

Cafe Alterations Follow Sale Of Local Business

Chucks Cafe, located at N. Stephens and Oak St. is undergoing minor alterations. A new air conditioning unit being installed will be completed in a few days," according to co-owners Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lambert Sr. and Mrs. J. L. Lambert Jr. and Ann Scruton. Ownership of the popular restaurant, located in the Trailways bus depot here, recently changed hands with its sale by Oliver Willis and Ken Hussy, both of Roseburg, to the present owners.

The Lamberts and Mrs. Scruton came here from Beaverton and took over Chucks cafe July 1. They were in restaurant business in Beaverton from 1944 until just before July.

Mrs. Lambert indicated many weeks of traveling around the northwest preceded the purchase of the cafe. They decided to settle in Roseburg, after comparing it with other cities as a place to live.

Mrs. Lambert said they bought a home at 1303 N. Jackson and plan to make Roseburg their permanent residence.

that includes bills for government seizure and operations of docks and for placing stevedores under civil service.

ILWU strike leader Henry Schmidt gave notice any ships worked in Hawaii by civil service workers would be declared "hot" and would not be worked on the Pacific coast.

In his Senate speech, Morse said a "good arbitrator" could settle the whole dispute in three days. If Hawaii's seven struck stevedoring firms would submit to arbitration.

Credit Group Organized At Friday Night Meet

cliffe Northwest Retail Credit association and general credit manager for the Meier & Frank company of Portland. He compared a community credit group to a bank by saying that individual members must deposit information into a general knowledge fund from which all credit granters may draw.

"When a customer demands fast service on credit, the merchant or professional man must be able to refer quickly to the consumer's credit rating. A retail credit association is the best possible answer," he said.

Fisher said the day is past when credit executives can merely look at a person and judge his character, capacity and capability—the three C's of credit selling.

Nominations from the floor and secret balloting chose the board of directors for the newly-formed association. Representative of the business and professions of the Roseburg area, those elected to serve a two-year term were Fred Lockwood, Abe Bean, Robert Rennie, Gordon Stewart and Jean Whittenburg.

Members chosen to serve one year terms include Eugene Springer, Robert Bashford, Dr. Earl Neuru, L. D. Johansen and Gerretsen. Five new directors will be chosen next year and each succeeding year. Officers of the new organization will be chosen from among the present board of directors.

The timber is located in the Black creek drainage, tributary of Little river, about 40 miles east of Roseburg.

The North Umpqua Timber company bid $6.30 per thousand for fir and pine; $1.15 per thousand for red cedar, and $1.05 for hemlock. The timber will be logged for the Youngs Bay Lumber company, Roseburg.

The company will utilize the present White creek logging roads and will have to construct only an additional 3-4-mile of new roads, said Nelson.

Martha Bierman, 44, Roseburg, was arrested Thursday by sheriff's deputies on a charge of lewd cohabitation, reported Sheriff O. T. "Bud" Carter. Upon arraignment in justice court Friday, she asked to see an attorney. She was released upon posting of $300 bail, said Justice of Peace Geddes.

Secret Diary Had Information On Army Generals

WASHINGTON, July 23—(AP)—A secret diary figured prominently in the Senate's "five percent" probe today with a hint it gave up data partly responsible for suspension of two top army procurement officers.

The bulky, loose-leaf book belonged to James V. Hunt, one-time army colonel named by a businessman as the one to whom he paid $1,000 for help in seeking a government contract.

Senate investigators talked guardedly of the diary. But Senator Hoye (D-N. C.) indirectly acknowledged that it contained the names of the suspended major generals and that data from the diary's pages partly led to their suspensions.

The two suspended army officers are Maj. Gens. Herman Feldman, the quartermaster general, and Alden H. Walt, chief of the chemical corps. Army Secretary Gordon Gray relieved them of duty temporarily, saying they had failed to exhibit judgment "expected of persons in their positions."

What touched off the investigation by Senator Hoye's Senate expenditures subcommittee was the disclosure by Paul Grindle, a Massachusetts manufacturer, that he had entered into a 5 percent contract with Hunt for government business Hunt might turn up.

Grindle was quoted in a copyrighted story by the New York Herald Tribune as saying Hunt told him he had influence with Maj. Gens. Feldman, Walt and Harry H. Vaughan, military aide of President Truman. Hunt has denied he ever tried to sell his influence.

National Grange Master Dislikes Farm Programs

PORTLAND, July 23—(AP)—National Grange Master Albert S. Goss, in Oregon to visit a brother, said today the farm organization doesn't like either the Brannan or the Aiken farm programs.

Goss said a flexible two-price system, adaptable to different commodities on loan, allocation and subsidy basis, was favored. He said a bipartisan board could administer the plan to assure fair prices for agricultural products and apportion among them the losses from surpluses.

The Washington, D. C., spokesman for the big rural organization said milk controls in some states illustrated what the Grange had in mind.

He said dairymen are guaranteed a minimum price on drinking milk, but share losses on surplus supplies used in manufacturing of other consumer commodities.

He spoke against subsidies generally and said it was "part of the program for a welfare state."

Douglas County Makes Bond Quota

Douglas county barely squeezed by its quota in the Opportunity Saving Bond campaign.

E. C. Sammons, state advisory chairman, announcing that Oregon had over-subscribed its quota, reported Douglas county sales amounting $228,009 for the period of the campaign, the amount representing 100.1 percent of the assigned quota.

Oregon, as a whole, had total E bond sales amounting to $10,955,066, over-subscribing its assigned quota by $1,165,056 or 11 percent.

Holdings of savings bonds in Oregon now total in excess of $500,000,000 Sammons reports. He terms the savings, "stored-up purchasing power representing an insurance policy covering business against any future poor times."

