Public Fund Raised To Send Beauty To National Pageant

KELSO, Wash., Sept. 1—(AP)—The Longview-Kelso community opened hearts and pocketbooks last night to assure Libby Aldrich of Kelso that she will represent the state of Washington at the Atlantic City beauty pageant.

Almost 4,000 persons contributed dollars, dimes, and pennies to the fund at the Kelso Athletic park in a benefit performance entitled "Libby Aldrich Appreciation Night."

Miss Washington will leave Thursday on the maiden voyage of the strato-cruiser she christened earlier this summer. Mrs. Max Moore of Kelso, her chaperone, will accompany her on the flight from the Seattle-Tacoma airport.

A host of entertainers contributed their talents and the audience contributed $918 toward the fund that will buy plane tickets, pay expenses and help the dark haired Miss Washington fill out her wardrobe.

Following the successful show, the Kelso Chamber of Commerce and C. F. Lloyd Young of Seattle made a peace. The Seattle spokesman for the pageant committee conferred with the Chamber by telephone. He has been feuding and fussing with the local folks since it was revealed last week the pageant group could not make good on its financial promises to Libby.

Mrs. Moore, one time teacher of Miss Aldrich and also a friend and former teacher of Bebe Shopp, who won Miss America honors last year, said no entry in the national contest ever entered it under more adverse circumstances than did the local girl.

Old Church Set-Aside For Memorial Suggested

PORTLAND, Sept. 1—(AP)—A landmark church near Woodburn should be set aside as a memorial to the early settlers in Marks Prairie, a Union Pacific railroad official believes.

W. W. Morrison, passenger agent at Cheyenne, whose hobby is Oregon trail landmarks, saw the 75-year-old Rock Creek church for the first time this week.

He noted that although the building has been unused for 25 years, the benches, altar and organ are intact. A pioneer graveyard is nearby.

Chinese Reds Place Ban On Foreign News Agencies

SHANGHAI, Sept. 1—(AP)—The Communist military control commission announced today all foreign news agencies must cease the distribution of news in Shanghai tomorrow.

The order affects only the Associated Press and the British chamber of Commerce which had taken over the distribution for the Reuters News agency.

BURGLARY CONFESSED

WALLA WALLA, Sept. 1—(AP)—Dale (Cotton) Hastings of Eugene, Ore., who recently gave law enforcement officers a bad time by capering about the top of a grain elevator near Prescott, has confessed to a burglary at Eugene, sheriff's officers said last night.

Now serving a sentence here for destruction of property, Hastings will be returned to Eugene soon, officers said. They declined to give details of his confession.
