

Army Generals Are Suspended In Contract Deal

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The army today announced temporary suspension of Maj. Gens. Alden H. Waitt, chief of the chemical corps, and Herman Feldman, in connection with investigations of alleged influence in the award of army contracts.

Both men are army career veterans.

An announcement issued by the national military establishment said:

"Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray announced today that he had temporarily relieved from their duties Major General Alden Harry Waitt, chief of the chemical corps, and Major General Herman Feldman, the quartermaster general.

"Following published reports, certain information concerning persons who claimed that they were able to exert influence in procuring army contracts was secured by the subcommittee of the Senate committee on expenditures in the executive departments. This information was further developed by the inspector general of the army and a complete investigation is now being made.

"The Senate subcommittee has evidence which indicates that General Waitt improperly furnished personnel data to an individual not in the military service who was not entitled to receive such data; and that General Feldman furnished to a contractor's representative procurement information under circumstances which appear irregular.

Hawaii's Governor Turns Toward Dock Seizure

HONOLULU, July 18.—(AP)—Hawaii's governor turned today toward government operation of docks as a solution for the longshore strike that has paralyzed ports in these islands for 77 days.

Governor Ingram M. Stainback expects to call the territorial legislature Tuesday into a special session to enact a dock seizure bill. It will be the main measure in a legislative program being drafted to end the tieup.

Government operation, said the governor yesterday, may be considered as "union busting" by some and "free enterprise busting" by others. He added:

"Perhaps it may be both, but it certainly would be citizen-saving."

Jack Hall, leader of the 2,000 striking CIO stevedores, immediately asserted the proposed legislation "follows the employer line."

There was no comment from employers.

70-Year-Old Woman Dies In Portland Cell

PORTLAND, July 18.—(AP)—A 70-year-old woman died in a cell at the city jail Saturday, a few hours after she was seen staggering down the street and arrested for drunkenness.

An investigation began to determine the cause of her death. Sgt. Chester Wiles, on duty in the jail, said it was possible she had a skull fracture. He said "here were indications that she had fallen in the cell, and struck her head."

Police said the woman gave the name Marie Thomas upon her arrest.

American Soldier Is Returned By Russians

BERLIN, July 18.—(AP)—The Russians returned an American soldier held in Soviet zone jails for five months Friday.

He was Christus Rangavies, 21, of New York City, a recruit in the 16th U. S. Constabulary Squadron, Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, American deputy military governor in Germany, demanded Rangavies' return in April.

The soldier was seized by the Russians in their zone of Berlin when he was found there in civilian clothes. Accused of being a spy, he was questioned for months.

New York's Bus Lines Face Further Strikes

NEW YORK, July 18.—(AP)—New York City's giant network of bus lines, already severely crippled, faces the threat of a greatly widened strike this week.

With bus service of some 1,125,000 daily riders now shut down, the CIO Transport Workers union made plans for possible extension of the strike to lines used by 1,800,000 more passengers.

This would tie up virtually all privately operated bus transportation in the metropolis, halting bus service on a total of 106 routes and affecting nearly 3,000,000 riders a day.

Princess Margaret Dances Can-Can, Again Starts London Tongues Wagging

LONDON, July 18.—(AP)—Princess Margaret, 21, had something besides the dollar crisis and the heat to discuss over their pint of beer tonight—legs.

Not just ordinary legs, mind you, but royal, blue-blooded legs, covered in sheer, black silk stockings, set off by a pair of frilly pants, and twinkling in the saucy can-can.

The legs, no less, of her royal highness, Princess Margaret.

The princess' legs became news this week at a fancy dress ball at the home of American Ambassador Lewis Douglas.

The king's younger daughter, with Sharman Douglas, the ambassador's daughter, and 10 other girls trotted out before 250 guests. They were dressed in the traditional can-can girl's costume, complete with red decorations and feathers in their hats.

The band struck up the usual can-can tune, the girls did their stuff.

When they were finished the guests asked for more, and Princess Margaret and her troupe did it all over again.

People in a position to know confirmed the story last night.

Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh also were at the party. But they played it conservative—coming dressed as a housemaid and a butler.

Shocking London and causing talk is nothing new for the 18-year-old Princess Margaret.

As far back as last November, the mass circulation Sunday Pictorial exploded with this question:

"Is Princess Margaret becoming too much of a playgirl?"

Palace sources, speaking unofficially, have scoffed at the notion.

"Don't you think," they say, "if there were the slightest real indication that Princess Margaret's coinings and goings were distressing or embarrassing to parents generally, that the king and queen would immediately correct the situation?"
