

New Buildings Ready For School Opening, Oakland

Two new buildings are in readiness for the opening of school at Oakland Sept. 12. The new, four-room unit grade school building will house two divisions each of the first two grades. Third to eighth grade classes, inclusive, will be in the old school building, while all high school classes will be transferred to the new high school.

Both new buildings are of punice block and brick veneer construction, with glass block windows. The rooms in the old building have been enlarged to meet standardization requirements.

Superintendent Millard L. Gilbreath said school will open Sept. 12 and will dismiss before noon the first day. The buses will make their usual run, picking up pupils at the regular time in the morning.

New Faculty Members

Changes and additional teachers account for six new faculty members at Oakland this year. Jean Hedberg and Doris Coad have been added to the primary department. Alvin Hoerauf will teach the fifth grade and instruct physical education and athletics in the elementary school. Lowell S. Olsen, eighth grade teacher, will also act as principal.

In the high school, James Embree, graduate of the University of Oregon, will teach science classes. Lois Larson will instruct in mathematics and girls' physical education. Amy Ware will teach home making and English. Both of the latter are also from the University of Oregon.

The new high school allows for expansion of its program, by furnishing an up-to-date science department, a modern library, study hall, and a complete home making room, said Gilbreath. Five classrooms will permit a standard high school schedule.

All To Be Observed

All parents must observe the state requirements in regard to entering first grade pupils, said Gilbreath. No pupil will be allowed to start school unless he reaches his sixth birthday on or before Nov. 15. Parents must present their children's birth certificates on entering.

Arrangements are being made to have all first grade and ninth grade pupils to take their compulsory physical examination during the first week of school. Parents so desiring may have their Anthony said this ruling "is vague and indefinite as to its possible effects." Judge McLaughlin declined to clarify this part of the opinion for a reporter yesterday and Anthony said he could give no authoritative statement on what the court meant until the order enforcing the judges' decision is drafted.

Grand Larceny Charge Faced As Fire Sequel

George Pichette, 40, has been arrested at Pendleton on a charge of grand larceny. State Police Sgt. Lyle Harrell reported today.

He said Pichette, whom he described as an ex-convict of Alcatraz, was arrested in connection with the investigation growing out of the recent burning of Ruth's El Rancho at Wilbur.

Pichette is to be returned to Roseburg soon, said the officer.

family doctor make the examination before school starts and present the certificate on entering the first day.

High school students not previously enrolled are to register and make out their study schedule today, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. at the office of the high school building. This is important, as the entire high school schedule will be run through the first day and attendance taken.

Students not entirely completing their schedules last spring are requested to appear to finish their schedule.

Legion Offers Aid In Applying For Insurance Pay

All veterans eligible for National Service Life Insurance dividends are urged by Umpqua post, American Legion Commander William E. Mills to fill out the necessary application blanks as quickly as possible.

The post's home at 118 So. Kane street, around the corner from the Safeway store, is open nightly from 7 to 10 p. m. to assist veterans.

Also, he said, the real estate office of Roy O. Young, service officer, on Cass street has been made available to veterans for this service daily from 9 a. m. until 6 p. m.

There is reportedly a shortage of application blanks in Oregon, so veterans are urged to fill out their forms as quickly as possible, in order not to have their dividends delayed longer than necessary.

Many of these dividends will run in excess of $100, said Mills, and it is to the advantage of the veteran to make his application.

little damage. The raids terrorized the inhabitants, however, and indignation against the act seems to have added new recruits to the rebellion.

In a lightning reverse play, the planes themselves were seized at Camiri by the insurgents; the government troops they were sent to pick up had deserted to the rebels.

Reports yesterday said the garrisons in the extreme north had also gone over to the rebels, which, if true, spread the revolt countrywide.

Labor unions, which normally figure prominently in unrest here, have declared a policy of strict neutrality in what they call a "purely political" fight.

The present government was elected following a violent uprising in 1945. It governs 4,000,000 persons living in this landlocked country high in the Andes mountains.

Trees, Wall Damaged By Runaway Trailer

The trailer portion of a logging truck broke loose early today and came at a fast rate of speed down Winchester street, crashing into a stone wall and coming to rest on a lawn, after breaking two shade trees.

The report reaching the News-Review stated the trailer crashed against the rock-lined wall in front of the Walter Schoenleber place at 1039 Winchester street.

It continued onto the yard of Charles A. Brand at 1027 Winchester, where it struck and damaged two large shade trees and tore up a small portion of the lawn before coming to a halt.

Operator of the truck was not learned.

