Opposition To Timber Access Road Funds Identified

EUGENE, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Opposition to appropriation funds for timber access roads has come in part from the West Coast Lumbermen's Assn. and the National Assn. of Lumber Manufacturers, R. G. Titus, executive vice president for Western Forest Industries Assn., told an industry meeting in Eugene Tuesday.

"Ignorance of the aims of the proposal has caused the opposition," the Portland executive declared. "Many congressmen have felt that this measure was another out-of-the-pocket expenditure, not the investment it actually will prove to be. The WFLA has found that the West Coast Lumbermen's Assn. and the National Assn. of Lumber Manufacturers has opposed such a program."

He said that at present congressmen are looking critically at all appropriations and the industry will have to sell roads as an investment which will bring dollar returns.

With small individual timber supplies dwindling, Titus pointed out, the industry must look to public-owned lands for its supply. The association, he added, has always objected to cuts in road funds and western states senators have been of some aid in restoring these funds.

KDND DIAL-LOG

Charles Shaw, who is subbing for Bill Henry while the latter vacations until Aug. 29 from his Mutual-Don Lee week-day "Bill Henry and the News" programs (6:55-7 p. m. PST), is probably the only radio reporter who ever literally sat on the lap of the person he was interviewing. It happened in Paris when Shaw interviewed the Polish president-in-exile, Stanislaw Mikolajczyk. Several weeks before, the jeep in which he was riding with other war correspondents was run over by a Sherman tank. Shaw received a broken leg—and in order for him to get close enough to the microphone for the interview, he rested his castbound leg on Mr. Mikolajczyk's lap for the entire broadcast interview.

How William "B. Mike" Moyes of the Portland Oregonian got hold of this one, we don't know, but in his Wednesday column, he stated that "Ester Fjildseth, head waitress at the Umpqua hotel in Roseburg for 20 years, is visiting her native Moole, Norway, but she's homesick. Wishes ex-customers would send her a card, care a Mr. Odgaard at Moole." Good old Ester . . . how we miss her, too.

See by the papers that Miss Joyce Sheffield, last year's "Miss Roseburg," and Robert Brigham, both of Sutherland—have purchased a thing called a marriage license . . . and, just by a strange coincidence, these two have been selected to appear on tonight's "Here Comes the Bride" show at 7:30. You'll enjoy this couple's personal interview with KRNR's Del McKay—and you'll be just as delighted as they with the terrific selection of gifts they'll receive from local merchants on the show. Tune in "Hopalong Cassidy" at 8 . . . "The Fishing & Hunting Club of the Air" at 8:30. "The George Mayer Trio" at 9:30 . . . and a special "All-Star Game Preview" at 10:30 tonight.

Proposed Portland Punchboard Ban Loses

PORTLAND, Aug. 11.—(AP)—Mayor Dorothy Lee's attempt to ban all punchboards in Portland went down to defeat in the city council Wednesday.

The council tied, 2 to 2, on the proposal, and that tie automatically defeated it.

Her measure would have outlawed the so-called "question and answer" punchboards, which award prizes for giving the correct response to a question. She contended merchants were buying license stamps for that type of boards, but using them in illegal gambling boards.
