Many people love it and some fear it. And a lot of folks pay money to go and see it.

This sick thing is the theater, the fabulous invalid. The theater has had more doctors than any hypochondriac, in-

There are a lot of things wrong with the theater. It suffers from diseases that range from low blood pressure in some seasons to high prices in any season. And I am one of those who admire the patient but would sure like to see the old girl cured.

I don't expect this to happen in my time, as I am a restrained optimist. Part of this is probably pure personal pique. For exam-ple, I met a fellow the other night ple. I met a fellow the other night who bragged he had been to see "South Pacific" twice, whereas I, a citizen of average moral cunning and still two jumps ahead of Section 77-B of the Bankruptcy act, am yet foreign to this production except via musical recordings of Ezio Pinza's enchanted evening with Mary Martin.

It isn't ast I Lean't set a county and the production of the production

It isn't as if I can't get a cou-ple of ducats to this particular musical show, because I can, I have been promised them—for the usual box office price—by the vice-presidents of two theatrical unions and the head of a New Jersey vitamin factory who once met Miss Martin on a picnic in Texas.

The only catch is that I have a three-year apartment lease. By the time the tickets come through I may be living in Bangkok. Siam. Would I feel like spending a long weekend flying here for just one evening of enchantment across a crowded room? Maybe it would be pleasanter to lie in Bangkok sipping a rum frappe—I always drink rum frappes lying down—and listening to temple gongs. The only catch is that I have Muscle and Money Needed This is what I think is the big trouble with the theater today.

Vets Victims Of Schooling Racket, Federal Charge

WASHINGTON. Aug 2—(P)—
The veterans administration is planning an attack on practices under the veterans education program which it says approach racketeering.

H.V. Stirling, the agency's assistant administration, said that some of the 1.400 new private schools catering to veterans which have opened in the last years border on being rackets. Stirling said one means of abuse is through actively soliciting the enrollment of veterans who have completed governmental courses elsewhere but who have not exhausted all their benefits.

have not exhausted all their benefits.

He said this practice may throw the whole veterans educational program out of balance.

Mounting unemployment is a factor. Veterans can get from $75 to $120 a month subsistence while they attend classes.

"New schools spring up in sections where jobs are scarce, although congress never intended the educational rights as a relief or bonus." Stirling said.

Stirling said the VA has no quarrel with the old established schools, or with any school doing an honest job for the veterans.

"But the fact remains" he

Farmers Charge Waste In State Aeronautics Fund

LEBANON, Aug. 2 (A) Oregon flying farmers have post-poned until Aug. 6 a meeting planned to air their charges that the state board of aeronautics and its director have been wasting funds on useless projects. The funds on useless projects. The meeting will be in Portland.

The accusations were made public by the Oregon Flying farmers, the Oregon Sportsmen Pilots, and the Aerial Spray and Dust operators.

In letters to Gov. Douglas Metay the Aerial Spray Metay the Metay Charles of the Aerial Spray and Dust operators.

In letters to Gov. Douglas Me-kay, the airmen accused the board of "mismanagement and flagrant waste of our money." They challenged the qualifica-tions of aeronautics director W. M. termined by wheat growers, E. Harvey Miller, chairman of the Oregon State PMA committee, said today.

"If growers this year plant within their wheat acreage allotments, they will produce in accordance with expected requirements and we won't be saddled with more wheat than we can sell. In this way, it wouldn't be necessary next year to consider using quotas, which provide marketing controls through penalties on excess marketings."

Miller pointed out that quotas must be approved by two-thirds of the growers voting a referendum before they may be used.

Quotas will not be used in marketing the 1950 wheat crop, according to a recent announcement by the secretary of agriculture, because the total indicated wheat supply is below the level at which the law says quotas must be proclaimed. At the same time, the secretary announced a 1950 national wheat acreage allotment of just under 69 million acres. This would be a reduction of 14 million acres, or almost 17

Miller explained, because the U.S. has reached the point where there simply is not a demand for all the wheat our a demand for all the wheat our farmers can produce. Even though exports may total several times the prewar level, adjustments are still needed in the amount of wheat produced. During each of the past six years, wheat production has exceeded a billion bushels. Before 1944 only in 1915 had the U.S. produced a billion bushel crop.

Farmers will be notified of their individual farm wheat allotments in the near future, Mr. Miller said that an important point to remember is that only those growers who cooperate with their allotments will be entitled to Government price supports on their 1950 wheat crop.

American military government sources said Maj, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, now chief of staff for American army forces in Europe, will succeed Howley. This would be a return to the American oblicy of having military government and troop command posts held by a single officer in Berlin. His request for release, Howley explained, is based on a number of factors. He is not a member of the regular army or of the state department, which is about to take over American supervision in Germany. He has spent the past nine years away from business and has had four years of duty in Berlin.
