

College Stars Due To Battle Chiefs Friday

California Mohawks To Present Aggregation Of Potential Pro Talent

Roseburg Umpqua Chiefs have another battle on their hands Friday night at Finlay field, when they meet the California Mohawks, an all-star aggregation of California college ball players.

Every man on the team is a bright-light on his alumnus's baseball roster, and the combination of talented players is one to make any mentor's mouth water.

Coach Pete Belden of Fresno State heads the group—as powerful a team as ever came off the campus—or, in this case, camp.

In the infield, Theodore (Sonny) Adkinson from college of Pacific will be stationed at first. A southpaw, Ted finished the season at COP with a sizzling .445 average.

Either Frankie Oneta of Fresno State or Roy Parker from the University of California will begin at second base.

Donald McCarthy of San Francisco's Dons will cover shortstop. Coach Belden said Don is a young, hustling ballplayer who is always thinking and starts double plays without bobbling. Don hits at a .330 clip.

Wallace Kincaid covers the hot corner. A Whittier college lad, this combination third sacker and pitcher larrups the horsehide at a fast .361. Wally is tall and rangy and covers third like a blanket, according to Belden.

In left field, Johnny Hughes of Southwestern university in Los Angeles hits .350. He also plays first base, played basketball for Wyoming U., where he plans to return and finish school.

Other outfielders include Kenneth Chandler, a .341 hitter, from Whittier college, where he made all-Southern California Intercollegiate Conference as a first baseman last season. This year he moved to the outfield.

Dick Cesarin, San Mateo college, may turn pro after this trip. He's hit nine homers, leads the college conference game hitting with .536, made all-league high school team prior to college and is a long-ball hitter.

Leonard Cahen, San Francisco State college, batting .357, will return to school next fall.

Paul Bryeans is scheduled to catch. He leads Southern California Intercollegiate conference in hitting, with a .488. He's strong-armed, a fine pro prospect but says he'll finish school first.

Strong Pitching Staff
Pitchers include Walter Clayton, San Francisco State, won nine, lost four; also plays first and shortstop.

Jack Welton, Fresno State, won 10, lost one. He's a big right hander, throws a good curve and is a hard hitter. A definite pro prospect.

Don Wilson, Whittier college ace right hander, won 11, lost none. Wilson has earned a run average of 1.98, has not lost a college game in two years and is a work horse of the first water. Wilson won 21, lost three in summer ball with Gardena Yanks.

Manager Earl Sargent announces all night games, with the exception of donkey baseball, scheduled for Sunday, July 31, will start at 8:30 in the fu-

Banks Defeats Albany In Semi-Pro Ball Tourney

PORTLAND, July 27—(AP)—Albany, defending champion in the state semi-pro baseball tournament, took a 5 to 3 beating in an extra inning game with Banks last night.

It didn't put Albany out of the running, however, since the tourney is a double elimination affair.

Portland Firemen, though, did go out. Verboort won, 3 to 2, and it was the Firemen's second loss of the tournament.

In last night's other game, Archer Blower of Portland defeated Odell, 2 to 1.

Only the donkey baseball game is listed for the old time of 8 o'clock.

Sargent revealed that players cannot arrive here earlier, as many of them do not get off from work until late and long traveling distances make it necessary to hold the game a half hour later.
