

'DRIVE IN' CHURCH—The Rev. Norman L. Hammer, pastor of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church in North Hollywood, Calif., moved his pulpit and organ into the parking lot and opened the first drive-in church. The 36-year-old pastor said that a lot of people like to go to the beach or the mountains on Sunday and that if they can come to church in their old clothes that a lot more would attend. The initial experiment brought out 54 cars holding some 160 members of the congregation. (AP Wirephoto)

Gov. McKay Names Advisory Board On Fair Employment Practices

SALEM, July 14.—(AP)—Seven Portland residents will make up the State Advisory Council on fair employment practices, Governor Douglas McKay announced yesterday.

The council will assist State Labor Commissioner W. E. Kimsey in administering the state's new FEPC law, which becomes effective next Saturday.

The law prohibits employers, labor unions and employment agencies from discriminating against any person because of his race or religion.

Members of the Council are: Ulysses Plummer, former assistant district attorney at Kansas City, Mo., and Oregon's only Negro attorney.

Mrs. J. H. Thomas, who has been prominent in Portland Church and Temperance activities.

David Robinson, lawyer, president of the Portland City Club, and a Jewish leader.

Al McCreedy, chairman of the Oregonian unit of the CIO American Newspaper Guild.

S. P. Stevens, 9th district vice president of the AFL International Association of Firefighters, and member of the executive board of the Portland Central Labor Council.

Herald Campbell, personnel manager of the Pacific Power & Light Company.

Francis Kern, Portland lumberman and one of the state's most prominent Catholic laymen. In addition to those, E. C. Berry, executive secretary of the Urban League of Portland, will serve as a special consultant to the Committee. The Urban League's purpose is to promote better relations between white persons and Negroes.

Governor McKay said he is "most hopeful that the Committee's efforts will lead the way to an era of real progress in this important field of labor relations."

Oregon is one of only six states to have an FEPC law. Penalties for violating it range up to a maximum of $500 fine and a year in jail.

Members of the Advisory Committee are paid their expenses for attending meetings.

Governor McKay said he expects action soon on appointment of an FEPC administrator and his assistant. Both will serve under Kimsey.

When fresh tomatoes are plentiful stew some of them to serve along with meat or fish. Remove the skins first by immersing them in hot water, then quarter them and simmer in a deep skillet (without water) until they are quite soft. Season them with butter or margarine, salt, freshly-ground pepper. If desired celery salt and a dash of all-spice also may be added as well as a little sugar.

WEDDING OF IDEAS
By Maria Caterine

Novel make-them-yourself accessories will add a touch of originality to a summer wedding if such unusual ideas as those of actress Joan Tompkins are considered. Joan, who is about to become a bride — in radio life that is — on the MBS weekday Peabody-winning award serial "Against The Storm," suggests some inexpensive and most effective bridal accessories which might be considered in planning a summer wedding.

Poet-covered lace fans will add a distinctive touch to your bridesmaid's ensemble, and are simple to make. Merely cover the frame of a small white fan with lace or eyelet and tack on make-believe blossoms along the edge. Then attach to the handle of the fan a small bouquet of posies, half-yard ribbon streamers, tacking a blossom at regular intervals.

For a touch of originality and a most appropriate motif for a garden wedding, have the bridesmaid carry an organdie parasol to which flowers have been attached along the rim. If the maid-of-honor is wearing a sash on her gown you might try pinning tiny nosegays of violets to the dangling ends, or catch up the hemline of her dress with a corsage of the same flowers. A large straw bonnet turned upside down, with ribbons attached to the crown and filled with garden flowers, also adds a charming bit of sentiment to a garden wedding.

Hearings Open On Bill To Strengthen Alaska, Pacific Defenses, Related Projects

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP) Hearings have opened on a $623,000,000 military construction bill which would pour more than $195,000,000 into the nation's Alaska and Pacific defenses.

The House Armed Services Committee called witnesses on a giant Army, Air Force and Navy program to improve and enlarge bases around the world. Tucked away in it was perhaps the smallest proposed military purchase on record. One section would allow the Navy to buy a part of the Oahu Railroad in Hawaii for $1.

The bill would authorize the three services to spend approximately $383,000,000 in this country and about $240,000,000 on bases abroad. It also would set up an unidentified $14,529,000 special weapons project for the Army.

No money would be made available by the bill. It would only grant the services permission to spend the money when they could get it. The actual money would have to be voted by Congress in a separate appropriation bill.

The bill would concentrate about $130,000,000 worth of building by all three services in Alaska.

This would include $46,720,000 for Fort Richardson, $12,645,700 at Whittier, $34,956,200 at Eielson Air Force Base, $22,616,000 for Navy communication equipment at Adak, $2,548,000 for the Navy's base at Kodiak, $3,664,600 for Elmendorf Field at Fort Richardson, and $5,610,000 for Ladd Field at Fairbanks.

The Navy would spend over $46,000,000 enlarging its base on Guam.

The other large Pacific construction would be on Okinawa, where the Army and Air Force would spend about $18,000,000.

The bill would provide for building family quarters, laboratories, test centers, and all other types of construction for military bases.

It would cover such things as rocket research at Aberdeen, Md., Army radiological laboratories, sewer projects, submarine propulsion testing, an undersea warfare school, firing ranges, testing liquid, fuels electronics research, storage facilities, and runway construction.

Cheese will be hard and tough if it is cooked too long or at too high a temperature. When a dish containing cheese is baked in the oven it's a good idea to keep the temperature moderate. When a cheese combination is cooked on top of the range it should be put in a heavy saucepan and the heat kept very low, or put in a double boiler over hot not boiling water.