Churchill Says Labor Party Bids Bankruptcy

west of the iron curtain has made a better postwar comeback than Britain—even beaten Germany and Italy.

Churchill told his listeners the cure for this country's condition is to "return to a system which provides incentives for effort, self-denial, initiative and good housekeeping."

And he promised that the conservatives will apply the cure if they are re-elected to power in the next general election, which must be held between now and mid-1950.

All 40,000 tickets for the soccer arena of this midland's industrial city were sold out for Churchill's address, which was billed as the major opening gun of the election campaign.

Wolverhampton, a sprawling community of 133,000, is 15 miles from the steel center of Birmingham.

The statement pledges to halt socialism at home and communism the world over.

Myrtle Creek Sewerage Plan Presented State

Plans for a sewage disposal system at Myrtle Creek were taken to a meeting of the State Sanitary authority in Portland Friday by James McGinty, the city attorney.

McGinty represented Myrtle Creek's mayor and city council, who had been ordered to appear in mass to show cause why they should not be charged with stream pollution.

When Mayor Leo Sanders protested that the expense would be too great for the entire council to go, he was informed that it would not be necessary for all to appear as long as the city was adequately represented.

McGinty took with him a copy of a preliminary plan for a sewer system and plant layout designed by James R. Daugherty, Roseburg, retained by Myrtle Creek as city engineer.

The plan is based on a complete topographic survey of the city. The proposed sewerage system covers the platted and populated areas inside the present corporate boundaries and provides for extensions into sections which may be annexed in the future.

A sewage disposal plant would be located at the junction of Myrtle creek and the South Umpqua river. The location, says Daugherty, is most advantageous topographically and strategically being both isolated and available for the purpose. Effluent from the plant would be discharged into the river, safely downstream from the city's water pumping station.

Samuel W. Bayless, 79 Passes In Portland

Gravestone services will be held at the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Myrtle Creek Sunday, July 24, at 2 p. m., for Samuel Whitcomb Bayless, 79, former resident of Douglas county, who died at Emanuel hospital in Portland July 21 from injuries suffered when he was struck by a light truck while he was crossing a Portland street July 17. Arrangements are in charge of the Long & Orr Mortuary. Vault interment will follow the services.

Mr. Bayless came to Roseburg from Tennessee in 1890 and moved to Myrtle Creek in 1896, engaging in wholesale and retail enterprises until 1917, at which time he moved to Vancouver, Wash. Later he resided at Klamath Falls and Astoria before moving to Portland, where he had made his home for the past two years. Mrs. Bayless died in 1927.

He is survived by three sons and a daughter, Drew W. Bayless, Portland; Kenneth Bayless, Medford; Wayne Bayless, Washington, Wash.; and Mrs. Albert W. Phillips, Vancouver, Wash. He is also survived by six grandchildren.

Funeral services were held in Portland today and the body will be brought to Roseburg following rites there.

Taft said he may back an amendment sponsored by Senator McCarran (D-Nev) which would tie up $50,000,000 in ECA funds for loans to Spain.

He will support, Taft said, a cutting $74,000,000 off ECA's spending program for last April May and June.

Deadline Is Set For Pulp Mills To End Pollution

PORTLAND, July 23.—(AP)—The state sanitary authority has set Dec. 31, 1951, as the deadline for five Willamette valley pulp and paper mills to stop polluting the river. The alternative is to shut down their plants.

The deadline voted last night was set to coincide with the expected completion of a new $15,000,000 sewage disposal system for the City of Portland.

Members of the authority also reloaded their legal guns to hurry valley towns along on the job of installing other municipal sewage purification plants.

Mills affected by the decision are the West Linn and Lebanon plants of the Crown Zellerbach Corp.; Publishers' Pulp and Paper company at Oregon City; Spaulding Pulp and Paper company at Newberg and the Oregon Pulp and Paper company at Salem.

Attorney General George Neuner attended the session and was asked to review the written pollution abatement orders before they are issued to the five industrial mills.

Sanitary Engineer Curtis M. Everts Jr. said there no longer exists a valid reason for delaying installation of equipment that will purify liquid wastes now being dumped into the river.

Blaine Hallock reminded the authority members they might as well expect a court test of the anti-pollution regulatory law.

RECKLESS DRIVER CHARGED

Crowd Watches Ape And Panther Battle To Death

SPOKANE, Wash., July 23.—(AP)—The cousin of Gargantua, a big, 300-pound gorilla, was whipped last night in a raging two-hour battle with a black panther and finally killed by bullets from his trainer's gun.

The panther, ape and a 600-pound lion were being exhibited in separate compartments of a large cage at a traveling wild animal show when the cat slipped under a gate into the gorilla's 6x8 foot section.

Before a crowd of nearly 400, the beasts locked in a fight to the death while the lion roared continuously in the adjoining compartment.

The panther slashed, ripped and chewed as the ape struck sledgehammer blows with his massive arms. Attendants tried vainly to separate the crazed beasts. Finally trainer Rudy Smith shot and killed the gorilla, one of whose arms was nearly severed at the shoulder.

Not until meat was tossed to the cat could the ape's carcass be pulled from the cage. Chloroform-soaked rags helped quiet the frenzied survivor, which escaped with severe slashes about the head and shoulders.

The show, operating out of San Diego, Calif., and playing at a nearby lake resort, was closed last night after the battle. Al Meyers, manager, said the gorilla had been purchased about 18 months ago from the Fleischman zoo at Pasadena, Calif., and was valued at $2,200. He said it was Gargantua's cousin.

The gate under which the panther crawled apparently was left unlocked, Meyers said, after the cage was cleaned yesterday.
