

RAMBLINGS . . . BY PAUL JENKINS

MRS. JOE SENDELBACH and her young son, Bob, pose proudly beside the ornate outdoor fireplace Bob's dad, Joe Sendelbach, is completing at the Sendelbach lodge at Idlewild.

Note the shagrock-appearing affair suspended over the grate; it's made of horseshoes and will be used to hang certain cooking utensils on.

"Pretty good job for a beginner at masonry, eh?" Joe questioned or, rather, stated. "Thing I like about Joe is his becoming modesty . . . Well, he is pretty darned clever."

The river road to Glide (speaking of its surface) is a study in contrasts. It is being repaired—surfaced, etc., through the city limits and for a mile or so beyond; then for about 10 miles, until it reaches Lester Blakeley's, it is in excellent condition. From there to Rock Creek, six or seven miles beyond Glide, it is badly broken and full of chucks. I was afraid even to ask what it might be like above Rock Creek.

The "dips" between hills are particularly bad and I'll bet this burns the log haulers, who need to barrel down these pitches at a pretty lively gait in order to help them more easily to climb the next rise.

Sheep dot the open, verdant hillsides. Springtime and lambs suggest carefree happiness; but the presence of occasional low circling buzzards indicates that even lambs have their troubles.

Russia Trying Subtly To Revive Berlin Blockade

BERLIN, May 19 — (AP)—American officials charged Wednesday that Russia is seeking to reimpose a "subtle blockade" of Berlin.

C. A. Dix, American Military Government transport expert, hurriedly left here by car to investigate why 130 West German trucks are now held at Helmstedt on the Soviet Zone frontier.

Official reports said the frontier guards were demanding suddenly that truckers present written permits from the Soviet-appointed East German Economic Commission for entry of all cargoes, whether consigned to West Berlin or East Zonal points.

The Russians also claim the right to control all exports from West Berlin, although the blockade was lifted officially May 12. This claim has blocked rail and truck shipments westward.

The Soviet claims—if accepted by the Western Allies—would enable the Russian military administration to control the volume and character of all West Berlin's land-borne commerce with Western Germany.

A veteran American officer commented: "This is the 'subtle blockade' beginning all over again, designed to reduce the Allies in Berlin to the status of military missions dependent on Russians for all material goods."

The Soviet frontier ban on cargoes lacking the East German Economic Commission's prior approval was instituted at Helmstedt Tuesday night.

It came in the midst of four-power talks in Berlin attempting to straighten out disputes over trade and communications between East and West Germany.

The pig was used as a scavenger before it was used as food.

U. N. Refuses To Revoke Diplomatic Ban On Spain

NEW YORK, May 18 — (AP)—The United Nations' ban on top diplomatic representation in Franco Spain remains in force.

The U. N. general assembly voted 26 to 15 Monday in favor of returning envoys withdrawn from Madrid in 1946 as a gesture of disapproval against Generalissimo Franco.

But the bitterly debated move failed because it was four votes short of the two-thirds majority need for Assembly approval. Sixteen nations—including the United States, Britain and France abstained from voting, although American and British delegates spoke strongly against the Franco regime.

At the same time the Assembly rejected by a top-heavy margin a Slav block proposal to stop military and economic restrictions on Spain. The vote was six to 40 on a Polish resolution advising U. N. members to stop arms shipments to Spain and re-

Communist Youth Claims U. S. Loyalty In Atom Job

By JACK RUTLEDGE
WASHINGTON, May 19 — (AP)—A Communist student of physics told Congressmen Wednesday that they would be endangering "the whole concept of academic freedom" if they took his government scholarship away from him.

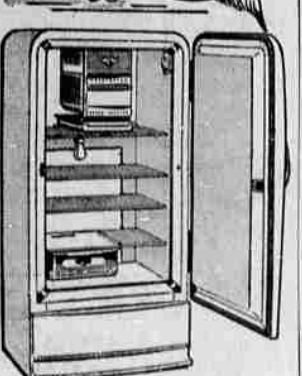

The witness, Hans Freistadt, Austrian-born student at the University of North Carolina, testified before the joint Senate-House Committee on Atomic Energy. The Committee is investigating the Atomic Energy Commission's multi-million dollar scientific education program.

Freistadt said if his scholarship is withdrawn, as several lawmakers have demanded, the same thing could happen later in the case of a "militant New Dealer, a Progressive, or even a Republican."

He admitted freely that he belongs to the Communist party. But he said he wasn't a foreign agent, and that if later he were given access to secret atomic information "I would not disclose such data to unauthorized persons."

The actress Eleanora Duse played Juliet when she was only 14 years old.
