet whether she had been raped.

No Arrests Made In Alleged Rape On S.P. Train

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17 — (AP) — The case of the reported rape in lower berth five of the Southern Pacific's West Coast Limited was left in the hands of railroad and Oregon investigators today.

Two sailors questioned for seven and a half hours in Los Angeles following a 1,000-mile, two-state, inquiry on the train were released to proceed to their station in San Diego. Authorities said no one else was in custody.

Mrs. Opal Holmes, 35-year-old mother of two sons, who reported the assault to the train crew, then to Dist. Atty. Dayton Van Vactor of Klamath Falls, Ore., was in seclusion with relatives in the Los Angeles area. They told reporters she would make no statement.

Van Vactor said he had nothing so far to justify arrests and would issue no warrants. He planned to turn all evidence compiled to the prosecutor of Lane County, Ore., where the alleged assault occurred.

Mrs. Holmes was unable to identify her assailant, said J. J. Finneran, Southern Pacific division special agent here.

Mrs. Holmes has been living in North Richland, Wash., with her husband, Chester W., an electrician at the Hanford atomic plant. She was en route to Riverside, Calif.

She told Klamath Falls authorities, where the train was held four and a half hours Saturday, that someone crept into her berth while the train was near Oakridge, Ore. She said she didn't awaken at once but when she realized she was being forcibly attacked she screamed. She was aware of a man fleeing through the aisle, ripping berth curtains as he went. It was 2:15 a. m. Saturday.

Van Vactor and railroad special agents boarded the train at Klamath Falls. There were 300 passengers. All those who might have knowledge of the assault were queried.
