

LANDMARK RAZED—The Emma Howard home on South Main St. is pictured here in the process of being razed to make way for a new eye, ear, nose, throat and dental clinic and apartment house, which Dr. C. D. Parkinson will erect this summer. The old home, at least 60 years old, served as the Howard residence until Mrs. Howard passed away recently. Dr. Parkinson, who came here last September from Eugene, said three main offices will occupy a 75 by 40-foot downstairs area, and the building will be extended into a horseshoe, opening to the south with a lawn in the center. Eleven bachelor apartments, one single bedroom apartment and one three-bedroom apartment will occupy the remaining ground level portion and the second story of the building. Construction will start probably in July and the building will be completed about Christmas, said Dr. Parkinson. (Picture by Paul Jenkins.)

Men, Politics, Conventions Topics Of Toastmistresses; Officers Named

Men and conventions were topics offered Toastmistresses in five minute addresses by Mrs. Dallen Jones and Mrs. Benjamin O. DuFresne, when "Women and Politics" were discussed by the entire group and an election of officers highlighted the meeting of Toastmistresses Tuesday night at the Dallen Jones home.

Newly elected Toastmistress officers were Mrs. Herman Matloff, president; Mrs. Opal Tuttle, vice president; Mrs. Daniel Dimick, secretary and Miss Barbara Weisz, treasurer.

Men may be divided into five parts, according to Mrs. Jones. They have brains which may be utilized to teach a woman to play cribbage. When she has learned to beat him, he becomes angry.

They have bodies, which may be fat, adorned with a T-shirt or a three-day facial beard, but he still thinks he's "just it," Mrs. Jones lamented.

Men have hearts. He gives generously to charity or other good causes, but hits the ceiling when his wife brings home that "cute little hat that was a bargain at $19.89."

Brain, heart and body equal the fourth part, technique, Mrs. Jones averred. "When he was little, he stood on his head and gave candy to his girl... now his head is too soft to stand on, so he rests it on the woman's shoulder!"

Finally, "men are always interested" in sex, Mrs. Jones affirmed.

Any resemblance these five points may have to man," Mrs. Jones concluded, "is purely coincidental."

Convention Told
Mrs. DuFresne told of attending an American Federation of Women's Clubs convention in Portland, of which organization she was Roseburg chapter, Junior Women's Club, president in 1948-49.

A reception was held in the Benson Hotel for all members. Delegates came from the several states and as far away as the Philippines. A male chorus from Woodburn State Training School entertained the group, lectures and meetings were well attended and General Marshall flew in from Washington, D. C., "because he felt that women had an important part in government," Mrs. DuFresne said. Eric Johnson and George Murphy, movie star, also were present.

Mrs. Daniel Dimick, toastmistress, introduced both Mrs. Jones and Mrs. DuFresne.

Table topics chairman, Mrs. Tuttle, selected the subject for one-minute speeches. The speakers indicated the women would be as efficient and qualified as men in politics, but that "they should be interested and educated rather than trade on their sex."

Some felt that women would find politics "a rough road."

Mrs. Matloff was grammarian, Miss Billie Ward critic and Mrs. Edward Tauscher evaluator.

The next meeting of Toastmistresses will be held at Carl's Haven, 7 p. m., Tuesday, June 14. Newly elected officers will be installed at that time.

Health Office Warns On Eating Sea Foods

PORTLAND, May 26.—(AP)—The State Health officer has issued his annual warning to vacationers not to eat mussels or uncleaned clams from the beaches.

Dr. Harold M. Erickson said the mussels and the black portions of clams may contain a strong poison, similar to strychnine, during the summer months. A sea organism, which washes close to shore during the summer and which is eaten by the clams, is the cause.

The State Board of Health prohibits sale and distribution of mussels and uncleaned clams from May 1 to October 31.

Springfield School Group Visits R. H. S.

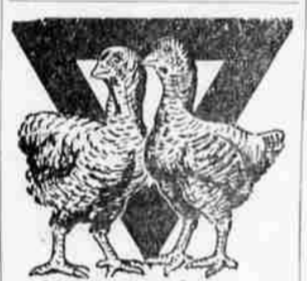

E. H. Silke, superintendent of schools at Springfield, accompanied a group of Springfield Union High student body officers to Roseburg Wednesday. They visited the High School and studied student policies here.

Silke said he expects to have over 4,000 students in the combined Grade and Union High Schools next year. All but two school districts in the Union High system have now joined the Springfield grade school district, and when these two are consolidated, the Union High and Grade districts will be combined, he said.

Accused In Tax Suit Ill On Stand

TACOMA, May 26.—(AP)—Leslie L. Francis, Spokane business man charged with $61,000 income tax evasion, was taken ill and appeared in a state of near collapse on the witness stand Wednesday. It forced a recess of his Federal Court trial.

Francis had been subjected to a grueling cross-examination by Asst. U. S. Dist. Atty. Harry Sager for an hour-and-a-half before he became ill. Sager had just completed his sharp questioning, which had frequently left the witness groping for words and explanations, when Francis slumped forward and appeared in a state of near faint.

After several minutes of head-holding and inquiry by Federal Judge Charles H. Leavy as to whether he could go on, court was recessed for two hours.
