

Klamath Pine Area Purchased

KLAMATH FALLS, Aug. 19.—(AP) — Deeds and other documents filed Thursday officially record a 28,000-acre sale of about 28,000 acres of grazing and lodgepole pine land in northern Klamath county to the St. Helen's Pulp and Paper company.

W. Arnold, Portland, who in turn sold it to the St. Helens company, which is expected to harvest a large volume of lodgepole pine for pulp purposes.

Internal revenue stamps indicated a consideration of around $100,000.

Another step in the transaction involved return of the land to the Liskey interests for grazing and mining rights, only, the lease to extend 99 years.

The area is near Chemult, where the St. Helens company has been taking pine for pulp for the last year or two.

Bean Field Dedication Dated By Church Group

BELLINGHAM, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Dedication of the Lord's Acre, a 3-acre bean field cultivated by the Advent Christian church at Sumas from which more than eight tons of beans have been harvested so far this season will be held Saturday.

Congregation and friends will pause in their labors for a dedication service at 1 p.m.

The Rev. Wilsey McKnight, 53-year-old pastor who came to the church last September from Kansas City, Mo., brought the idea of the novel church project from the Middle West. A berry farmer donated the land and the church members did all the work.

Competitive Culinary Skill By Members Of 4-H Will Highlight County Fair This Month

4-H GIRLS TO VIE AT FAIR—These scenes, taken last year at the 4-H summer achievement day, will be typical of the county fair, Aug. 25, 26 and 27. The girls are participating in the bread baking contest. Other contests for cookery club members at the fair will be cake baking, dollar dinner, and dairy foods demonstration. Four-H members will also enter cookery exhibits. (Staff pictures.)

Cooking club members of the 4-H are looking forward to the forthcoming county fair, because it will give them a chance to display their culinary skill.

This year's fair, the first in 37 years, will be confined to 4-H and Future Farmers of America competition. And of course, among the highlights will be the cooking and baking contests.

The fair is Aug. 25, 26, and 27, in the new large exhibit building erected this summer at the county fairgrounds. A large share of floor space has been allotted to 4-H exhibits.

Members may enter exhibits in the following classes, according to Frank von Borstel, county club agent:

Cooking I—One of the following groups: (a) four vanilla drop cookies; (b) four ice box cookies; (c) four plain muffins; (d) four cup cakes (not to be frosted).

Cooking II—One of the following (none are to be frosted): (a) sponge or sunshine cake without baking powder; (b) sponge or sunshine cake with baking powder; (c) angel food cake.

Cooking III—One loaf of white bread.

Cooking IV—Scrap book as described in project book.

Camp Cookery—Four baking powder biscuits.

Ribbons will be awarded and premiums have been promised, said Von Borstel. Also, state fair, or purple awards, will be selected from these exhibits.

All cookery members are eligible to enter the cookery demonstrations. Each team (two members) or individual should bring all equipment needed and the demonstration should last between eight and 15 minutes.

Special awards will be made in each division of the cookery demonstration.

To each member of the best food preparation or food preservation demonstration team will go $7.50 toward expenses on a trip to the state fair.

To the best food preservation or food preparation demonstration in which at least 25 percent of the sweetening agent is honey

there will be special cash awards. Subject is Optional

Any subject relating to the preparation, manufacture, or use of dairy products in the home may be selected for a demonstration in the individual and team dairy foods demonstration.

This may include preparation of fresh or evaporated milk; milk drinks, such as malted milk; milk dishes such as custards, cream, and cheese pies, cream puffs and salads, and/or other dishes that emphasize the use of milk and dairy products; pasteurization of milk; the making and handling of butter, cheese, cottage cheese, ice cream, and other milk products.

Awards will include a gold medal to the champion individual demonstrator and gold medal for each member of the high placing team demonstration.

Competition will be keen in the dollar dinner, bread, and cake baking contests.

In the dollar dinner contest, first place awards in the junior and senior divisions will be $10, second place awards $5. In the cake baking contest, first award will be an all-expense trip to the state fair at Salem. In the bread baking contest, 4-H summer school scholarships for 1950 will be awarded the first place winners in the junior and senior divisions.
