Rain Gives Shanghai Respite From Bombing

SHANGHAI, July 1.—(P)—An overcast and rain today kept Nationalist bombers from returning to Shanghai where Wednesday they killed 82 persons and injured more than 100.

Four-engined bombers, never more than two at a time, ranged leisurely over the city at low altitude yesterday seeking targets. Most of their bombs fell in the crowded native section of Chapel. It was the most daring raid yet on the Red-captured city.

Almost negligible resistance was put up by the Communists. No anti-aircraft guns went into action. The bombers dropped down to around 1,500 feet to get below the overcast. They were just out of machinegun range—the only weapons used against them.

Chubby Silvers, one of Sammy Kaye's bandmen, had an expensive crease put in his size 52 band uniform when the crew was playing an engagement in Buffalo recently. Chubby was in New York the weekend before the band left for Buffalo and had sent his uniform out to be pressed. When he reached Buffalo with the band and started to unpack, he found a receipt from the tailor instead of a band uniform, so he called a friend in New York and asked her to pick up the suit and put it on a plane for Buffalo. Said friend put herself on the plane along with the suit which brought Chubby's valet charge to a total of $45. (Sammy Kaye's Showroom airs over KRNR tonight and each Monday, Wednesday and Friday night at 7:15.)

In the midst of the old Southwest gold rush, "The Cisco Kid" finds that some men would stop at nothing, including murder and destruction of property, to obtain the gold. "Cisco" strikes on the side of law and order, during the drama titled "Fire at Snapping Turtle Band" tonight . . . 7:30 to 8 p. m. Still more western adventure tonight has the June moon and inspirations ensuing therefrom, catching up with "Straight Arrow" as the Comanche Indian chief helps a shiftless cowhand turn over a "New Leaf," so the cowboy can marry his widowed boss. Howard Culver stars in the title role. (8:00-8:30 p. m.)

An art critic who despises modernistic designs, an exhibit of such works, a well wielded knife, a corpse and plenty of suspects make up "The Affairs of the Nude Nasturtium," the story to be presented on tonight's "Affairs of Peter Salem" broadcast at 10. Santos Ortega is heard in the title role . . . And, make a note somewhere that Senator Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, ranking Republican member of the Senate Finance Committee, will be the guest for tomorrow evening's "Meet the Press" session at six.

Policeman Slain By Chase Quarry
PHILADELPHIA, July 1.—(P)—A policeman was slain Wednesday as he chased a prowler on a wooded estate in suburban Abington Township. All available officers were summoned to join in the hunt for the slayer.

Patrolman Thomas J. Mathews, 32, an ex-paratrooper, was shot twice at close range. He fell with his pistol in his holster and handcuffs in his hand. Lieut. Alwyn Streeper said indications at the spot were that Mathews was killed as he sought to handcuff a prisoner who was lying on the ground.

Patrolman Clark Cutting said he and Mathews, checking on a possible prowler in the neighborhood, were questioning a truck driver when the man broke away and fled into a woods.

Cutting radioed for help as Mathews chased the man. More than an hour later police found Mathews' body in a clump of trees and discovered an adjoining home had been burglarized.

LOSES CASTE
PRINEVILLE, July 1.—(P)—Jess Wolard, bakery owner and volunteer fireman, isn't in good standing with his fellow-members of the Fire Department right now.

He was driving up the street when the other volunteers called him to a halt and rushed up to put out a fire in his car.

Cause of the fire? Wolard was driving with his brakes on.