Gen. Vaughan Denies Taking Fees For Deals

president, he said, because "I didn't think it was necessary."

Vaughan came in for rugged questioning from members of the senate subcommittee looking into the question of whether there has been improper influence in letting of government contracts.

Much of it revolved about his relations with Maragon, who stood on his constitutional rights and refused to tell the committee last week about his financial affairs.

An accountant had testified that Maragon banked $119,000 during a five-year period in which he had said his income was about $30,000.

"Helpful To Maragon"

Vaughan acknowledged he had been helpful to Maragon from time to time, but he swore he had never authorized Maragon to "represent, or speak, for me or the White House."

Under a fire of questions from McCarthy, Vaughan denied specifically that he ever told the state department that President Truman was "personally interested" in a trip Maragon proposed to make to Europe in 1945 for a perfume company—the same company which gave Vaughan seven home freezers for himself and friends that year.

Vaughan took responsibility for a letter dated Aug. 3, 1945, addressed to Mrs. Ruth Shipley of the State department passport division, and seeking permission for Maragon to make the trip.

But he said President Truman "never heard of this." He said the president "was not interested in any trip that might be taken by Maragon, or any other detail of Maragon's life."

Asked by O'Connor whether the State department that the president was interested was the result of second or third hand conversations.

Notation Quoted

Senator O'Connor (D-Md.) confronted Vaughan with a copy of the Aug. 3, 1945, letter, which bears the following notation below:

"Col. Vaughan informed Mrs. Shipley that the president is personally interested in Maragon's trip to Italy."

The notation was written by one of Mrs. Shipley's assistants. Asked by O'Connor whether his financial records were available to the committee, Vaughan replied:

"Certainly."

For the most part, Vaughan answered questions in a pleasant voice but he showed irritation when McCarthy swung into questions about 1946 campaign funds and brought in the name of Frank Costello, reputed New York gambling chieftain.

McCarthy wanted to know if Maragon at any time had claimed that money he was giving Vaughan for 1946 campaign purposes came from Costello.

"Am I supposed to know Frank Costello?" Vaughan inquired. He puffed slowly at a long cigar. Costello Link Denied. Vaughan asked McCarthy to identify Costello and to say what bearing he had on the case.

McCarthy said: "Frank Costello is a rather famous—"

Vaughan interrupted: "Oh, the New York gangster."

He went on to say then that "I'm sure if Maragon had told me he got money from that individual I would have remembered it."

The going got a bit rough for Vaughan, too, over the question of his connection with efforts of the Tanforan (Calif.) race track to get scarce building materials in January 1948.

Vaughan acknowledged taking the case up with housing officials—who gave a permit for the materials—but he denied there was anything improper.

Vaughan explained: "I urged speed and a decision. I was making no request on how they acted."

Health Exams Await Canyonville Pupils

Physical health examinations will be given all children entering the first grade at the Canyonville school Thursday, Sept. 8.

Children should be accompanied by a parent bringing with them a urine specimen and a health record stating diseases and shots.

Boys will be examined between 9 and 9:30 a. m. and girls between 9:30 and 10 a. m. The examinations will be given by Dr. V. R. Kelsey and Dr. R. L. Falk. They will be making no request on how they acted.

James C. Richmond Passes State Bar Exam

James C. Richmond, Roseburg, was one of 104 law students who passed the star bar examination given at Salem July 12 and 13, the state supreme court announced today.

The Associated Press report stated that of the 137 who took the tests, 75 percent passed, which is an unusually high percentage. Those who passed will be admitted to law practice in formal ceremonies in the supreme court chambers next month.

Senate Drive To Slash Defense Funds Defeated

required Mr. Truman to chop from two to four and a half billion dollars from the estimated $45,000,000,000 he asked Congress to authorize for government spending this fiscal year, which started July 1.

Its defeat marked a hard-won victory for democratic leader Lucas who must run for re-election next year in Illinois.

It was a major setback for two southern democrats, Senators McClellan of Arkansas and Byrd of Virginia, and two top republican leaders, Senators Wherry of Nebraska and Taft of Ohio.

With the economy amendment out of the way, the Senate quickly defeated an anti-oleomargarine rider sponsored by Senator Wiley (R-Wis) and a last minute sentimentality-committee economy move by Senator Douglas (D-Ill.).

Then it sent the huge defense appropriation bill back to the House for action on senate changes slashing nearly $1,400,000,000 from the House-approved total.

Arms Aid Still At Issue

Senator Connally (D-Texas) proposed a compromise today in a bid for "overwhelming approval" of President Truman's $1,450,000,000 arms aid program.

