

STANDS MANY YEARS—The J. B. Nichols general merchandise store of Brockway is one of the oldest establishments in Douglas County. Mr. Nichols built it in 1893 on a lot adjacent to the one it now occupies, moving it when the present Coos Bay highway was constructed. Owned by Mr. Nichols continuously it is now managed by his son, Cyril. Mr. Nichols also is Brockway postmaster and the postoffice is located in the rear of the store. A Fourth Class office, it has about 50 patrons in the Brockway-Olalla district. (Picture by Paul Jenkins.)

Supreme Court Upholds Sentence Of Death Imposed Despite Jury's Life Imprisonment Recommendation

WASHINGTON, June 7.—(AP)—The Supreme Court Monday upheld the death sentence given a New York City Negro by a judge who refused to accept the trial jury's recommendation of life imprisonment.

The Negro, Samuel Titto Williams, was convicted of killing a 15-year-old white girl, Selma Graff, in April, 1947, during an attempted burglary of her Brooklyn home.

Justice Black delivered the 7-2 decision. He was joined by Chief Justice Vinson and Justices Reed, Frankfurter, Douglas, Jackson, and Burton. Justice Murphy wrote a dissenting opinion. Justice Rutledge noted a dissent.

After the trial in New York, Judge Louis Goldstein said a report by probation officials "indicates that (Williams) is a psychopathic liar and his personality is permeated with psychosocial habits of thought and conduct. He is deemed by our probation department to be a menace to society."

"I can find no basis whatsoever," the judge declared, "on which I can extend to him, in good conscience, the consideration which the jury has recommended."

N. Y. Law Contested
Lawyers for Williams in appealing to the Supreme Court contested the constitutionality of a New York law which permits trial judges to disregard jury recommendations and requires them to consider a defendant's previous record before finally imposing sentence.

Williams had been sentenced to die the week of Feb. 21, but Justice Rutledge granted him a stay pending the outcome of the appeal.

In other actions the tribunal: Agreed to consider at its next term the contention of a doomed Georgia prisoner that he should not be electrocuted because Georgia law makes no provision for determining his sanity. The prisoner, George W. Solesbee, argues in his appeal papers that he is insane. The papers gave no details of the slaying case involved.

Ruled, 8 to 0, that the Federal Communications Commission was not required to hear arguments on the protest by radio station WJBR of Detroit against a construction permit granted for a new station at Tarboro, N. C., the tribunal, in reversing the U. S. Court of Appeals here, sent the case back for decisions on other points — among them whether WJBR had a legal right to appeal from the FCC action.

FORT BENTON, Mont., June 7.—(AP)—A serious fire in this North Central Montana town was fought to a standstill Monday. Great Falls firm, who pumped water direct from the Missouri River, aided the local volunteer unit in the heart of the business section.

The fire, of undetermined origin, was whipped by a high wind. Flames did damage estimated in excess of $100,000 in destroying four buildings. They included the historic Overland Hotel, the first building built in the Chouteau County seat.
