This orchard is southwest of Sutherlin; in addition Mr. Helweg owns 37 acres in pears east of town and 89 acres more at Winston, south of Roseburg.

Vets' Insurance Claims Quickly Settled By VA

Approximately one-half of the claims for G.I. insurance death benefits are now being settled in less than 10 days after receipt of records in the Veterans Administration district office in Seattle, the VA reports.

Many of the balance are paid in less than 30 days from receipt of claim, with only the more complicated cases running for a longer period.

The VA pointed out that quick payment of National Service Life Insurance benefits is materially hastened when insured veterans have designated beneficiaries and instructed the VA on the mode of settlement desired.

All veterans, the VA said, should make certain that the VA has complete up-to-date information on beneficiaries and choice of settlement in their insurance files, which for veterans in the Pacific Northwest are in the VA district office, in Seattle.

In event of death of a veteran carrying G.I. insurance, the family should notify the VA immediately by calling at the nearest VA office or writing the VA District Office, Exchange Building, Seattle.

Democracies' Offensive Against Reds Lessens Peril Of 3rd World War

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

President Truman says he believes "we are closer to world peace now than at any time in the past three years."

Former British prime minister Winston Churchill declares he has the growing hope "That we may avert forever the horrible vision of a third world war."

What justification is there for such optimism in view of the continued clashes between the Russians and the Western Democracies in Europe, and the sweeping victories of the Moscow-inspired Communists in China? Has the gift of prophesy deserted these two distinguished statesmen?

I don't believe either of them has lost his cunning. There are plenty of signs that the dangers of world war have receded greatly in recent weeks. The chief reason is that the Communist drive westward across Europe has been stopped by the power of the Democracies' counter-offensive. Not only has it been stopped but it has very largely spent its force and is without the sinews for recovery.

So much for Europe, which has represented the greatest immediate threat to the Western World. But what of China, which houses close to a quarter of the world's population and is possessed of vast natural resources? Is there no danger in that situation?

China certainly does present grave dangers, but at this stage they are more ideological than military. It is quite in the cards that Russia, even though dominating that vast country politically, would find it a white elephant. This is so because China, while potentially a great power, is backward and undeveloped. From the military aspect she not only wouldn't be any great asset to Russia, but on the contrary would involve heavy expenditures for development. Progress calls for mountainous efforts and great sums of money.

Putting China on her feet isn't a matter of years. It involves decades. So at this juncture neither Europe nor the Orient hold threats of another world war in anything like the near future. Perhaps as Churchill says, it may be averted forever.

But this doesn't mean the struggle between Communism and Democracy is drawing to a close. It will continue, but along ideological lines rather than as a "shooting war"—at least so long as the Allies keep themselves militarily strong as a preventive. It therefore remains to be seen whether the Democracies are as good with ideas as they are with guns. For the conflict will be won or lost with ideas.

Well, you probably guessed it—Al Davenport won the salmon derby with his big 49 1/2-lb. Chinook. Second prize went to Stewart Taylor, who caught a 35-pounder, and third prize to Mountain Roundtree for one weighing 30 lbs.

Now that the salmon season is over and the municipal swimming pool is open, you'll be thinking more and more of swimming togs and accessories. Go to J. V. SPORTING

For the very little tots, you'll want a plastic wading pool for your own back yard. June is the month of brides, and brides always love to get nice dinnerware. Here is a brand new one, at the Housewares Department of UMPQUA VALLEY HARDWARE. It's Mailbu Modern, by Capistrano pottery, and comes in the rich colors especially appropriate for modern homes—grey, maroon, emerald and chartreuse. Get your darling a 20-piece starter set to serve four, and she can add to it from open stock. The dinner plates are a generous 10 1/2 inches in diameter, and the sugar and creamer set is worked out in a clear squatty design. Salt and pepper sets, chowder bowls, butter dishes, vegetable dishes, water pitcher, teapot, and tumblers are included in the open stock selection.

ASHCRAFT'S have a Parade of Silver on display, a parade of stunning and practical gifts for the bride and groom. We are partial to 1847 Rogers silver, and we yearned over carving sets and 60-piece service for 8 in the unique pierced design, "Eternally Yours." The 60-piece service includes 8 butter spreaders or icee teaspoons and is packed in a beautiful Double Wedding Ring chest. Other 60-piece sets are available in "Adoration," "First Love," and "Remembrance." Children's two and three-piece sets offer a choice between "First Love" and "Remembrance." Budget sets, for serving 6 persons, come in "Gardenia" and "Exquisite." Holloware in "Remembrance" and "Moonbeam" designs will help you to complete the bride's silver trousseau.

Another dandy gift for the bride—from LESTER'S GIFT SHOP—these glasses are made of colored aluminum—the color is in the metal, and won't chip off or fade—and your drinks will stay ice cold to the last drop. They are unbreakable, light weight, and won't dent easily. Packed in boxes of six assorted colors in the same rich maroons and subtle greens that are designed to coordinate with other modern furnishings. These are the Perma Plus glasses advertised in House Beautiful and other leading home magazines.

the Leadville silver mines and the Cripple Creek gold mines, copper-hedged Carolina Lawler and her friend Floss Kittredge play their parts as the rebellious daughter of a street-corner preacher and the refugee from a gaudy parlor house. We felt we had a ringside seat at a costume movie starring Paulette Goddard, but if Hollywood ever got hold of it we wouldn't be surprised to see it emerge as a vehicle for Jeannette MacDonald, in which she earns her way as a singer instead of as a baker of meat pasties! It's a well-written story, full of the color and action of the old West, strongly reminiscent of a book we once read by Conrad Richter. While you're in MILLER'S RENTAL LIBRARY to pick up "The Golden Fury" or any of the other interesting books, take a look at the new edition of Ideals—dedicated to Father, the dear. We'll tell you more about Father's Ideals next week.

You may bring to your office and put in a frame. A motto as fine as its paint. But if you're a crook when you're playing the game. That motto won't make you a saint. You can stick up the placards all over the hall. But here is the word I announce: It isn't the motto that hangs on the wall, But the motto you live that counts.

Do your hiking or biking in sport togs from EXCEL DRESS SHOPPE. Made by "petit" of bright, fast color Indian Head, sanforized to minimize shrinkage, they are perfectly designed for sunning. What's the matter with chintz? Maybe you got stung, once, on cheap chintz that wasn't permanently finished, but if you buy Everglaze chintz from JOSSE'S you won't be making a mistake like that again. It's washable—no foilin'—and color fast. It doesn't soil quickly, and makes up prettily as a housecoat, dirndl skirt, an apron for Mama, or in slip covers, draperies, shower and bathroom curtains, bedspreads, or valances for any room in the house. Just look at the large floral bouquets, dainty nosegays, bold stripes that are on display at Josse's—or you may fall in love with "Coquette," a tiny medallion design with a rose in the center of each medallion. The prices are unbelievable—only 89c to $1.75 per yard.