The administration's foreign policy leader in the senate offered the plan to the combined foreign relations and armed services committees which are considering the arms bill.

He withheld details of the proposal, however, until a group of republican and democratic senators from both committees have had chance to study it.

Connally is head of the foreign relations group.

He told reporters that one of the things the compromise deals with is the amount to be provided for military aid to European nations in the Atlantic pact.

President Truman asked $1,160,990,000 for that purpose.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, top-ranking republican on the foreign relations committee, wants to hold it to an even $1,000,000,000.

Connally named himself and three other members of the combined committees to study the plan and report to the full group.

FIRE ALARM "DUD"

The Roseburg rural fire department was called to Winston for a reported fire Monday afternoon, but when the firemen arrived they found a man burning down an old shed on his property. The call had come from about a mile away, reported Fire Chief William E. Mills. The blaze was well under control, he said.

TWO DRUNKS JAILED

Judge Ira B. Riddle today reported the disposition of the following cases which appeared in Municipal court:

Clarence B. Johnson, 48, transient, and Mathew Kaivisto, 48, Roseburg, both pleaded guilty to charges of being drunk on the city's streets. They were committed to the city jail for ten days in lieu of payment of $20 fines.

Lee Marcus Russum, transient, was found guilty of vagrancy charges and committed for ten days, following trial. He pleaded not guilty Monday when arraigned before Judge Riddle.

his boat to reach the Gilkerson boy.

Screams of help brought Fred DeBolt, Lookingglass, another fisherman, who rowed across the rapids and upstream against the swift current, a distance of about four blocks, in time to reach young Gilkerson and his intended rescuer.

DeBolt pulled both persons from the water and ran ashore with the boy. He applied artificial respiration, then accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Carlson, brought the Gilkerson lad to the city fire station where the inhalator was applied.

Young Gilkerson was then taken to Mercy hospital, accompanied by Dr. J. E. Campbell. He was released later in the day and taken to his home where he is recovering from the near-drowning.

When asked about the two fetts, DeBolt would only say, "It's all in a day's work."

WAREHOUSE BURNS

SHERIDAN, Aug. 30—(AP)—A grain warehouse was destroyed by fire last night but firemen saved three nearby oil tanks and a sawmill.

During the fire, the city's street and home lights went out. Service was restored in about an hour.

The parade is the sole official Legion activity on this second day of the convention.

It was like New Year's on Times square last night.

Men and women by the thousands watched the traditional Legion funmaking. And they saw plenty of it.

Electric canes, water pistols, phony lobsters and lizards were shoved into the faces of passers-by who braved the hordes of grinning, shouting, jostling legionnaires.

The Legion's auxiliary got its four-day conclave under way yesterday. Mrs. Hubert A. Goode, Portland, Ore., the auxiliary commander, told the women delegates they should do "something" about the future of the nation.

"Too long have we exposed our children to the pox of communism without immunizing them with effective Americanism," she said.

The Raymond A. Garbarina Memorial post No. 1523, New York City, won the Legion's national drum and bugle corps championship.

St. Peter's Reconsecrated Because Of Suicide

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 30—(AP)—St. Peter's basilica was reconsecrated last night after a young Italian hurtled 170 feet to his death from the walk around the inner dome.

The dead man was identified as Luigi Galafate of Rome. His body landed near the golden-crusted high altar before praying pilgrims.

The massive doors of St. Peter's were quickly shut and Vatican gendarmes stood guard. Four hours later, St. Peter's was reconsecrated, in keeping with custom involving desecration of holy places.

Mons. Leone Gromier, canon of the altar of St. Peter's, poured holy oil on the high altar near where the body fell.

An Italian lawyer committed suicide in a leap from the inner dome last Nov. 17.

The ship that helps create jobs in Alaska

From Ketchikan on up the coast... in dozens of towns and cities in Alaska... people greet the tanker "M.S. Alaska Standard" with considerable affection. For, over the years, she's helped Alaskans develop thousands of jobs.

Regularly she loads a full cargo of petroleum products and takes them wherever they're needed... like some giant floating service station. She pokes her prow into rocky inlets to serve fish canneries, goes on up the coast a few miles to bring a new mine the lubricants it needs to work, stocks oil for fishermen so they no longer have to travel six or seven hundred miles to refuel when the salmon run is on.

In short, she helps both the coast and interior of Alaska develop its resources... just as the oil industry throughout all our country helps other industries grow and people work, produce and prosper.
