

Safety Winter Driving Rules Are Listed by Assn.

Severe winter driving conditions in virtually all parts of the state necessitate the exercise of great care and the use of sound winter driving techniques, the Oregon State Motor Association said today.

Pointing to the fact that traffic accidents increase at rates of from 24 to 33 per cent during ice and snow months, the motor association urged Oregon drivers to observe these experience-tested rules of safe driving on ice and snow:

1. Carry chains and use them in snow and on ice. (But remember that chains will not always prevent skidding, especially on glare ice and in wet packed snow that packs around the wheels.)
2. Avoid sudden stops and "jackrabbits" starts. Use of the brakes nearly always will start a skid on packed snow or ice.
3. In starting, use the second gear on level ground to avoid skids sometimes caused by applying too much power to the rear wheels.
4. Reduce speed. Speeds in excess of 25 miles an hour may cause skids on ice or on packed snow that has frozen.
5. In stopping on ice or packed snow, use the brake with an intermittent application, releasing it before a skid starts. A pumping action is advisable from low speeds for quicker stops.
6. Always get the feel of the road surface by trying it out in a safe place.
7. Keep windshield and windows clear of frost and fog.

Speech Defects Clinic Topic of McCall's Talk cases, where the voice has an abnormal condition or quality. Clinics' Value Demonstrated

Dr. McCall cited numerous examples of defective speech cases which have been helped or cured in his clinics. He told of one child of almost five, whose father was an engineer, his mother a scholar of the classics. The parents did not provide a normal environment for the child and gave him no stimulus for speech. Under guidance of the clinic, the child soon learned to talk.

Dr. McCall also told of a doctor who lost the power of speech as result of injuries in an automobile accident. Called to his home, Dr. McCall read passages to him from a medical volume which the doctor understood very well. He had not lost his intelligence, but he had to learn to speak again with use of first grade primers.

Following Dr. McCall's address, L. J. Fullerton, retiring president of the Chamber of Commerce, turned the program over to his successor, John D. Todd. Todd called for the cooperation of members during the coming year.

"All of us have many responsibilities — families, homes, churches, lodges," he said. "But if we give a little time to the Chamber of Commerce, it will add weight to the lever that keeps Roseburg on the march."

Paralyzed Vet Eligible For Grants To Acquire Home

World War I or other veterans of war or peacetime service since April 21, 1898, who have permanent total service-connected disabilities due to a spinal cord injury or disease, may now qualify for a federal grant through the Veterans Administration to acquire a home suitable for wheel chair living. The spinal cord disease or injury must have resulted in paralysis of the legs and lower part of the body.

Eligible veterans will receive a federal grant of not more than 50 percent of the cost of the home or a maximum of $10,000 with which to buy or build a new home, or to remodel an existing home to meet their special requirements.

The grant may also be used to pay off the indebtedness on a special home already acquired by an eligible veteran. Plans and specifications for suitable homes will be provided free of charge by the VA.

Applications or further information about the federal grant may be obtained from the nearest VA office.

Court Action Warning Given Landlords in Revolt of America, said it plans a conference in Washington Feb. 14 to oppose extension of rent control.

Senator Myers (D.-Pa.) is author of a bill to continue rent controls 27 months beyond March 31, expiration date of the present law. At Washington yesterday, Myers called the plan of Tulsa landlords to take their rental properties off the market "a revolt against ordinary decency."

Sensors Cain (R.-Wash.) and Robertson (D.-Va.) also criticized the proposal to evict from 600 to 1,000 Tulsa tenants in protest against pending legislation to extend and strengthen rent controls.

Among other things, Myers' measure would restore to the federal government the power to regulate evictions. He told a reporter the action of Tulsa landlords will assure adoption of that provision.

Cain, lukewarm about extending controls in any form, said in an interview:

"The thing for them to do is to fight out the battle with their government and abide by the rules laid down by Congress. It is not proper for them to threaten the government."

Both Cain and Robertson are members of the Senate Banking Committee which will consider proposals to extend rent controls up to 27 months.

DENVER, Jan. 27 — (AP) — The president of the Denver Property Owners Association said yesterday more than 6,000 tenants will be evicted if federal rent control is extended beyond March 31.

James E. Renner said landlords have no quarrel with tenants but property owners would be unable to "survive" under further rent ceilings.

Temperatures were around normal in California, and in the Pacific northwest there was a pouring drizzle in Northern Oregon and light snow in Eastern Oregon and Eastern Washington.

Most of the south had mild temperatures.

measure is designed to meet the shelter needs of families whose incomes are too high to qualify them for public housing, and too low to afford the private housing now available.

Senator Taft is one of the sponsors of the Senate Republican bill. He estimated at a news conference yesterday that the overall Senate GOP program would be less than half as expensive as the administration program.

Senator Ellender (La.), chief sponsor of the Democratic measure, has calculated the total cost of that plan at around $18,000,000 over 40 years. Most of that would go for public housing.
