

Lack Of Full-Time Health Officer Means Loss Of U. S. Aid To County

EUGENE, July 12.—(AP)—Counties lacking a full-time health officer will lose federal reimbursement for the work after a three-months grace period.

The State Board of Health made the decision here over the weekend and said health district units lacking a full time health officer are Polk and Benton Counties and the district formed by Union and Baker Counties.

Dr. Harold M. Erickson, state health officer, explained that because of the wartime shortage of physicians, federal payments had continued even if standards were not met. Personnel is now available, he said. The three months grace period hinges on hiring an officer or being committed to finding one.

Federal grants were approved for a new 100-bed wing to the Sacred Heart General Hospital in Eugene, for $85,000 to assist rebuilding a burned portion of the Fairview home in Salem; for a $37,000 chronic disease hospital at Nyssa and for $128,000 to cover one-third of a new detached hospital at the State Hospital in Salem.

Final grants for federal funds for the 1949-50 fiscal year were listed as $477,611. New items listed were $12,208 for water purification and $23,341 for heart disease work.

Federal reimbursements on county salary funds will be limited to separate quarters of the year. Unexpended funds applied to other quarters will not be reimbursed, the board said.

Preservation Of Resources Urged On West By Visiting Izaak Walton League Head

WALTER FRYE

National President, Izaak Walton League of America.

People everywhere are in favor of conservation but few of them know anything about it.

The foregoing conclusion has been reached by Walter Frye, national president of the Izaak Walton League of America.

Mr. and Mrs. Frye, of Wooster, Ohio, were overnight visitors in Roseburg, stopping at the Hotel Rose en route back to Portland after a trip to Grants Pass for discussions with Waltonians regarding proposed construction of high dams on the Rogue River.

After visiting at Grants Pass they went to Gold Beach and were taken on boat trips up Rogue River, then traveled the coast route and Roseburg-Coos Bay highway into Roseburg for an overnight stop.

Mr. Frye reports he is combining a vacation tour with a good will trip as national president of the Izaak Walton league, traveling at his own expense. He has visited conservation leaders in Washington and Oregon, and will make stops in Montana and North Dakota before returning

American Husband Enjoying One Of History's Greatest Comebacks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK.—(AP)—The American husband has become the eighth wonder of the modern world.

The other seven are (1) Sophie Tucker, (2) the Berlin airlift, (3) the four-dollar British pound, (4) the Empire State Building, (5) Texas and/or California, (6) Soviet Russia's foreign policy and (7) Joseph Paul DiMaggio, the Yankee clipper.

Like "DiMag," the U. S. husband is enjoying one of the greatest comebacks in history.

Time was when he was merely a crass beast of labor responsible only for bringing home the bacon. The rest of the time he was just an over-stuffed lump of protoplasm that sank into an over-stuffed piece of furniture and gave off annoyed grunts when disturbed.

But all that's changed. Papa's a new man. Mama has to call him "daddy" again now—and she has a hard time keeping up with him. She can't afford to let herself get frowny and fat. Papa's taken the inner tubes off his midriff, and if she doesn't do likewise, why, he puts her on a 9-day diet. He knows what grub has the most vitamins and grows the least blubber. He does out her calories like a miser.

This 1949 husband is a bird of fresh plumage. He's doffed the gun uniforms he's worn for the last fifty years. No longer does he back away from pastel shirts or shy from summer neckties that look like a cross-section of the northern lights. Pap's discovered color—and he likes it. He is also the first one under the family sunlamp and the last to leave.

Yes, sir, the old man seems to have made up his mind that anything his old lady can do he can do better. He's got mama taking lessons in interior decoration, and he thumbs through the ladies' magazines looking for new recipes he can amaze neighbors with. He may leave the kitchen a mess, but when he has you ever tasted a more wonderful salad? (The garlic flavor usually dies out of your tonsils in three days.)

Dare Gets Results
I know a telegraph editor out in Joplin, Mo., who told his wife she ought to make her own clothes.

"If it's so easy, why don't you do it?" she said.
"Darned if he didn't. Now he makes clothes for the whole family."

In Alabama the husband's are getting so good at camellia growing they take the prizes at flower shows that their wives used to win.

"Well, at least it keeps them out of pool rooms," said one frustrated lady.

The low-down in business is making husbands even more thrifty. Recently a friend of mine went into a store to buy some hand-knit wool socks. The price—

Triplet Sons Born To Eugene Negro Couple

EUGENE, July 12.—(AP)—Triplet sons were born here Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, who promptly named their new offspring Terry, Jerry and Perry.

Dr. Daniel Bond, who delivered the youngsters at the Negro family's home, said the boys were wrapped in different colored blankets to prevent any mix-up.

Each child weighed more than six pounds at birth and were healthy, Dr. Bond reported.

$7.50 a pair—shocked him. "I can make them cheaper than that," he said. He's taken up knitting.

POINTERS FOR LONG DISTANCE CALLERS

How you can save money on your cross-country calls—and help us give you still faster service

2. When you place your call, you can save time all around if you give the information to your long distance operator this way: First, the name of the town you're calling... then, the number if you know it, or the address. (Good idea to keep a list of the out-of-town numbers you call most frequently.) Next, if it's a person call, give the name of the one you want to talk with.

4. Wise use of the telephone—either local or long distance—helps you get the greatest value from it. And service is constantly growing more valuable. A local call is still just a few pennies. And you can make a daytime station call from coast to coast for only $2.50, plus tax... a real bargain in these days of higher prices.

1. Even before you call, you can start getting the most for your money. It's a good idea to make a list of the things you want to talk about. A few handy notes can help make sure you won't think of something you really wanted to say—after you hang up. Experienced long distance users keep paper and pencil at the telephone and make notes while they're talking, too.

3. When you complete your call, be sure to hang up promptly—and properly. If you remember to use these pointers every time you call long distance, you'll be certain of getting the most from your call for the least money. With really efficient use of the telephone, you can pack as many words into a three-minute call as you can in a letter—and you'll get an answer to your questions right away.

Your telephone is one of today's biggest bargains.

to the Midwest for a series of conferences. He conferred in Roseburg with Bruce Yeager, newly elected president of the Oregon Wildlife Federation, and Charles V. Stanton, a director in the Roseburg Rod and Gun club, the Umpqua Basin Conservation Council, and a member-at-large in the Izaak Walton League.

Leadership Lacking
People of the United States are rapidly becoming conservation conscious, Mr. Frye reports, but there is a definite lack of leadership to direct the public in an efficient program. Too few people, he said, know the fundamentals of true conservation and without leaders, the conservation sentiment is leading in many wrong directions.

"For many years," he said, "a majority of our people thought that conservation concerned only fish and game. Then a few people began to realize that it meant more and better crops—more wheat, more apples. Now we are becoming aware that conservation means the difference between starvation and plenty. We are discovering, in some areas at least, that conservation of water means the difference between life and death. We have yet to teach people that conservation means coordinated management of soil, water, forest and wildlife and that all are so closely interwoven and interrelated that none can be considered without equal consideration for all."

People in eastern states are far more conservation conscious than are the people of the Far West, Mr. Frye said.

"This," he added, "is because our problem in the East is one of restoration. We have allowed our resources to become depleted, our streams to become polluted, our forests to be destroyed, our land to become exhausted. We face the difficult and expensive job of restoring these resources we have so carelessly and negligently wasted."

"Here in the Far West you still have your resources. You should profit by the experiences of our eastern states and save the things you have."

Enroute north from Roseburg this morning, Mr. and Mrs. Frye stopped at Winchester to inspect the Umpqua river counting station and the Roseburg Rod and Gun club's recreational grounds.
