

Oregon Technical Institute's Fees Will Be Reduced

The first graduation exercises, building dedication ceremonies, and reduced tuition fees mark some of the events slated soon for Oregon Technical Institute—the state's two-year-old vocational school at Klamath Falls.

State Vocational Director Oscar I. Paulson informed the Department of Veterans' Affairs that 223 students—208 of them World War II veterans—will receive diplomas June 24, in the initial graduation ceremony honoring those who have completed training in some 32 courses ranging from body and fender repair to medical technology and accounting.

Regarding tuition fees, Paulson said these will drop from the present $50 a month to as low as $25 a month in some courses.

Fees henceforth will be charged on a term basis when the school switches to a schedule of fall, winter and spring terms from its current month-by-month enrollment plan, Paulson said. This change takes place starting Aug. 1 when the new year begins.

Thus, business administration courses will cost $88 a term, and trades and industries courses will cost either $110 or $132 a term depending on the type of course. Each term covers a little more than three months.

There will be mid-term registration periods, Paulson said, to permit students to enroll who are unable to enter during term openings.

Director of the vocational school is Winston D. Purvine.

Satellites Turning On Soviet, Dulles Thinks
NEW YORK, June 23.—(AP)—John Foster Dulles said yesterday that "events may be shaping up to a new and intense struggle" within the Soviet Union and the satellite countries.

In a statement issued at headquarters of the U. S. delegation to the United Nations, Dulles said: "Soviet leadership is having to contend with problems in the satellite countries where there is steadily growing revolt against the extreme intolerance of Soviet Communism."

The republican foreign policy adviser to Secretary of State Acheson said that in Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Poland "the people will not willingly accept rigorous conformity to a pattern of life made for them in Moscow."

Infantry Division Job Given Corvallis Man
FORT LEWIS, June 23.—(AP)—Lt. Col. Arthur R. Lowe, a Corvallis, Ore., newspaperman, will become civil affairs and military government officer for the 41st Infantry Division on July 1.

Colonel Lowe's appointment was announced today by Brig. Gen. Harold G. Maison, assistant division commander, and senior Oregon officer of the National Guard unit. He is on the staff of the Corvallis Gazette Times.

ELBOW BENDERS BROKE
CHICAGO.—(AP)—Jingle, jingle, little jar, now we wonder where you are.

So goes the lament of the Elbow Benders Regulars. They are steady customers at the Circle Inn tavern. They tossed their loose pennies into a jar on the bar for almost a year. The coins piled up until there were about 8,000 of them. The Regulars figured it would be filled in a few more days. Then they'd have a free beer party.

You Can Save Drowning Person Even If You Can't Swim, Red Cross Says

By JANE EADS
WASHINGTON—You can help save a life even if you can't swim, the Red Cross Water Safety Service insists in a series of new posters designed to help reduce the nation's annual drowning toll of 30 persons daily.

Last year close to 7,000 persons drowned in the United States. You may have been one of the needlessly helpless onlookers at one of these tragedies. These are the ways the Red Cross says you can help—even if you yourself can't swim.

When a bather is in trouble near a dock, float or side of a pool, you can: (1) extend the upper part of your body over the water, lying flat on your stomach, grasp the wrist of the victim and slowly draw him to safety. (2) extend a towel or shirt, branch or pole to victim, draw him to safety, but be sure not to let him pull you in; (3) Stand on one end of a rope, throw life buoy beyond victim, using an underhand swing, draw buoy into victim's grasp, pull slowly to safety.

When a bather steps into deep water off-shore, you can wade into water until chest deep, incline your body toward shore, grasp the back of the victim's wrist and, backing slowly, draw victim to safety. Or you can shove a board, plank or similar floating object into victim's grasp and help thus to bring him to safety.

Also, the Red Cross says, you can row a boat or skiff to the victim. When you get to him, turn the boat so he can grasp the stern, then row and tow him to safety. Or, if he is struggling, extend an oar to support him and draw him to the stern and then row to safety.

How to Save Yourself
Suppose you are in trouble yourself and you are a weak swimmer? You can play dead by not getting into an overloaded canoe and not sitting on the seat to paddle it. The safe thing to do is to limit the load and kneel for paddling. If you do upset, use the canoe as a life preserver. You can hand-paddle it to safety. But do it slowly. Also remember that wood canoes and metal ones with good air tanks won't sink!

If it's a rowboat you're venturing forth in, the Red Cross reiterates the warning not to overload the boat and points out that one person per seat is about all the craft can stand . . . safely. If the boat should fill up because of a leak or something, sit in the bottom and hand-paddle to safety.

RING SOLVES MYSTERY
SYDNEY.—(AP)—Two men at Wyndham, northwestern Australia, caught a 14-foot crocodile. In its stomach they found a man's gold signet ring with the initials "J. T."

Police remembered the mystery of John Thompson, a young refrigerator engineer. In July, 1948, he fell from a wharf, at Wyndham. His body was never found. Police now know why.

The Court granted the writ of mandate sought by Newel Perry, president of the California Council of the blind, to compel Jordan to put the repeal measure on the ballot.

"The right of initiative is precious to the people," the Court said, "and is one which the courts are zealous to preserve."

The present pension law was voted by the people in 1948 on the initiative process. Repeal was sought by more than the required proportion of voters.

The law provides for increased pensions for the needy, aged and blind and made radical changes in personnel, specifically installing Myrtle Williams as director. It was assailed as giving unfair priority to pensions over education or any other state need.

California To Vote On Repeal Of Pension Law
SAN FRANCISCO, June 23.—(AP)—The State Supreme Court Wednesday ordered Secretary of State Jordan to put on the ballot "at the next appropriate election" the proposal to repeal California's controversial pension law.

It was a unanimous decision. The Court granted the writ of mandate sought by Newel Perry, president of the California Council of the blind, to compel Jordan to put the repeal measure on the ballot.
