(By the Associated Press)

The nation today grimly counted a record breaking accidental death toll for the three-day Labor day holiday.

The full count of fatalities was not yet tabulated but the more than 500 persons who lost their lives in accidents over the extended holiday was the largest for any Labor day weekend in history.

The highways took the heaviest toll. Of the 505 persons killed in violent accidents, 379 lost their lives in automobile mishaps. The traffic toll was nearly 100 above the estimated 280 probable death toll made by the National Safety Council. Forty-five persons drowned and 81 died in accidents of miscellaneous causes.

The fatalities in an Associated Press survey covered the period from 6 p. m. (local time) Friday to midnight Monday.

This year's Labor day total compared with the previous high of 428 over the 1937 Labor day holiday. The record-breaking toll for a Labor day holiday weekend followed the all-time high in accidental deaths over the 1949 Fourth of July when 711 persons died violently. The all-time mark is the 761 fatalities over the four-day Christmas period in 1936.

The long Labor day holiday brought violent death to seven persons in Oregon. Six died in traffic mishaps and one drowned while rescuing his daughter in Lake Oswego.

nately dressed in a light suit and white shirt with bow tie.

Without warning he whipped out his gun and began firing. Before he was finished, he had raced in and out of half a dozen business establishments, cutting down men, women and children right and left.

Then he barricaded himself in the second floor room where he lived.

For a time he shot it out with 50 policemen while men and women milled in the streets.

"They gave us a hell of a time," Thompson said. "They wouldn't get out of the way."

"Men would stop for a traffic light," Thompson added. "Then they got out."

Gun Battle Fails

Failing to win the gun battle, police cut loose with a tear gas barrage.

Coughing and choking, Unruh emerged from his room. He was unhurt.

Police threw up a shoulder-to-shoulder cordon to convey Unruh from the building.

A howling mob of men and women in the streets lunged for the police screaming:

"Lynch him!"

"Hang him now!"

But they didn't crash the line of police.

Thompson said Unruh served with the army in an artillery unit in Austria during World War two. He then took a pharmacy course at Temple University, Philadelphia, under the GI bill of rights.

Thompson said the shootings began at 8:20 a. m., eastern standard time.

night Monday, these were the victims:

Robert Gawlista, Oregon City, traffic, near Oregon City.

Mrs. Lydia Jorgensen, Bucoda, Wash., traffic, near Oregon City.

Minnie Winters, Elma, Wash., traffic, near Mill City.

David Schaefer, 4, Portland, traffic, in Portland.

Ranson Meinke, Portland, drowning at Lake Oswego.

Perry Butler, 6, Roseburg, traffic, near Roseburg.

Harry Bell, Portland, traffic, east of Portland.

Foresters Return To College Work

Forestry students from all over the nation will soon be leaving their summer jobs on the Umpqua forest to return to their studies. Supervisor M. M. Nelson reports that students from nine different colleges are employed.

Forestry student employment has been about equally divided between eastern and western schools—14 from the East, 17 from the West. Eastern colleges represented were West Virginia, Syracuse, Michigan State, Pennsylvania State, Minnesota, Louisiana Polytechnical, Oklahoma A & M, and New York State College of Forestry. Most of the western students employed are attending Oregon State college, but Idaho and Washington state are also represented.

The regular year-long employment force of the Umpqua includes 15 graduate foresters. This group of rangers, staffmen and timber sale officers includes men from six different colleges of forestry.

Of this group seven hail from Oregon State, four from the University of Washington and one each from Pennsylvania State, Yale, Idaho and Washington State College.

The policy of the Forest Service is to employ at least 25 percent of the summer protective force from forest schools. A part of this group must come from eastern schools. This policy gives students of forestry field experience which is very desirable in their studies. It further gives the Forest Service an opportunity to pick outstanding men for employment after graduation. Before permanent employment in the Forest service it is necessary to pass a rigid civil service examination.

have enough life" to suit her.

Another rider in the parade was six-year-old Wesley McCarley, who stands four feet tall, who rode his own horse. He also competed in the saddle races.

Following the parade and before the start of the rodeo yesterday, about 20 4-H boys and girls took part in a 4-H livestock judging contest, receiving an award of ribbons.

Among saddle clubs taking part were the Umpqua Riders and Trail Dust Saddle club of Roseburg, and the Myrtle Creek Saddle Pals, each group uniformed in its distinctive colored shirts.

Covered Wagon

The F. L. Girls of the Rebekah lodge rode in the parade in a small covered wagon, drawn by ponies. The Rebekah lodge float featured the colors of rose and green, with a mass of green boughs on which sat a girl with a large sun bonnet.

The Myrtle Creek grange float had a display of fruits and vegetables and industrial products of the Myrtle Creek area. It was drawn by a farm tractor.

A small marching unit was that of the Co. B, 186th Infantry, a National Guard outfit stationed at Tri City and composed of men of Myrtle Creek, Riddle, and Canyonville. The troops led the parade, together with the rodeo queen and her court.

The Myrtle Creek fire department and the Tri City volunteers each had fire trucks in the procession.

Several merchants also had entries in the parade.

Prize horses shown at the rodeo included Topper, owned by Henry Cook of Riddle, and a quarter horse ridden by Mrs. Lloyd Sconce of Umpqua.

Championships at the rodeo included:

Saddleback riding: Roy Dickson, Sunday; Mel Mitchell, Monday.

Calf roping: Ross Every, Sunday; Vernon Fowler, Monday.

Wild cow milking: Ross Every, Sunday and Monday.

Saddle bronc riding: Lee Halcher, Sunday; Tee Hibbert, Monday.

Bull riding: Benny Peek, Sunday; Stan Cochran, Monday.

Free saddle: Denain Beamer.

Girls' pony race: Donna Hanna; boys' pony race: Keith Thorp; ladies' barrel race: Pat Thorp; stake race (Monday only): cowboys; relay race: Myrtle Creek Saddle Pals.
