

Oregon Higher Education Costs Double In 10 Years

EUGENE, July 20 (Special)—Attending one of the schools of the State System of Higher Education costs about $750 today, or about double what it did ten years ago, business managers and housemothers at the institutions say, but residence fees have gone up only 30 per cent. Largest increase has been in room and board, and increase in cost of books is another factor in the rise, managers of the cooperative book stores report.

Room and board at the University of Oregon and Oregon State College is $503, compared with $245 in 1939-40. Institutional fees, at the same schools, will be $127.50 in 1949-50, compared to $36 in 1939-40. Student expenses are slightly less at the three Colleges of Education, at Ashland, LaGrande and Monmouth, since living costs have not increased so markedly in smaller cities.

These figures are based on dormitory accommodations, and do not include travel, clothing and extra frills. Some students will live more cheaply in cooperative houses (at OSC and the University) or in private homes. Many are working this summer, and hold down part time jobs while in school to pay all or part of their way.

Polio Has Very Few Japanese Victims

TOKYO, July 21.—(AP)—Japanese apparently have developed a natural immunity to polio, General MacArthur's public health chief said today.

Before 1947, said Brig. Gen. Crawford F. Sams, the disease wasn't reported because of its relative rarity. Last year, when there were 27,000 cases in the United States, Japan had only 980.

"Occupation personnel may contract the disease from one another," Sams said, "but it is unlikely that polio will be transmitted between the races."

Moscow Press Plays Up Opposition To Pact

MOSCOW, July 21.—(AP)—The U. S. Senate debate on the North Atlantic pact has been getting close attention from the Moscow press.

Here are a few recent headlines which appeared in Pravda, the official communist party newspaper:

"American Public Comes Out Against Pact."

"Senate Discusses Atlantic Pact" (this story told of growing opposition among senators to the charter).

"Sen. (William E.) Jenner (R-Ind.) quoted as saying pact a military alliance not for peace but for unleashing war."

Other Soviet newspapers also have been giving the debate steady play.

Building Trades Get Notice Of License Need

Final notice has been issued to all persons connected with the building trades that they must secure licenses before they will be granted permits for any type of construction work, City Inspector C. J. Osburn announced.

Licenses were due July 1 for the coming fiscal year, he said.

The following trades in the opinion of City Attorney Paul Geddes are listed as coming under the classification: building contractors, sheet metal workers, brick layers, plasterers, lathers, painters, plumbers, electrical workers, cement workers, floor layers, floor finishers, carpenters and any other specialized work.

Congress Sidelights

By Harris Ellsworth
Congressman, 4th District of Oregon

There has not been a great deal of publicity given to the fact, but before long the Federal Government through the Veterans Administration will begin the distribution of cash to veterans. The total will be two billion, eight hundred millions of dollars!

Think what that amount of new, unobligated, spendable income will do toward bolstering up a slightly sagging U. S. economy. No, for once an outpouring of federal money is not listed under the heading of government spending. This will be the return to veterans of World War II of overpayments they have made on their National Service Life Insurance Policies.

These checks actually could be sent out during 1949 but that the distribution was delayed until next year for political reasons. I offer no opinion on this because I have no direct personal knowledge about it—but I do know that things of that sort have happened in this big government of ours.

Grandfather, 70, Plans On Course In College

PORTLAND, Ore., July 21.—(AP) Walter T. Doran expects to enter college next fall.

The difference between Doran and the usual freshman is that Doran is a 70-year-old grandfather who retires from railroad service this summer.

"I know the practical side. Now I want to learn the fundamentals," Doran told a reporter here. He plans to take up electrical engineering at a school in the Portland area.

Doran started railroad work in Tacoma as a wiper for the Northern Pacific in 1899. He will retire Aug. 1 as general road foreman of engines for the Union Pacific. Until then, he will be on vacation.

Old-time railroaders of the Pacific Northwest will give a party for him at Centralia July 23.

GI Jobless Pay To Stop July 25

SALEM, July 21.—(AP)—Ninety-five per cent of Oregon's World War II veterans will be ineligible for federal GI jobless benefits after July 25, which is the last day for payments for men who were discharged before the official end of the war on July 25, 1947.

The other five per cent of the veterans can draw benefits for two years more.

The state veterans affairs department said 6,530 veterans, or less than five per cent of Oregon's World War II veterans, have drawn their full benefits, which are $20 a week for a maximum of 52 weeks.

Oregon veterans got more than $31,000,000 in the federal GI jobless benefits during the five years of the program.

The peak was last March when 24,325 veterans got benefits in one week. The lightest load was last October when 1,152 veterans drew benefits.

Street Worker Survives Crush By 12-Ton Roller

GALVESTON, Texas, July 21.—(AP)—Friends who visit John Garza Jr., at the hospital today are calling him iron man.

Garza, a city street worker, slipped beneath a 12-ton pneumatic street roller. All nine wheels of the machine passed over his body. He suffered a broken leg and possible internal injuries.

Buick Car Output In August May Set New High

DETROIT, July 20.—(AP)—Buick division of General Motors expects to produce more cars in August than in any previous month in its 46-year history.

Ivan I. Wiles, Buick general manager, made this statement by a private showing to newsmen of Buick's new special model.

Barring a strike in major supplier plants, Wiles said, Buick's August production will exceed the 38,913 automobiles the company built in March, 1941.

Details of the new special model will not be disclosed until its formal introduction, probably on Aug. 8. No price has been announced for the new model.

Buick's lowest priced car, but it is expected to be only slightly above the price of the industry's low-priced three—Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth.

Wiles said that Buick, now selling about 8.5 per cent of the industry's total sales, is aiming at 10 per cent of the total.
