Reporters' Battle To Get Accurate News Information Told By Executive Of AP

GEARHART, Ore., June 21.—(AP)—Frank J. Starzel, general manager of the Associated Press, told Oregon publishers here that readers should be told of reporters' battle to get accurate news information.

He said subtle forms of censorship already exist in the United States, and—although minor compared with censorship in foreign nations—the attempt should be exposed.

The Associated Press executive, who directs the world wide news gathering organization, said the government—federal, state and local agencies—were among the culprits. He said too often government press agents withhold data of public affairs in order to show their departments in a favorable light.

Readers should get mad "when government officials progressively build up at public expense over many years effective barriers against reporters seeking the truth about governmental matters," Starzel declared.

Libel Laws Severe

Starzel reported the libel laws of some states and nations are so severe that truthful reports of official proceedings can not safely be published if they happen to speak unfavorably of someone. He noted, too, that some courts have barred their proceedings from the category of news until litigation has been completed.

"This could be stopped, he said, if "aroused public opinion demands it."

He cited, as another danger signal to freedom of the press, "the notion that the free press guarantee is a sort of franchise to permit publishers to earn large profits."

Such a "pernicious" idea, Starzel declared, has led other countries to establish a controlled press, with publishers "selling favors to the highest bidders, private and governmental."

Terrorism Overseas

Turning to the overseas situation, Starzel said "censorship still controls the streams of information out of and into a large part of the world."

He said a nation-by-nation study revealed censorships ranging from the obvious blue penciling of Russia to more subtle—and perhaps more dangerous—forms. He said that in some countries that profess to be democracies, "by one device or another, these governments control every word that reaches their peoples."

He cited terrorization of newsmen, so that the reporter is afraid to write the truth; control of news sources, so that they are afraid to tell the reporter the truth.

Conductor Job Holds Wife; Husband Rebels

BLACKPOOL, Eng., June 21.—(AP)—William Brindle wants his wife to quit conducting her streetcar and come on home to do the cooking.

Saturday he was put on probation because he stopped traffic along the seafront by telling his troubles to a crowd he assembled on his wife's tramline.

Sunday he burned up the skirt to her conductor's uniform and hid the jacket. The wife, Violet, went to work in a green smock. Brindle cooked his own dinner—and burned the peas.

"I'll get Violet back home if it's the last thing I do," Brindle growled.

"The trams are my career," snapped Violet. "I shall go on, whatever happens."

Oregon-Like Leadership Cited To National GOP

BOISE, June 21.—(AP)—The National Republican Party would do well to emulate Oregon, Steve Anderson, Salein, former Oregon State Young Republican chairman, said here last night.

Enroute to the National Young Republican convention at Salt Lake City, opening Thursday, he cited Oregon as an example of young and virile leadership in the party.

Anderson said the state chairman, Sir Unander, is 35, and Newell Elliott, secretary, and Lawrence Nesquit, treasurer, are both under 35.

A motor caravan of Young Republicans is scheduled to leave Portland today, stopping in Boise overnight, and to continue to Salt Lake City tomorrow with Idaho Young Republicans in the caravan.

Paralyzed War Vets Offered Aid To Acquire Homes

Some 1300 paralyzed war veterans in the United States have been certified as eligible to receive federal grants to help them acquire homes especially adapted for wheel chair living, according to the Veterans Administration.

The grants were authorized in an act passed last year by Congress, under which the VA defrays 50 per cent of the cost of such homes. Grants cannot exceed $10,000.

Eligible to receive the grants are those veterans paralyzed due to service-connected injury or disease of the spinal cord which deprives them of the use of their legs and lower part of the body.

The homes incorporate special features such as ramps, instead of steps, doorways wide enough to accommodate a wheelchair, special bathroom fixtures, and exercise rooms equipped in accordance with the needs of the patient.

The veteran can utilize his grant in several ways. He may buy a lot and build a home on it, remodel his present home to suit his needs, or apply the grant against mortgage indebtedness if he already has a suitable home.

The VA, in addition to providing the housing grant, supplies model plans, specifications and blueprints, which the veteran may use if he wishes.

Veterans who believe they are eligible to receive a wheel chair housing grant should apply directly to the VA regional office in their home state. Applications will be forwarded to Washington, D. C., for approval.
