Education Without Segregation Not Likely To Gain Congress Approval

By JAMES THRASHER

An equal opportunity for Americans to get a decent education is a fundamental concept of our democracy. And it seems too bad to have to say anything cynical about a proposal that apparently would guarantee that opportunity. Yet it is difficult to feel much disappointment in the Senate's rejection of an amendment which would withhold federal funds for education from states that practice segregation in their schools.

tion automatically kills these federal aid measures. But the circumstances offer any opponents of such aid a golden opportunity. Their arguments are plausible, high-minded and in the best American tradition. No one can question their sincerity without

But this year most of the Sen-

Situation Getting Worse

There have been such amendments in the past to several bills for federal aid to both education and housing. When they have been adopted, the bills have invariably falled. But the latest amendment, to the pending education bill, was offered by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, and was turned down.

Because some states do practice.

Because some states do practice segregation, like it or not, these amendments make it necessary to ask a blunt question: Are they offered to make the bills more fair and democratic, or are they offered in order to ensure their defeat? segregation, like it or not, these amendments make it necessary to ask a blunt question. Are they offered to make the bills more fair and democratic, or are they offered in order to ensure their defeat?

Party Split

Whatever the motive, the practical result has always been the same. Insistence on non-segregation, which is against their party's professed principles, or of splitting their party vote and siding with the GOP against the Southern Democratic wing.

If segregation ever is abolished, its end almost certainly will come only after a long, slow, disputed process of social and economic change. In the meantime, an educational situation which is bad development of the North Atlantic Treaty, now awaiting Senate ratification, as a means of bolstering the world organization.

Of America's role in the U. S., Mr. Truman said: "We have taken the lead in many fields of international relations. We can be proud of what we have done."

His report, including a letter from Secretary of State Acheson, covered the year 1948 and reflected the bitter political conflicts which divided Russia and the west during that 12 months.

Acheson declared that both "hope and disappointment" marked American participation in the U. N.

Mr. Truman commented:

Millions of American children are getting poor schooling or no schooling at all simply because the level of teachers' pay in their states is too low to attract competent people to the profession.

Prophetic Sermons On Evangelist's Agenda

Series of prophetic sermons will be delivered by Evangelist Harry M. Strachan of Rochester, N. Y., who, with Mrs. Strachan, will be at the Church of the Open Bible, Pine and Floed Sts., from Tues-day, May 17, through Sunday, May 29.

day, May 17, through Sunday, May 29.

Service will be held every night except Monday and Saturday. Week-night services will be at 7:45, Sunday services at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Some of the sermon topics are announced as follows: "Can the World Survive Atomic War?" "Do Present Signs Signify Christ's Return?" "The Jew, God's Dispensational Time Piece," and "The Red (Communist) Menace."

The Strachans are originally from Scotland, Mr. Strachan has had a notable ministry in divine healing and will be praying for the sick, said the Rev. DeLoss Crook, pastor of the Church of the Open Bible.

A federal education bill without a non-egregation clause may be a compromise. But as between better education in the segrega-tion states and no help at all, the choice seems clear.
