Wall St. Takes Ribbing In Bond Club Burlesque

In Chicago in a serious disagreement over management policies. The Bawl Street Journal looks exactly like the Wall Street Journal, advertisements are all, but the text is different. One headline: "Balls Call For Return To Independence." The weather: "Dewey Mist." Another ad: "Everyone Flies—United To Reno—United Air Lines." Every Wall Street situation is ribbed in the advertisements and stories. Brokers are starving to death, they would have you believe, with the present low volume of stock market business. So the New York Stock Exchange started a "stop the market" program similar to a familiar radio show. The winner, from Nevada, was awarded fifty pairs of sandals with heels, 40 Tucker automobiles, and the shirt he lost in the 1929 market crash.

'Must' For Congress His Whole Program—Truman

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—President Truman repeated today that any "must" list for Congress should include his whole program. Asked if he and party leaders have added any more "must" to the legislative agenda, the president replied the must list includes the recommendations in his three main messages on the state of union, the budget and economic program. When a reporter said Congress is showing no sign of carrying out most of his program, the president admonished that no such conclusion can be reached until Congress has finished its work.

Leukemia Claims Child Who Did Not Know Her Malady Was Not Curable

TUCSON, Ariz., June 2.—(AP)—A little girl for whom a special edition of a newspaper was published died Wednesday of leukemia. Barbara Willis, 13, was one of the few people in Tucson who didn't know she was dying weeks ago. Late in April Barbara developed a craving for watermelon, then out of season. The child's predicament appeared in the local papers. The stories said she would die in a short time. Barbara had read of other children developing a great desire for watermelon shortly before they died of the blood disease. When the Arizona Daily Star, in which an appeal was made for watermelon, was kept from her she said her mother, "I'm going to die. I've got the bad kind of leukemia."

Chinook Salmon Migration Ahead

Migration of spring Chinook salmon continues ahead of last year but behind the 1947 run. Ross Newcomb, field biologist for the State Game Department, and in charge of the Umpqua River study, reports that the count at the Winchester station shows the Chinook run to be critically depleted, although the count through May 31 is ahead of the same period for the years 1946 and 1948. A larger run was counted in 1947.

As the spring Chinook salmon has a five-year life cycle, another year's migration must be counted to obtain a full record, after which the study will be devoted to a comparison of return migrations. The first comparative count will not be available until the spring of 1951 when it will be possible to ascertain whether there is a gain or loss from the small run of 1946.

Counters at the Winchester station have tallied 1,568 adult Chinooks up to June 1, and have counted 383 Chinook jack salmon. The winter steelhead count stands at 9,225. Several spring steelhead have been seen at the counting station, Newcomb reports.

Angling season for Chinook salmon ended May 31. Salmon fishing, except in tidewater, will now be prohibited until September 1. Fishing for salmon in tidewater, below the highway bridge at Reedsport, remains open.

Comparative figures on salmon and steelhead migration for the period through May 31 are reported by Newcomb as follows:

	1946	1947	1948	1949
Adult Salmon	1342	2335	1200	1066
Jack Salmon	109	502	134	383
Winter Steelhead	12.3	20.1	10.0	19.6
Steelhead	6,563	11,220	9,700	9,225

Roseburg Tennis Players Fail In State Finals

Roseburg tennis players, who placed high in district play, failed in the Oregon High School boys' tennis finals in the state meet at Portland Wednesday.

Dick Jacobson, Roseburg, was defeated, 6-4, by Jerry Doyle of Central Catholic, Portland, in the boys' singles, while Gordon Conley and Norman Queen, Roseburg, lost out, 6-2, 6-2, to Bob Kindlev and Ron Carlson of Grant High, Portland.

Portland players took most of the contests yesterday, but upstarters still are in the running in two other divisions. In yesterday's opening play, the field was narrowed to assure the boys' singles title to Bill Rose of Portland's Jefferson, Pete Carter of Grant or Jerry Doyle of Central Catholic.

In girls' singles, Mary Lou Ratcliff and Patsy Heard of Grant and Shirley Kahler of Dallas are the remaining contenders. Miss Heard suffered a shoulder injury and may not be able to continue.

Upstarters who got on the court in girls' doubles yesterday failed to survive the two opening rounds, but in boys' doubles the Dallas team of Darrell Reed and Myrl Thieses came through with two wins.

Pension For Vets Finds No Favor With Senators

600,000 over the next 50 years. Senate Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois told a reporter the pension measure is not on the Senate's legislative schedule now. At best the additional pension costs appeared to collide with any overall economy drive aimed at avoiding higher federal taxes or government deficits.

The pension bill would assume that any veteran is totally and permanently disabled at 65 years. That would remove a present standard which denies a pension to the 65-year-old veteran who can work half a day, or earn half a normal day's pay.

When this portion is completed there would remain the section from Lone Rock to Rock Creek, a distance of 4.5 miles, for final construction.

Russian Yielding On Berlin Issue Hinted

PARIS, June 2.—(AP)—The Western Powers and Russia still were at odds today over reviving the four-power Kommandatura for Berlin, though agreed in principle that the divided city should be united under a single governing body. Yesterday they split on a Western proposal to limit exercise of the veto power in the four-power body. Today the Western ministers weighed a vague Soviet hint that the Russians might agree to trim the Kommandatura's area of authority.
