

Exonerated By FBI, Says Gen. Vaughan; Aid In Parole Of Black Marketer Denied

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. — (AP) — Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan told the Senate's five percent inquiry Wednesday he had been investigated by the FBI and had received a campaign contribution from a lawyer who talked to him about a pardon for a convicted liquor black marketer.

This testimony from President Truman's military aide high spotted a sometimes hectic session. Another dramatic development came when Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) withdrew an earlier statement expressing belief that Vaughan had not profited personally from any of his "deals."

Vaughan made clear he cooperated with the FBI in its investigation of a charge that he had accepted a bribe in an income tax fixing case.

And Vaughan's assistant at the White House, Col. C. J. Mara, said flatly the FBI had exonerated his boss.

Both Vaughan and Mara also denied under sharp questioning that the FBI scrutiny concerned a charge that Vaughan had taken money from liquor interests in return for efforts to get them more rationed grain.

As for the campaign contribution, Vaughan said he didn't think it "could have been over a couple of hundred dollars." And he denied it had any connection with the parole matter.

McCarthy named the liquor interests involved in the alleged reports as "Schenley" and "Costello." He said Frankie Costello, reputed New York gambling king pin; William Helms, horse owner and race track figure, and Phil Kastel are partners in a liquor concern.

Tuesday Vaughan had denied any knowledge that any of the Democratic campaign contributions he received came from Costello. He said he did get a contribution—he thought it was around $2,000—through Helms.

In the clemency case Vaughan said Attorney William H. Neblett called on him in the interest of Robert Gould of Cincinnati, serving six years in the liquor black market case.

"I don't think that had a thing to do with it, Senator," Vaughan testified when McCarthy asked him about a possible connection between the campaign contribution and the parole Gould finally got.

In fact, he said he only "thinks" Gould got a parole about a year later.

Shortly before the hearing recessed until tomorrow, McCarthy drew from Vaughan an acknowledgment that he bought a car for a friend, Mrs. Morris Cavannaugh of Spring Green, Wis.

McCarthy said it was an Oldsmobile purchased in 1947 and that it turned up in the black market 10 days later at a price of $3,500.

After the hearing, Schenley Distillers, Inc., issued this statement:

"General Vaughan never made any inquiry for us and was never paid anything by us, nor asked to do anything for us on grain or any other matter."

Korea, Fearing Russian Attack, Urges U. S. Aid

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. — (AP) — The ambassador of Korea appealed to President Truman Wednesday for military aid to help meet any possible attack by the Soviets.

Declaring "We are right on the spot," the ambassador, Dr. John Myun Chang, told newsmen that an attack on the new republic "appears most likely."

"We need very quick action by the United States," he said after a 15-minute conference with Mrs. Truman.

He told reporters that he had conveyed a message from his president asking arms and ammunition as quickly as possible.

"We feel that there might be some imminent danger of attack from the north and we should be well prepared for it," the ambassador went on. (The communists occupy northern Korea.)

"We have every high expectations of the passage of the military aid bill (now pending in the Senate). We want quick action on the part of the United States in supplying us arms and ammunition to the maximum degree of allocation. We feel we are right on the spot and entitled to prime consideration. There is no time to waste."

He said Korea felt President Truman is "doing his utmost to get all these things done and comply with our request."

Trade Agreement Fight At Present Session Looms

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. — (AP) — President Truman and his democratic high command Wednesday discarded suggestions of a stopgap extension of the reciprocal trade agreement law. They elected to fight for the full program at this session.

Senator majority leader Lucas and Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate finance committee announced the decision after a conference with President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson at the White House.

They said that the president felt and that the others agreed that a compromise extending the trade agreement act until the next session is not feasible.

Lucas said legislation to review the reciprocal trade agreement act for three years will be called up in the Senate when that body concludes a one-week recess.

"The reciprocal trade agreements act will be made the order of business in the Senate as soon as it completes action on the bill to raise the minimum wage from 40 to 75 cents an hour," Lucas asserted.

The decision threw up a roadblock in the path of a talked-of plan for the Senate to adjourn pretty soon.

BABY SUFFOCATED

KLAMATH FALLS, Sept. 1. — (AP) — A three-month-old baby, Cheryl Jo Wiggins, suffocated in her crib here Tuesday night and efforts of the police and fire department to revive the child proved fruitless. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Wiggins.
