

Peace Of Mind Only Lasting Type Of Security Offered To Humanity

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Can you find security? How? Security used to be something that only the old folks dreamed of—and the old nations.

Today the young people and the young nations want it. They feel tired even before they are tested in the crucible of effort and the changing years.

They want a guarantee. And there is no guarantee. There are as many patterns in security as there are in plaid suits. And the styles change in both.

Right now the pattern of security in America is changing. Or at least the change in pattern is more clearly visible. For the present generation is markedly different in its goals from any previous generation in America.

The traditional ideal of security in this country has been the security of equal opportunity. The real frontier in America was always the small farm a man could enlarge, the little business he could found and make bigger.

Security lay in the possibility of growth and expansion. You started low, aimed high. And if you missed your aim it was your own fault.

My father, who ran his own trapline in Missouri at the age of ten, exemplified this tradition. All he asked was:

"Give me the same chance Rockefeller had."

He died at 48. He left a $2,000 insurance policy, five children and a small grocery business. But was a secure man all his life, economically at least, because he had his chance.

He didn't simply believe in competition. He loved it.

Individualism Shirked

Today young men follow a different pattern of security. They don't ask for opportunity so much as they do a career insured at the start against risk.

This feeling is shown by a survey in the current issue of Fortune Magazine. It found that only two per cent of the 1949 college graduates have any intention of going into business for themselves.

Where a choice was possible, a majority also preferred taking jobs with large corporations rather than with small business concerns they felt were more risky.

These preferences emphasize the dramatic change in thinking that has taken place in America in one generation. Our "hope of tomorrow" isn't looking for adventurous opportunity so much as it is for placid certainty.

It amounts to exchanging the lonely dare of individualism for the warmth of the pastured herd. But entire herds freeze in a blizzard.

Jean Hitchman Enters Contest For Queen Of Celebration At Sutherlin

Sutherlin's own candidate for queen of the second annual Timmer Days Celebration is blonde Jean Myrtle Hitchman, above, graduating senior at Sutherlin High School. The 17-year-old lass will take part in the queen contest tentatively scheduled for June 10 at Roseburg High School. One other candidate is vying for the queenship of the Sutherlin Celebration. She is Susan Molschenbacher, 17-year-old brunette of Roseburg, whose name was announced Thursday by R. J. Baldwin, general chairman of the Timmer Days.
