Plans Underway To Organize 100 New Scout Troops

Five thousand new boys are knocking at the door of Scouting and there are not enough Scout Units in the Oregon Trail Area Council to serve them. This was the problem laid before Council leaders recently by O. D. Sharpe, Regional Scout Executive and Alton F. Baker, member of the National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The Council leaders were quick to recognize this need because of the lowering of the age limit in the three branches of Scouting: that of Cub Scouts to 8 years, Boy Scouts to 11 years, and the Explorer Scouts which include Sea Scouts, Air Scouts and Explorer Scouts to 14 years.

To take care of this need plans are underway to organize 100 new Scout Units immediately throughout the Oregon Trail Area Council territory of Coos, Curry, Lincoln, Benton, Lane and Douglas Counties.

Many new institutions will have the opportunity to use the Scouting program and many of

Dry Weather in London Brings Water Shortage

LONDON, July 5 — (AP)—Londoners got orders today to quit soaking their gardens and washing their cars. The reason: Britain is having its driest weather in nearly 30 years.

The Metropolitan Water Board said it could allow, "for the present," use of hoses to sprinkle gardens and wash cars two days a week. It banned altogether the use of unattended sprinklers and ornamental fountains and said all use of hoses may have to cease soon.

London has gone 19 days without rain.

those which are using one or more branches will have the opportunity to organize others. Interested institutions such as churches, service clubs, farm organizations, P. T. A., and labor groups are asked to step forward and help fill the gap.

In each District of the Council District Committees will get together within the next two weeks to select and train teams to organize the new Units.

Reedsport

Roy Peterson, owner of the Reedsport Auto Freight, is moving into his newly completed home on Wade's Flat, one of the most popular residential sections in Reedsport. The property consists of a residence and garage large enough for the freight truck and for Mr. Peterson's private automobile. It is located on the corner of 22nd and Greenwood.

After living in Reedsport for many years, Mr. Peterson moved to Coos Bay and put up a business and residence building there, and reversed his run so as to leave Coos Bay in the morning, and returning in the evening. Since moving back to Reedsport, he has again reversed the run, now making the run to Coos Bay and return to Reedsport daily, on a five-day week schedule.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Thiele of Oakland, Ore., have been spending a few days at Winchester Bay on a fishing expedition. Mr. Thiele formerly lived in Reedsport.

James Ford of Washink Lake, former Gardiner resident, and Earl Hill of Cushman, were among the fishermen trying their luck after chinook at Winchester Bay Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Kromminga are moving into the residence on the Wayne Conger farm on Schofield Creek. This farm was recently purchased by O. B.

Truman Asks Efficiency In Housekeeping Methods

WASHINGTON, July 5.—(AP)—President Truman told government agency chiefs they must do their housekeeping more cheaply and efficiently.

He sent them a letter ordering cooperation with Jess Larson, boss of the new General Services Administration, in government purchasing and housekeeping operations.

Mr. Truman asked each agency to plan its requirements for supplies, equipment, materials, and all other personal property carefully "in order that necessary stocks may be maintained at minimum levels and high-cost small purchasing avoided."

Larson was directed to see whether present policies on buying and selling property for the government should be modified or revoked "in the interest of promoting greater economy and efficiency."

The General Services Administration was created two days ago under a reorganization law authorizing it to take over the functions of the federal works agency and all its adjuncts, the War Assets Administration, the Treasury's Bureau of Federal Supply, Office Contract Settlement, and the National Archives. Larson is former chief of WAA.

Walker, also of Schofield Creek, and will be operated by the Krommingas. Mr. Kromminga is an experienced dairyman.

Mrs. Charlotte Sanders of Norman, Okl., is spending the summer at the Winchester Bay Auto Court, which is operated by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Sanders.
