Cops Fail, Doctor Wins In Effort To End Siege

The year gas. A short time later, he offered to come out only if Dr. Chrus Reynolds, a Tacoma physician, was called. Dr. Reynolds arrived about 1:15 a. m. and within a few minutes had talked Davis into putting on his clothes and going down to the county jail with him. Reynolds said he presumed Davis asked for him because he had treated him three months ago for a broken arm. Coroner Paul Mellinger said this morning that an autopsy will be performed to determine the cause of Mrs. Stone's death. He said there is evidence she may have died of natural causes brought on "by too much partying."

Old Offender

Sheriff Lee Croft said his records show that Davis has been jailed five times for assault. The first time was in June, 1930, at Holmesburg, Penn., where he was booked on a felonious assault charge. On assault charges, he has served a total of 2 and one half years imprisonment, been paroled twice and placed on probation once. The jail terms were served in Holmesburg, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., Ridley Park, Penn., and Chester, Penn. Davis is 5 feet 9 inches tall and weighs 197 pounds. His arm was broken three months ago when he scuffled with Tacoma police officers who attempted to arrest him for being drunk and disorderly.

"Gone With Wind" Author Drunken Driver's Victim

right leg. Her face was badly bruised. Police charged the taxi driver—28-year-old Hugh D. Gravett—with drunken driving, speeding on the wrong side of the street. Her husband, victim of a heart ailment for several years, said he was about a step behind his wife. Otherwise he, too, would have been injured. Miss Mitchell, 43, started out to be a newspaper feature writer and wound up by penning a novel that literally swept the world. "Gone With Wind," her only book, has been translated into a dozen foreign languages and has sold nearly 6,000,000 copies.

SPREE DRAWS JAIL

S. P. Dining Car Head, With Noted Record, To Retire

Harry A. Butler, head of Southern Pacific's dining car department in Oregon and six other western states, who has attended to the meal time wants of millions of the travelers in his 37 years with the railroad, has announced he will retire from active service September 1.

Butler climaxed his career by performing a near miracle of catering during the war years when Southern Pacific served more military meals than any other three railroads in the country. Many times, because of the shortage of help, he had to recruit dining car crews from among experienced military passengers.

Starting with the railroad as a clerk in 1902 and serving in Portland at various times, Butler rose to head the department whose employes number more than 2,100 men and women, and whose dining cars travel more than 15 million miles a year. Since he became manager in 1932, an estimated 185 million meals have been served under his jurisdiction.

Butler has been responsible for originating ideas which have become standard practice on railroads and in restaurants throughout the nation, and even beyond its borders. In 1933 he originated "meals select," the practice of serving a complete meal for the price of the entree, somewhat earlier he introduced the now famous Southern Pacific salad bowl, and casserole, from either of which the passenger is privileged to take all he can consume. In the White House is a recipe for baked trout requested by President Franklin Roosevelt, after the chief executive had requested a repeat meal of Butler's creation.

Tito Target Of New Soviet Denunciation

reports as attempted intimidation, but warned he was ready to fight any invader.) Imperialism Bogey Used Referring to the present nature of Yugoslav-Russian relations, the Soviet note said: "That certain strong ties bind the Yugoslav government or chief persons in the Yugoslav government with the camp of foreign capitalists. 'The Yugoslav government more and more is joining up with imperialistic circles (the west) against the U.S.S.R. and is in a bloc with them. 'That the Soviet government can no longer consider the Yugoslav government as an ally.' The Russians published a letter from Yugoslav Foreign Minister Kardelj dated April 20, 1947, in which he offered variations of the minimum Yugoslav demands on Austria. In essence, these reduced Yugoslav's claims to a small piece of territory containing two electric power stations.

Blame Dodging Charge

The Soviet note charged the Yugoslav government was afraid to bear the responsibility for sacrificing national interests, but wanted instead to have the Soviet Union play that role. Russia refused to be cast as a "political swindler," the note said.

Yugoslavia's communist government, which was intimately associated with the other communist regimes of eastern Europe in the immediate postwar period, was expelled from the Moscow-directed Cominform (Communist International Information Bureau) a little more than a year ago. The Kremlin accused Tito and his followers of nationalistic deviations from orthodox communism.

Russia and the countries in her sphere then put an economic squeeze on Yugoslavia.

Deering Millikin Research Trust, of Greenwich, Conn., had been referred to Hunt as a man who could help him get some research contracts for the trust. Flanagan said that in the fall of 1948 Armitage met with Hunt in Washington and was given a list of names which Hunt said he should check as references. These included: Maj. Gen. Herman Steelman, then deputy quartermaster general; Maj. Gen. Alden H. Watt, chief of the army chemical corps; Stuart Symington, secretary of air; Eugene Zuckert, assistant secretary for air; Senator Styles Bridges (R-N.H.), Col. Paul Young, vice president of Air Craft Engine and Parts Corp., and a number of others.

Flanagan said Armitage contacted several of these including Steelman and that Armitage had made a notation that Steelman said Hunt was "O. K." A similar nod of approval, Flanagan said, was noted as coming from Zuckert.

committee said they realize the importance of constructing sewer lines in West Roseburg, but they feel this may be accomplished more quickly and at less cost by coming into the city. It was also pointed out that the state returns approximately $7.25 per person to the city in the form of liquor and gasoline tax revenues. An additional revenue estimated at $10,000 a year would be obtained for the city in this manner by annexing the large suburban area population.

The annexation committee includes, besides Feldkamp, Edward M. Murphy, Paul Davis, R. C. Gile, W. C. Carr, Keith Bryant, Sam K. McLaughlin, W. H. "Doc" Carter and Mrs. E. W. Carter. Those who attended an initial meeting last week to discuss annexation included Paul Abeel, Carlo A. Faigant, J. W. Williams, Feldkamp, Murphy and Bollman.

Juke Box Music Routs Thief; He Leaves Watch

SEATTLE, Aug. 12—(AP)—The "Beer Barrel Polka" routed a burglar from a Sammamish dance resort Wednesday night. A juke box served as a musical burglar alarm. The prowler set off the music box while trying to get the money out of it. Neighbors, awakened by the strident strains, called sheriff's officers. They found a wrist watch on the piano. Officers said it was the burglar's—left behind in his hurried departure.

SHOW IT TO YOURSELF!

Have you ever had the desire to browse around an empty home without our "sales talk" ringing in your ears? Then drive up to the lovely home at 380 Terrace Avenue (turn right at the end of the pavement off East Lane) any time this week. The doors will be open from 9 a. m. to 8:30 p. m. There will be no one there to show it to you. Stay 15 minutes or all day if you want to see how it would feel to live there. There are two bedrooms plus room in the full basement for you to plan with. There are also two fireplaces and a living and dining room. But, see it for yourself. The owner wants $14,750, though he realizes he probably won't get that much and he must sell immediately! When you have seen it, call us and tell us what you'll give for it. You can practically name your own terms.
