

School Board Urged By Sam Reed To Recognize Need For Apprenticeship Instruction; Financial Aid Wanted

An appeal to the School Board to recognize the "very definite need" for apprenticeship classes was voiced by Sam Reed at the Roseburg Rotary Club Thursday. Reed has been active in apprenticeship work here, serving as instructor of electrical classes and as a member of the electricians' sub-council.

Reed told the Rotarians briefly of the organization of the training program under the Roseburg Apprenticeship Council, and of classes sponsored by sub-councils in various trades. Reed recalled that in his own apprenticeship days, apprentices did hardly more than run errands for the journeymen to whom they were assigned. Under the state apprenticeship program, persons are trained for 14 different trades and occupations. The Roseburg Apprenticeship Council and its sub-councils determine what establishments are suitable for the training program. In addition, here, evening classes have been conducted for carpenters and electricians.

In order that apprenticeship classes may get underway promptly in the fall, Reed urged his listeners to impress on members of the School Board the need of financial aid for the classes. Delays in the past have been due to slowness of the Veterans Administration in sending tuition for veteran apprentices, and the fact that non-veterans must pay their own tuition. Interest in the classes has been "outstanding" with 15 men completing the electricians' classes this year and taking examination for state journeymen's cards.

Forest Fire Also Topic
Ray B. Hampton, in charge of fire control for the Umpqua National Forest, told the Rotarians of forest protection problems. Five occurrences on the Umpqua National Forest in the last 10 years had totaled 501, he said. These fires burned over 2,333 acres. Forty-three of the fires were "man caused" and therefore preventable.

Humidity is an important factor in the start of fires, Hampton explained. Humidity denotes the moisture content of air, indicating percentages of moisture air can hold at given temperatures. Warm air will hold more moisture than cold air, while rain or dew indicates the "saturation point."
When humidity is low, moisture is drawn out of trees, thus increasing the danger of forest fires. Loggers are required to shut down their operations when humidity drops to 30, or to 35 when the day is windy. Wind not only is a factor in spreading fires, but also speeds evaporation of moisture from trees.
Hampton told of the recent fire on Beaver Creek Burn, where a string of incendiary fires had been lighted 10 years ago, destroying over 7,000 acres of Douglas County's finest timber. The recent fire was unusual in that the ground was still damp and would not carry the fire.
The flames were spread through the tops of old snags. Each snag had to be cut down and fought like an individual fire. Approximately 350 men were put consuming for both the solicitor and the party being solicited. A multiplicity of drives are exhaustive of manpower, irritating, costly and ultimately doomed to failure.

As a corrective measure, community chests have been organized, and, in most instances, have proven to be the time and energy saving mediums reducing campaign costs. Consequently there is now a tendency in many communities across the country to include other fund raising projects now conducted on a state or national basis.

Forgotten Pair Of Shoes Awaits Woman Claimant

Any Cinderellas in Roseburg who have lost a shoe—or in this case a pair of shoes?

Employees of the county clerk's office report a pair of ladies' new shoes was left in that office about June 1, and so far they have been unclaimed.

The shoes apparently had just been purchased and are still store-wrapped.
Recollections of the employees are that the package was left by an elderly lady, they were not too sure on this point.
At any rate, if the shoe fits, put it on, they say, and any lady who can identify the package may make her claim.

Culprit Fails To Raise Fine, Fails To Come Back

REEDSPORT, June 10.—(AP)—A vacancy in the jail here wasn't due to a prisoner sawing the bars, but to an easterly wind.
Justice of the Peace Fred M. Wright fined a logger $250 for drunk driving. Then, he reported, the man was turned over to the sheriff's deputy. When the man said he could raise the money among his friends, the deputy let him go out to try, and the man didn't come back.
His cell is still waiting for him.

'Nail Pulling Bee' To Raze Old Church Set

BAKER, June 10.—(AP)—The Episcopal Church has scheduled a "nail pulling bee" here tonight.
The invitation, issued by Rev. Harold Parrott, is not an open house for vandals but a plea for the congregation to come and help raze the old church building preparatory to the building of a new structure during the summer.
The rector said that persons helping tear down the old church would be served lunch by a church guild.

Atlas Lumber Mill At Falls City Fire's Prey

SALEM, June 10.—(AP)—The Atlas Lumber Company planing mill at Falls City, 25 miles southwest of here, fell to flames last night.
Walter E. Schmitke, Dallas, one of the owners, estimated damage at $30,000. Schmitke blamed the blaze on sparks from a nearby trash fire. Three buildings were leveled and $10,000 worth of piled lumber destroyed.
Schmitke said there was insurance on $5,000 of the loss.

mination of a four-power commission to continue studying German peace treaty prospects if the present Paris conference breaks up without any positive agreements.

The main function of such a Commission would be to lay the groundwork for another foreign ministers conference at some future date.

The Commission also might be assigned the task of tackling aspects of the Berlin situation which requires quick four-power action.

It is believed that Russia and the west are not far apart on the issues holding up an Austrian independence treaty. But neither side is keen on concluding an Austrian treaty and withdrawing occupation troops while neighboring Germany is so unsettled.

Lions Club Works On Concession Equipment

The Roseburg Lions Club members organized a work party to take the place of their usual Thursday night meeting at the Hotel Umpqua, and met instead at the Fairgrounds. Following a picnic style supper, the members worked on equipment and tables for their food concession, which they will operate during the three-day rodeo, June 17, 18 and 19. The Lions have a contract with the Fair Board to operate all food concessions at the Fairgrounds.

Senate Girds For Hot Battle On Labor Law

Vice-President John D. Battle, issued a statement saying the one-week coal strike emphasizes the need for a stronger labor law than the Taft-Hartley Act.
Battle called upon Congress to give "serious consideration to canceling the immunities from the anti-trust laws which labor unions now enjoy." He said this would end the "rule of a labor czar such as John L. Lewis in the twinkling of an eye."
There seemed little chance Congress would go as far as that.

plant employees, if they ship to Roseburg markets now being struck.

The Retail Grocers assert that it is a strict violation of the Taft-Hartley act and Oregon state labor laws to threaten or intimidate employers with such strike action, according to Carlson.

Roseburg retail clerks, who returned to work Tuesday after pickets were withdrawn and operators agreed not to sell meat, met last night and reiterated their support of the local meatcutters' demands.

C. O. Baldwin, state representative of the Retail Clerks International Association, said a representative would be appointed by the International to represent retail clerks in any negotiations with employers in the Roseburg area. The appointment has not yet been made.
